BRIEF MENTION.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

"Hello, Dufur!"
Excursion to the Locks tomorrow. Tomorrow promises to be another dry Sunday.

According to the weather report, tomorrow will be fair and slightly warmer.

Christian church—Services tomorrow morning and evening; Rev. I. H. Hazel, pastor. Morning text "Bible and Tradition." Evening discourse, "The Boy That Washed His Face." All are invited to attend.

Three weeks ago it took two hours for a message to go to Dufur. Today it takes but the fraction of a minute. Nothing illustrates in a more marked degree the wonderful achievements of the nineteenth century.

A patent from the United States to Jas. Jordan, conveying the  $\frac{1}{2}$  of  $\frac{1}{4}$ ,  $\frac{1}{8}$  of  $\frac{1}{2}$ , sec 26, tp 2 s, r 12 e, was filed today with the county clerk. The same property was afterward deeded by Jas. Jordan to Geo. W. Jordan.

The teachers' local examination was concluded last night. Supt. Shelley and his assistants are busy marking the papers. The results will probably be ascertained in time for publication in Monday's CHRONICLE.

The special train bearing the excursion, will leave the Umatilla House tomorrow at 7 a. m. It will return some time in the afternoon. Tickets can be purchased either at the hotel or the depot. The round fare will be $1.

The Baptismal ceremony will be performed tomorrow morning at the Methodist church after the regular services. In the evening the Lords Supper will be administered. The pastor, J. H. Wood, will occupy the pulpit both morning and evening.

During the unloading of the piling for the new warehouse yesterday a large log fell from the top of the load and tore the guard of the boat for a considerable distance. As it went in the river it dashed the spray high in the air, making for the spectators a pretty sight.

The Good Templars will give a lawn social and entertainment in the academy yard this evening. A fine program has been prepared, after which lunch will be served. All those who like a social time can have it by attending this evening. Everything will be given for the low sum of 15 cents.

The board of fire delegates held a meeting at the council chambers last evening. The only business, which came before the members, was the ratifying of the recent election of assistant fire chief. After Mr. Jacobsen had been declared duly elected and qualified, the meeting adjourned.

Thomas Dunn, who is working at Chenoweth creek digging for coal, was struck in the head yesterday afternoon by an iron bar, which fell from an overhanging bank. A big gash was cut in his head, requiring the immediate attention of a physician. Dr. Hollister took about fifteen stitches to bring the cut edges together.

City Marshal Blakeney is fixing the portion of Third street bordering on Union. This is where the hose teams practice, and the boys need to have the ground in perfect shape. Mr. Blakeney is doing the work of his own free will, and if the council does not reimburse him, will make his efforts a donation for the good of the cause.

A meeting is called for this evening at the council chambers at 8 o'clock sharp, for all those who have claims against the railroad company for services performed during the high water of 1894. It is urgently requested that all people interested will attend, as important action regarding the claims against the railroad company will be taken.

THE CHRONICLE is in receipt of a complimentary ticket to the second annual regatta, which will be held at Astoria August 19, 20, 21 and 22. The committee in charge is composed of Messrs. C. J. Trenchard, E. C. Hughes, F. M. Ourbek, F. P. Kindall and F. L. Parker. Everything is being done to make the regatta a grand affair, and as the people of Astoria never do anything by halves, success is already assumed. Astoria is the ideal place for such a meeting, and those who attend will see a beautiful sight.

The case of the State vs. Frank Davenport, charged with throwing sawdust in the stream, was tried before a jury at Hood River. The trial resulted in a verdict of acquittal, the jury being out but a few minutes. H. S. Wilson, Esq., of this city represented the defendant, while the interests of the state were looked after by C. P. Heald of Hood River. The case was brought through the efforts of the Rod and Gun Club, a meritorious organization. The jury believed that the defendant had made all possible endeavor to keep the sawdust from getting into the streams.

The scow Wasco, loaded with piling for the D. P. & A. N. Co.'s new warehouse, arrived here yesterday afternoon, having come from Lyle since morning. The Wasco has been at Cascades several days already loaded and only waiting for a wind to spread its sails. Thursday at noon the scow left the portage incline and reached Lyle the same evening at 7:30, where it remained over night, arriving in The Dalles the next day. The logs are of good length and fine quality. The pile driver is being moved to the place where the first piles are to be driven and in a short time the deep thud of the hammer, as it falls, will let the people know that one of the first fruits of the expected opening of the Cascade Locks is being garnered.

HELLO DUFURI

The Dalles and Its Neighboring Town Brought Together.

Last night were heard in Dufur, words spoken in The Dalles. The telephone line, about which so much has been said in THE CHRONICLE and on the street, is completed to Dufur and conversations have been held between parties in both towns. Yesterday morning Manager J. W. Condon told a CHRONICLE reporter that by evening it was expected the line would reach Dufur, and his prediction came true. At 6 o'clock yesterday the last pole in the long stretch between the Dalles and Dufur was placed in position and in a short time the wire was stretched upon the cross streets. It only remained to make the connections and when this was done the undertaking was finished.

Mr. Condon was sitting in the central office waiting to hear from the other end of the line. At 7:30 the bell gave its well-known ring and Mr. Condon hastening to the transmitter, said: "Hello Dufur" and the first word had crossed the intervening hills and valleys. Mr. Seufert was at the other end of the line and an animated conversation was held between the two owners of the line.

A CHRONICLE representative was sent for and arriving at the central office had the pleasure of talking—this is always a pleasure to newspaper men—to Dufur. After congratulating Mr. Seufert upon the completion of the line, the CHRONICLE reporter was introduced to Mr. C. P. Balch, who said that the people of Dufur were much elated at being brought in swift connection with the outside world. There was a large crowd of people at the Dufur end of the line, many of whom sent their voices along the wire. Several Dalles people were invited to the central office to see the working of the new venture.

Mr. Condon and Mr. Seufert are to be congratulated upon their enterprise in extending the influence of The Dalles. They have expended time and money freely and we trust the investment will be a paying one. Already this morning a number of business messages have been sent over the phone to Dufur, showing that there is a demand for quick communication between the two points. It is the intention of the management to still further extend the line. The office at Dufur is in the store of Mr. C. P. Balch.
