EUGENE FIELD IS DEAD

Popular Journalist Expires Suddenly.

A BRIEF OUTLINE OF HIS LIFE

Sullivan Says That He Is Sick and Sore Over the Finasco in Arkansas -- One Is a Coward.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Eugene Field, a poet, died of heart failure at about 5 this morning. He retired last night in usual health, apparently, and slept soundly till daybreak, when his son, who occupied the room with him, heard him groan. It was his expiring gasp. Field leaves a widow and five children. He had been indisposed several days, but no serious result were even thought of by his family and immediate friends. George H. Yenowyno, of this city, was at Field's bedside when he died. Mr. Field and Yenowyno intended to start together for Kansas City, where Field was to have read tonight.

Eugene Field was born in St. Louis, September 2, 1850, and was the son of Roswell Martin and Frances (Reed) Field. His parents were both natives of Windham county, Vermont. His father was Dred Scott's first attorney in the case which resulted in the famous Dred Scott decision by the United States supreme court. Eugene Field's mother died in 1857. He was then put under the care of his cousin, Mary Field French, at Amherst. He attended Williams college, Knox college and the state university of Missouri. He adopted the profession of the newspaper writer, beginning with the St. Louis Journal, in 1872. He was later connected with the St. Joseph, Mo., Gazette, St. Louis Times-Journal, Kansas City Times, and Denver Tribune. He came to Chicago on August 13, 1883, to accept a position on the editorial staff of the Chicago Morning News, now the Record, and his connection with this paper continued without interruption until his death.

Field's last contribution to this department in this paper, "Sharps and Flats," was published Sunday morning, and in it was a characteristic defense of Bill Nye, and his refusal to accept the imputations as to the cause of the recent assault upon the humorist in Paterson, N. J. In addition to newspaper work, Field established a reputation as a powerful and clever writer of stories and verses. His latest poem of pretension was "Dreamships," printed in the October Ladies' Home Journal. He was especially adept in poems and stories in child life, and his printed books now number a half-dozen volumes. He also made himself famous as a reader of his own stories and verses.

In June, 1895, Knox college conferred upon Field the honorary degree of A. M.

SULLIVAN DISGUSTED.

Believes That One Man Was a Coward.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—"Parson" Davies and his party returned from Hot Springs last night. John L. Sullivan was in the party.

"I'm that sick and sore of this fighting burlesque that I'm compelled to stay over and rest it out," said Big John. "It ain't so very long ago that I used to be in this fighting business myself, and, say, I could always find a way to fight any fellow that wanted to fight. It ain't that these fighters did not want to fight, but it's a sure thing one of them was scared. You can pick him out if you like. I won't tell you which one it is." The ex-champion goes East today.

Peter Maher was more thoroughly out of sorts at the finasco than anyone who has been to Hot Springs.

"I have been pulled about from Europe to Dallas and then to Hot Springs, all to no purpose," said he.

The Irish fighter left for Pittsburg, where he says he will look over the field with his backer and then take a fresh start. Everybody who came in from the selected battle-ground tells the same story of two men fighting a war of words, when they should have been battling somewhere for a championship.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 4.—James J. Corbett leaves tonight for New York. He says he will pay no more attention to Fitzsimmons, and contemplates a final retirement from the ring.

Betting in Ohio.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 4.—On the eve of election betting here is on the extent of the reduction of the democratic plurality in Kentucky and of the republican plurality in Ohio, rather than on the result in either state. In Ohio the republicans had had phenomenal pluralities and claim now a better organization than ever. They had an early state convention and went to work immediately.

The democrats had a late convention, but claim the aggressiveness and popularity of ex-Governor Campbell will get out a full democratic vote and show a close contest. While both parties have paid special attention to the legislature, which selects a successor to Senator Brice, it is conceded that the republicans have the advantage in the apportionment, which stands till after the census of 1900.

Baseball Notes.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—It is announced that the New York baseball club has drafted Frank Connaughton, of the Kansas City club, of the Western League. In 1894 this player was a member of the Boston team, where he played thirty-two games in a short time, while Long was disabled and had a percentage of .901. As a batsman he had an average of .327. The Bostonians let him go West because they had too many players.

Baltimore is surprised with the news that the Orioles' first baseman, Carey, is to be put on the bench next season. Hanlon's desire is to purchase the release of Cartwright, of Washington, to take Carey's place.

Figured by McKinley.

MASSILLON, O., Nov. 4.—Governor McKinley remarked that the state ticket ought to go through with no less than 60,000 plurality.

"Last year the republicans carried the state by 137,000," said he, "but the vote was about 60,000 short. Now figuring liberally, I don't see how Mr. Campbell can possibly get more than 364,000 votes this year. Last year his party polled 275,392 votes, so you see I have treated him well in my calculations. Last year the republicans polled 413,359 votes, so that if we only hold our own, we will retain a comfortable margin."

Long Chase After a Criminal.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 4.—Sheriff Hatterson, of Woodruff county, Ark., passed through here last night with J. M. Leslie, alias Lewis, whom he arrested at Okolona, Miss. His chase of the man extended over 2,200 miles, but the crime warranted the long chase. Leslie is wanted for two bigamous marriages in Texas and Arkansas, and for other crimes in other cities.

Cannot Furnish Bonds.

TACOMA, Nov. 4.—George W. Boggs, ex-city treasurer, who was arrested in Oregon last week, and brought to Tacoma charged with failing to account for $109,000 while city treasurer, still lies in jail, being unable to secure bail in the sum of $20,000. Only $5,000 has been raised so far. He will probably remain in jail till his case is tried, next month.

Job Printers Strike.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 4.—Union job printers of Minneapolis struck this morning for thirty cents an hour and nine hours per day. They have been getting 25 2-3 cents per hour for ten hours a day. Nearly 200 men are out.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—A special to the Herald from Washington says:

Professor W. J. McGee, anthropologist of the bureau of ethnology, left Washington a few days ago on what will probably prove one of the most interesting expeditions ever sent out by the department. Professor McGee intends if possible to visit the stronghold of the Seri Indians on Tiburon island, a rocky bit of territory in the gulf of California, nominally of Mexico, but practically a possession of the Seri Indians.
