BRIEF MENTION.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

Go and see
The Minstrel Show
Saturday evening.
Revival services tonight at the Methodist church.

Mr. Pague prophesies the weather for tomorrow to be fair followed by rain or snow.

The divorce suit of Glenn vs Glenn was referred to D. H. Roberts to take testimony and report.

A gentle rain has been falling all afternoon and its merry patter will be a welcome sound. Long may it continue, is the general wish.

A bond for a deed from W. G. Clelland to S. L. Young, was filed with the county clerk, also a warranty deed from J. S. Taylor to G. W. Runyan.

Frank Summers who has been confined to his bed for over a month is considerably better and yesterday was able to sit up the greater part of the day.

A new rudder for the Regulator has just been finished in Mr. Glenn's shop and will be placed on board the boat this evening. An extra one is always carried so in case one of the rudders should be injured it could be replaced.

The Knights of the Maccabees will hold their regular meeting next Saturday evening instead of Friday as formerly. The change is made through an arrangement with the whist club, who will occupy Fraternity hall on Friday evenings.

The Regulator took away her customary load of 500 sacks of wheat this morning. Another large shipment will be made tomorrow as drays have been busy taking wheat from Moody's warehouse to the boat dock.

The case of the State vs. F. W. L. Skibbe and Alex. Eugenie came to a conclusion last evening by Justice Davis discharging the defendants. The defense introduced some witnesses to show that the plaintiff had begun the disturbance and the justice decided that the evidence was not strong enough against the defendants to justify their being held.

The teachers' examination began this afternoon in the county court room. Six young ladies are present as applicants and this afternoon are working their brains answering the test questions. The examination is being conducted by Superintendent Shelly assisted by Prof. Neff of Hood River and Miss Lang. The ordeal will be over Friday and the applicants will shortly after know their fate.

The grand jury made two reports this afternoon just as we went to press. One was a "not true bill" in the case of R. A. Power, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon. This is the outcome of the shooting case at Mosier last summer. The other report was a true bill against Dr. Julius Rothermel, charging him with embezzlement. Just before they reported the grand jury came in and asked for further instructions as to the number of votes necessary to find an indictment.

The good work done on the present ownership books by J. M. Huntington and Co., is shown in the increased amount of taxable property this year over last. Most property which hitherto has escaped taxation was found and put upon the roll and the county will be the gainer not only this year but in the future. The present ownership books were undoubtedly a good investment. With the increased amount of taxable property shown by Assessor Wakefield's summary there should be a lighter levy next year. A careful cutting out of all unnecessary expenditures will be most acceptable to the taxpayers.

Late yesterday afternoon the grand jury returned a true bill against H. F. Jackson, charging him with keeping a bawdy house at the Cascade Locks. A demurrer to the indictment was put in by the defendants attorney, but was overruled. Jackson then plead not guilty. The case was continued until a witness from Baker City could be obtained. Jackson has been under bonds since last summer when he was bound over to the grand jury by Justice Birnie, at the Locks. Recently his bondsmen becoming apprehensive sent an officer to Walla Walla after him.

White Salmon has furnished some excitement in the arrest of J. P. Egan, P. T. Bradford and Mr. Ziegler for cutting the fence of C. D. Moore. The three defendants passed through The Dalles this morning on their way to Goldendale to be arraigned. It is not thought the matter is very serious, as Mr. Egan, Mr. Bradford and Mr. Ziegler are too good citizens to do any intentional wrong. Mr. Egan is the justice of the piece at White Salmon and Mr. Bradford the constable. All the gentlemen, including Mr. Moore, live on the bottom land between White Salmon and Rankin's landing.

Klickitat county is keeping well up with the march of progress. The latest venture is tobacco culture. Thomas Jenkins, a well known farmer of the Klickitat valley, brought to The Dalles some tobacco which was grown on his place and had it made into cigars by the factory in this place. The tobacco is healthy looking and good judges, who have tried some of it, pronounce the flavor excellent. Mr. Jenkins is going to increase his acreage of tobacco. The soil of Klickitat is fertile enough to grow almost anything and experiments prove that when the farmers conclude to diversify their crops they will find other things grow as well as wheat.

Dr. Shores Medical Co. in Oregon City.

The following regarding the Dr. Shores Medical company will be of interest to their many friends in The Dalles. It is taken from the Oregon City notes in yesterday's Oregonian.

"The doctors disagreed and there were two kinds of trouble today in the 'Dr. Shores Medicine Company,' an itinerant medico-theatrical organization that has been holding forth at Shively's theater for the past week. The trouble began when Dr. D. S. M. Fretwell, the manager, called Dr. Swain to account for practicing the art of 'mashing.' Before the interview had closed, the manager had discharged Swain and Swain had given the manager a black eye, for which offense Justice Dixon this afternoon sent him to jail for ten days in default of $20 fine. Immediately after the close of this trial, Dr. W. E. Carl made complaint against Manager Fretwell for practicing medicine without a license. Fretwell was arrested in the court room, pleaded not guilty and had his trial set for next Thursday morning. His bail bond was fixed at $50. The defendant took from his pocket a roll of bank notes as big as a leg of mutton, deftly flipped out a fifty for his appearance and went his way. The member of the troupe who was incarcerated says he hails from The Dalles, and was employed by Fretwell to 'sit on the stage, look wise and say nothing,' for which onerous service he was to receive $25 a week. He swore to a wondrous tale of imposture by the medical company he had been a member of."

The Woodman Social.

A large crowd attended the social given by the Woodmen last evening at Fraternity hall. In addition to the Woodmen and their families quite a number of invited guests were present to enjoy the evening's entertainment. The attractive program, which is published below, gave great enjoyment to the audience. The tableaux were something unique and caused hearty laughter. In the first one "The Martyr at the Stake," Mr. John Filloon and a beefsteak were the principal figures, while Mr. L. Stevens and Mr. C. H. Brown acted out "The Fake Barber Shop." In the "Bridal Scene," an old bridle, probably one discarded from Charley Phillips' delivery horse, was the important figure. After the program with its repeated encores, was finished the remainder of the evening till midnight was spent in dancing. The program was as follows:

- Piano solo—Mrs. E. J. Collins.
- Vocal Duet—Mrs. Bradbury and Miss Caser.
- Tableau—"The Martyr at the Stake."
- Recitation—Miss Rachael Morgan.
- Song—Mrs. S. L. Young and Mrs. C. F. Stephens.
- Recitation—Little Miss Young.
- Solo—Miss Myrtle Michell.
- Tableau—"The Fake Barber Shop."
- Solo, with guitar accompaniment—Mr. Harry Esping.
- Recitation—Mrs. Bradbury.

- Recitation—Miss Corum.

In addition to the cases noticed elsewhere the circuit court docket shows the following transactions:

In the case of H. F. Jackson, a demurrer to the indictment was filed, but over ruled.

The indictment of Alvin Sigman was set aside and the matter sent to the grand jury for re-consideration.

The indictment against Walter Corlisle, who appealed from the justice court, was upon motion of District Attorney Jayne dismissed.
