BRIEF MENTION.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

Tonight "Monte Cristo," At the Baldwin. H. Herbring leads in ladies capes and jackets.

The weather report for tomorrow says fair and cooler.

A marriage license was issued this afternoon to J. W. Engberg and Kate Cronin.

C. F. Stephens is offering rare bargains in all lines of dry goods. New stock constantly arriving.

Note A. M. Williams & Co. ad in today's issue. They are offering a special sale for boys suits at 75 cents.

A slight shower was among the incidents of the afternoon. What there was of it was good, but its duration proved too short.

The Orchestra Union will be present at the Baldwin this evening and play between the acts. The music last evening was greatly enjoyed by the audience, and Manager Howe had some very complimentary remarks to make about the music.

Stock shipments are very frequent on the railroad at present. Every day sees cars leave The Dalles loaded with hogs—generally for Troutdale. This morning five car-loads of hogs were shipped from Saltmarsh's feed yards.

The Trade's Carnival, which will be held Friday and Saturday evenings in the armory, promises to be a very unique entertainment. Those who will take part in the parade, are practicing every day and becoming very proficient in the marching. Our fifty business houses will be represented, some of them with very handsome displays.

The committee on arrangements for the ball to be given by the Mt. Hood Hose Company, are hard at work. The programs are being printed today. The ball will be one of the most pleasant events of the season. The management of the affair is in the hands of the following committee: I. J. Norman, C. L. Phillips and John W. Lewis.

Gunning, Charles Burget and J. J. Wiley, W. S. Norman and A. C. Wyndham. The dance will be given in the Baldwin Opera House, Nov. 28th.

Mrs. J. P. Howe, the well-known theatrical manager, is in the city. He has the management of the Howe-Readick Company, now playing at the Baldwin. He is also manager of the new Park theatre, Portland, Mr. Howe is one of the best known managers in America, and has owned and controlled more theatres than any theatrical manager on the coast.

The Rothermel trial is on its third day and bids fair to last out the week. The case is one of importance, but is proving very wearisome because of the slowness of its progress. The private prosecutor, August Morsbach, was upon the stand all day yesterday and as he is not familiar with the English language, the court appointed Mr. E. Jacobson interpreter.

The Howe and Readick Co.

This excellent company opened a four nights' engagement at the Baldwin opera house last evening, to a large audience and a better pleased one it would be hard to find.

"Tony the Outcast," the bill of last night was a highly interesting play. Mr. Frank Readick, as the "Outcast," was a finished piece of acting. Mr. Readick has a fine stage presence and very pleasing voice. The Oregonian recently in the dramatic column, said he was "an actor," which speaks volumes.

especially in the third act where her acting had much pathetic power.

To sum the whole thing up, the fact is the company is first-class, the play a good one and the prices lower than The Dalles will ever have again for so good an attraction.

Tonight "Monte Cristo" with special scenery, this should pack the theater to the doors and will especially at the popular prices.

An Afternoon Party at Mrs. Lord's.

"Delightful" was the universal verdict, rendered at the close of Mrs. Lord's and Mrs. Houghton's charming party yesterday afternoon. It seemed as if nothing could be added that would make any of their guests happier, and those who had to send regrets were to be sympathized with indeed.

Violets comprised the main theme of the afternoon and the prizes carried out the same idea. Mrs. Marden won, to console her for her success, a beautiful copy of Shakespeare's Sonnets, bound in violets, while Mrs. H. S. Wilson was the happy recipient of a glass basket of purple violets, as the head prize.

Among the invited guests were: Mrs. Marden, Mrs. Mac Allister, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. H. Glenn, Mrs. A. Thornbury, Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Sinnott, Mrs. Brosius, of Hood River; Mrs. Taylor, of Wallula; Mrs. Eshelman, Mrs. Crossen, Mrs. Hudson, Mrs. Huntington, Miss Marden, Mrs. Hilton, Mrs. Hobson, Mrs. Peese, Mrs. Myers, Miss Ruch, Mrs. Crandall, Mrs. W. H. Wilson, Mrs. H. S. Wilson, Mrs. Peters, Mrs. Hostetler, Mrs. Fish, Mrs. Moody, Mrs. Faulkner, Mrs. Hal French, Mrs. Crowe, Mrs. Blakeley, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Garretson, Mrs. J. A. Crossen, Mrs. Hollister and Mrs. Kuck.

A Bit of Reminiscence About Things in The Dalles of Long Ago.

MR. EDITOR:—Will you allow an old resident to correct a statement in Saturday's CHRONICLE? Referring to the current lecture course in our town, you say this is the first course of the kind ever given in The Dalles. Ever is a very long word. In 1864 there was a course given in the Methodist church, one of which was by your father, Mr. Editor. His topic was "The Last of the Ecclesiastical Chancellors, Cardinal Wolsey."

A. L. Lindsley of Portland, on "The English Language." This topic was suggested by a recent trip of the lecturer from Boston to Portland by way of San Francisco, during which he never heard anything spoken but our own president's English, a thing that could not happen in any other part of the globe.

Besides these two courses there was a course in aid of the sanitary commission, during which Capt. J. M. Keeler gave an account of the battle of Chancellorsville, of which he had been a part. Judge Deady gave more than one lecture here, one of which was his "Trial by Jury," of the other, this chronicler has forgotten the subject. This last was one of a course given in 1864. Hon. W. Lair Hill, now of California, was one of the many who have entertained and instructed our citizens.

The audiences are very largely changed. I cannot recall to mind ever seeing the face of the editor of THE CHRONICLE among those of 1864, or even later. But I would like to have it known that our citizens of that time were not wholly given over to cards and dancing.

Our winter blooming bulbs have just arrived direct from Holland, and it is now time to pot your lillies, hyacinths, tulips, snow-drops, jonquils and narcissus for in-door flowering. This is also the season to plant them in the garden to secure early large blooms.
