and gradually increased my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to two hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I believe my children would have been fatherless to-day had it not been for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, of which preparation I cannot say too much."—H. O. HINSON, Postmaster and Painter, Kimball's, S. C.

List of Examination Questions.

Following are the questions in geography and theory and practice asked at the teachers' examination last week:

GEOGRAPHY.

1. What is the second city in size in the United States? Name four causes that have contributed to give it its present prominence among our American cities.
2. How could you illustrate to a class why our part of the earth becomes warmer in summer?
3. Describe the physical features of Oregon, naming the principal streams in the drainage system.
4. What and where is each of the following: Baikal, Corea, Maderia, Tasmania, Hecla.
5. What determines the position of the tropics and polar circles? Give name, width and location of each zone.
6. What place in Europe would you visit to see watchmaking, salt mines, art schools, olive groves? Locate each place you have named.
7. What is climate? Name the four agencies which tend to modify climate.
8. Define delta, estuary, orbit, watershed, glacier.
9. Name the five states which touch the western bank of the Mississippi river, giving the largest city of each state.
10. Into what do the following rivers flow: Potomac, Merrimack, John Day, Elbe, Niger.

THEORY AND PRACTICE.

1. What are three characteristics of a good question?
2. What objection is there to allowing one recitation to trespass upon the time of another in your daily recitations?
3. What is the chief aim of all school discipline?
4. Name five characteristics of an efficient teacher?
5. In attempting to classify your pupils, what do you use as a basis for such classification? Give reason for your answer.
6. What is the difference between "theory" and "art" in teaching? Explain briefly the importance of each.
7. What moral principles should be taught in every school? How?
8. What is the proper function of text-books?
9. To what extent do you consider daily preparation for each lesson necessary for the teacher?
10. How can you teach habits of neatness and order?

A Description of the Football Game.

A boy in The Dalles has received from a friend who is visiting in Portland, but whose home is in this city, a letter which contains a graphic description of the recent foot-ball game between the University of Oregon club and the eleven from Portland University. Some of the passages may prove interesting, and so we re-produce a portion of the letter. In speaking of his husband, who is well known in The Dalles, the writer says he has "quite recovered, or nearly so, from the almost complete loss of his voice. You will be alarmed to read this, but calm yourself. On Saturday evening his voice was not far different from a bullfrog. For what? Oh! we went to the foot-ball game! We had to shout, for Portland University students were so well organized, had so many horns and yelled the university yell so loud, that we had to help Eugene. It was simply wildly exciting. People in the grand stand rose en masse [and yelled, umbrellas and hats tossing in air, Eugene's yellow flags waving and Portland's cardinal streamers flapping. Old men yelled till they were purple in the face, and professors of both universities, forgetting dignity, thought they were kids. They slapped each other on the back till I was afraid they would knock their wind clean out. We were seated immediately behind the organized gang of P. U. yellers and it was deafening. The law school, which is part of the state university, had a very taking yell. It began, "Blackstone, Blackstone, Rah! Rah! Rah! We are University School of Law." They gave it often and with great enthusiasm. The medical school call was not so striking and I couldn't catch the words. Clyde Bonney was one of the Eugene men and we watched him with interest. Ed Lyons sat near us. Beside him was an elderly gentleman, who, during a breathless pause, while people were waiting to know whether to shout or groan, turned to Mr. Lyons and said: "Is this baseball, did you say?" No wonder Mr. Lyons turned pale. Many students wore mortar boards. We saw Frank French and Will Crossen at the game, but as they were shouting for Portland University the outcome was not pleasing to them."

The meeting of the whist club last night proved a very pleasant social event. The earlier part of the evening was spent in playing whist. Mrs. Lord won the head prize, while the contest for the booby was a tie between Mr. O. Kinersly and Mr. H. J. Maier. Finally lots were drawn, and Mr. Maier proved the winner. After the whist was over, the guests repaired to the dining parlors below, where a delicious banquet was served, at which there were bright conversation and sallies of wit, for which the ladies and gentlemen of the club are famed. After the banquet was through, dancing was indulged in till a late hour. Besides the regular members of the club, there were present as invited guests, Mr and Mrs A S Mac Allister, Mr and Mrs H J Maier, Mr and Mrs H L Knick, Mrs Thornbury, Miss Lay, Miss Mitchell, Miss Marden, Mrs C W Taylor, Dr Sutherland, Mr R H Lonsdale and Mr Victor Marden.

The electric lights played a joke upon the people by going out last night just at 10 o'clock. The cause was the melting of the rabbit metal in the main bearing of the engine. Electrician McArthur, who was attending the theater, hurried to the works, where it was soon determined there would be darkness till morning. The damage is not costly, but exceedingly inconvenient, as it will take considerable time to make necessary repairs. The going out of the lights happened at a very inconvenient hour. The carnival was in progress at the armory; the theater in full blast at the Baldwin, and the whist club was in session at Fraternity hall. There was a hurrying and scurrying after lamps and candles, and soon the darkness gave way to light. Mr. McArthur says he hopes to have the lights burning all right this evening.

You note the difference in children. Some have nearly every ailment, even with the best of care. Others far more exposed pass through unharmed. Weak children will have continuous colds in winter, poor digestion in summer. They are without power to resist disease, they have no reserve strength. Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil, with hypophosphites, is cod-liver oil partly digested and adapted to the weaker digestions of children.
