ated than the local hits gotten off during the singing. Miss Freeman does the soubrette parts exceedingly well. Mr. Ross, Mr. McCullough, Mr. Van Clevr, Miss Howe and Miss Earl were all very satisfactory in their respective parts. One of the most taking features of the play was the acting of the two little children as "Prince Roy" and the "Little Lady." Their parts were well taken. The people of The Dalles hope this company will return in the future and give some more performances. The company contains actors and actresses of much merit, and it can be truthfully said is one of the very best that ever visited the city.

Returned to The Dalles.

Mr. John Marlin, who over a year ago left for Honolulu and the Sandwich Islands, returned to The Dalles Saturday, and is busy telling his friends of life in Hawaii. Mr. Marlin is well known to almost everybody in this vicinity where for many years he drove stage. Upon his arrival in Hawaii he again took up the lines and during the time he spent in that tropical clime he was again on the seat box. Mr. Marlin has many pleasant things to say of his residence abroad and intends returning to Hawaii, just when, however, he does not know. The climate, he tells, is delightful, the air being soft and mild, but still not enervating. Honolulu he describes as a beautiful city with many fine residences and containing a very cosmopolitan population. The city is much Americanized however. The people of the Islands are very desirous of coming under the protection of this great republic, and the only drawback that the Americans find to life in Hawaii is that they are not under the stars and stripes. The local government is now very secure, and there is an end of talking about any attempts to restore the deposed queen. The islands, Mr. Marlin believes, have a great future before them. The coffee industry is becoming one of the most valued and its growth has but begun. While drying stage Mr. Marlin had with him two passengers who had ridden with him out of The Dalles in former years. Mr. Marlin left Honolulu in company with Mr. James Wilson, a former resident of The Dalles. At the time of their leaving, the cholera was raging, but all danger from that source has now ceased.

Saturday Evening at the Baldwin.

The "American Girl" drew a large house Saturday evening at the Baldwin. The reserved seats were nearly all filled, and the "gallery" well represented. It was the first time the play had been produced by this talented company, though no one could have discovered that fact by the performance Saturday night, so evenly did everything pass off. The plot is a very strong one, and supports some very interesting situations, with attendant dialogues of much brightness. The play is clean, and appeals to the commendation of the most fastidious. It is just such a one as the Americans, who sympathize with the acts of their countrymen like.

Mr. Readick as "Colonel Bolter" was beyond criticism. His acting was of a sort perfectly natural, while he showed himself possessed of much feeling. Mr. Readick is a finished actor, and undoubtedly has a bright future before him. Miss Tittell as the American girl was par excellence. She acted the part with dash and spirit when such was required, and in the tender passages was able to show much sentiment. Miss Tittell, who since her first appearance in this city has been a favorite, added to her popularity by her acting Saturday evening. Mr. Makin as "Sir John Balfour" did some of the best acting ever seen in The Dalles. As a whole-souled Englishman he was a great success, and brought forth much approbation from the audience. Miss Milly Freeman as "Twister" did some neat acting, which was much better appreci-

BRIEF MENTION.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

Warmer weather is predicted for tomorrow.

Hot clam broth at 4 o'clock today at J. O. Mack's, 67 Second street.

The King's Daughters will meet tomorrow at the residence of Mrs. S. L. Brooks.

Eight cars of cattle from Baker City passed through town this morning on their way to Portland.

The passenger train from the east did not arrive in The Dalles yesterday morning till after 8 o'clock. The delay was caused on one of the eastern divisions.

Ice formed yesterday sufficiently thick to support the festive small boy. A few more days of this cold weather and skating will be in vogue.

Mrs. Otteia Buschke has returned from the asylum at Salem, where she has been for the last two years. Her friends will be glad to learn that she is thoroughly cured.

The break in the electric light machinery has been repaired, and the oil lamps that were hurriedly brought forth from their hiding places, can be relegated to obscurity again.

The carnival Saturday night at the Armory was largely attended. The program and fancy drill were very much enjoyed. Owing to the lack of room more extended mention cannot be made.

There will be a pigeon shoot Wednesday and Thursday on the beach in front of town. Joles Brothers will have a large number of birds, at which the local sportsmen are invited to take a shoot.

Joseph Folco has bought out the soda business owned by Mr. A. Gehres and will combine the business formerly done by Mr. Gehres with his own. He intends enlarging his plant till it will be one of the most complete in the Northwest.

Mrs. Brockhouse, who lives a few miles in the country, met with a severe accident Saturday night. She was descending to the cellar, where in some way she slipped and fell breaking her hip. As Mrs. Brookhouse is advanced in years the injury is a serious one.

Work was temporarily suspended on the new D. P. & A. N. Co's. warehouse today awaiting the arrival of more lumber. There only remains the approach from Washington street to be built before the mammoth building can be called completed. A railing has been constructed around the platform leading from Court to Washington streets.

The case of the State vs. Morehouse, charged with burglary, went to the jury at 4 p. m. Saturday. At 5 o'clock a verdict of guilty was returned. This makes two convictions returned against Morehouse. The jury was composed of Peter Risch, John End, O L Strannahan, Van Woodruff, Peter Mohr, J C Means, J R Thomas, C B Darbin, S Clover, N R Baird, P T Sharp, A W Whetstone.

We are informed there is now a strong probability of the report from Pendleton, to the effect that Major Post thought it would be a year before the locks would be open, being correct. We notice the dredger and barges which have been built some weeks, are lying idle, and good weather is rapidly passing. If the dredger is not used this side of high water, there must necessarily be another delay while the river is falling.

Miss Elliot of Portland will give a recital at the Congregational church Thanksgiving Eve, Nov. 27th. Miss Elliot will be remembered as one of those taking part in a concert given in The Dalles several months ago at which time her singing met with much favor. The recital next Wednesday promises to be a very enjoyable event. Miss Elliot will be assisted in the evening's program by a number of local musicians who are very acceptable to concert goers. The program will be published later.

John Crawford, who lives across the Columbia, a few miles from The Dalles, met with a serious accident Saturday which will keep him an invalid for some time. He was returning from the mountains with a load of lumber and was coming down the grade on this side of the Klickitat hill when the load proved too heavy for the horses and the wagon pushing against them they became unmanageable and started to run. The wagon was tipped over and Mr. Crawford thrown to the ground. His arm was broken and he was hurt upon the body, just how badly the attending physician, Dr. Hollister, says it is too soon to determine. The grade at the point where the accident happened is said to be in a very bad condition.
