The case of Lee Ching, who is charged with being an accessory in the murder of Lock Wo, was begun this morning in the circuit court, but as so many of the jurors on the regular panel were disqualified, a special venire for twenty was issued. Deputies Butts and Gabel were scouring the city this morning in search of jurymen.

Last Thursday evening, at the residence of the bride's father in Dufur, Rev. J. T. Miller united in marriage Andrew Howie of Wasco, Sherman county, and Miss Kate Heisler. A number of intimate friends were invited to witness the ceremony, and at its conclusion the usual congratulations were offered. The groom is well and favorably known, and the bride is one of Dufur's fairest maidens.

Mr. R. B. Hood will leave tomorrow morning for a trip to California. Mrs. Hood is now in Portland, and will accompany her husband on the journey. They will be absent over a month, during which time they will visit many places of interest in California and visit for awhile their daughter, Mrs. E. B. Johnson, in Southern California. They will bring back their little grandson, Willie Johnson, for a visit in The Dalles.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Walker met with a very happy surprise Wednesday afternoon. About twenty-five of the members of the Junior League of the M. E. church, under the leadership of Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Willerton, visited them, carrying with them presents of various kinds, such as are useful in the house. About thirty minutes were spent in social converse, followed with singing and prayer. The children's hearts were very happy in showing this kindness, and it is needless to say that the recipients were exceedingly grateful, and will ever hold in sacred remembrance the members of the Junior League.

Lee Git will Get a Life Sentence.

"Guilty of murder in the second degree" was the verdict rendered in the case of the State vs. Lee Git. The interest in the trial culminated Saturday afternoon and evening when the arguments of the attorneys were made to the jury. A. F. Sears, jr., of Portland made the opening argument for the state and proved himself a speaker of much ability. He reviewed the evidence in detail and claimed it was sufficient to justify a verdict of murder in the first degree being given. Mr. Sears is a rapid speaker and chooses his language with precision and good effect. At times he rises to eloquence and in portraying some of the scenes disclosed by the evidence was very effective. He made a strong impression both on the jury and spectators. He was followed by Mr. H. S. Wilson, who plead the cause of the defense. After referring in a jocular way to some parts in Mr. Sears' argument, Mr. Wilson passed on to the merits of the case. He stated that the state had failed to show any premeditation and characterized the identification of the defendant by the dying man as deficient. Mr. Wilson's style of speaking is totally different from Mr. Sears', but is no less effective. He is cool, dispassionate and logical, at times witty and dealing in a touch of sarcasm. His argument made an undoubted impression on the jury and was well received by all who heard him. At the close of Mr. Wilson's speech Judge Bradshaw declared a recess till 7 o'clock.

Upon the re-assembling of court Mr. B. S. Huntington addressed the court upon some instructions which the defendant asked the court to give and then gave his attention to the jury. Mr. Huntington spoke for an hour and a half and won the closest attention of the jury and the interest of the crowded courtroom. He spoke of the great responsibility which lay upon the jury and the attorneys in the case and said it was one which no one would wish to take upon himself. Mr. Huntington went carefully over the testimony and declared that any verdict which would take away the life of the defendant would be unjust. Granting that a murder had been committed Mr. Huntington said it was possible that another hand had committed it than the hand of the defendant. Mr. Huntington spoke earnestly and added much to his reputation as an advocate. Prosecuting Attorney Jayne closed the case for the state and made a good argument to the jury. In reviewing the evidence for the state he said the chain connecting the defendant was complete and a verdict of guilty as charged was what the state demanded and felt itself entitled to. His argument was strong and perfectly fair, being free from any bias. After the instructions from the court the jury retired at 9:30 to deliberate. The crowd hung around the courtroom till after 11 o'clock, when the most of the spectators went home. At half past twelve a knock was heard upon the jury door and when the judge and counsel arrived the verdict was received. Lee Git, the defendant, was overjoyed at the termination of the case and when the intelligence had been conveyed to him made no attempt to conceal his pleasure. He thanked the jury individually and collectively, shaking hands with each man with fervor. He has probably felt his neck a dozen times to be sure he had it on.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. T. G. Condon of Antelope is in the city as a witness in the circuit court.

BORN.

On 8 Mile, Nov. 20th, to the wife of Frank Kellar, a girl, weight 8 pounds.

The memorial exercises of the Elks at Cascades yesterday proved very interesting. John Michell, Esq., of this city delivered the eulogy in a feeling manner. His words were very fitting to the occasion. V. Courtney Lewis recited "Thanksgiving" in a way that touched the sensibilities of his hearers. The singing of "Nearer My God to Thee" by the lodge was a part of the exercises. The only one in the order who died during the year was George H. Clacking, one of the victims in the Pendleton fire. Many visitors attended the "Lodge of Sorrows," the exercises being public. Mr. Michell returned last evening.
