BRIEF MENTION.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

Rain, with stationary temperature, is promised for tomorrow.

The Home Dramatic Club have received a proposal to repeat the performance of "A Night Off" in Goldendale.

Julius Wiley is having a tussle with a toothache of the most diabolical sort. Just at present the toothache has the best of it.

Just received at the Wasco Warehouse a carload of "Byers Best" Pendleton flour. This flour has no superior on the Pacific coast. Try it. d7-1f

Now that the performance of the Dramatic Club is over, the people are invited to attend the bazaar next Friday and Saturday evenings at the armory.

The Epworth League will hold a regular business meeting tomorrow (Friday) evening in the lecture room of the M. E. church at 7:30 o'clock. Members are requested to be present.

The condition of Mr. Balch, who is reported sick at Dufur, is no better, and Dr. Logan was sent for in haste this morning to attend him. His friends are anxious lest his recovery is not certain.

The Dalles Council, No. 19, Junior Order of United American Mechanics, extend an invitation to all Americans and their families to meet with them at the K. of P. hall tonight, at 7:30 o'clock.

At the close of the performance at the Baldwin last night the members of the group had their photographs taken by flashlight. Mr. Herrin did the work, and the actors and actresses looked their best.

Sheriff Driver returned from Salem last night and today went back with Tom Lewis, who goes to serve a three years' sentence in the penitentiary for hay burning. R. A. McDonald was also taken to Salem.

For the first time in a long while the county jail is empty. The prisoners have been taken to the penitentiary or discharged, till now the doors are unlocked. Jailer FitzGerald's responsibility will be greatly lessened.

The case of Mamie Strickland vs. August Buchler went to the jury yesterday afternoon and after a short deliberation, a verdict was returned in favor of the defendant. The case was warmly contested and the jury an exceptionally good one.

The friends in The Dalles of Herman Heppner will be sorry to learn that he is quite sick at his home in Portland.

He had an attack of typhoid fever some time since, from which he has not fully recovered. Mr. Heppner for many years lived in The Dalles and has many friends who will hope for his speedy recovery.

The approach to the new Regulator warehouse is being completed, and when this job is done the undertaking will be finished. The building of the warehouse has caused the distribution of a great deal of money in The Dalles and added much to the commercial appearance of the city.

William Rasmus, who was in The Dalles last summer, and with local assistance, gave a performance of Damon and Pythias, is now in Portland, where he is engaged in the same work. It is possible he may return to The Dalles during the winter and interest the people again in theatrical matters.

We are pleased to note a strong movement calculated to make The Dalles a manufacturing center. With electric power close at hand, and a country back of it surpassing that of Minneapolis. The Dalles possesses advantages over any other point in the Pacific Northwest for manufacturing industries.—More Observer.

R. A. McDonald, who plead guilty to the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, was sentenced by Judge Bradshaw to one year in the penitentiary. McDonald is the man who figured in the shooting scrape last summer in which James Hagin was wounded. McDonald got off much lighter than he probably expected. He was taken to Salem this afternoon. There is one thing to be said in his favor, he saved the county from an expensive trial and made his conviction sure.

Mr. J. B. Crossen has disposed of his grocery store to Mr. Cahler of Hardman, Morrow county, who has chosen The Dalles as the best place for investment. There has been quite an immigration from Morrow county to The Dalles, as Mr. Cahler makes the third gentleman who has come to this place from that county and engaged in business in The Dalles. The others are W. A. Johnson, who bought out H. H. Campbell's grocery store and B. A. Hunsaker, who is the successor to H. Moses & Co. It is rather a peculiar thing that they should all enter the grocery business.

The members of St. Vincent society wish to thank those who assisted in making the performance last evening the success it was, and they feel especially indebted to Manager Birgfeld and the Orchestra Union for furnishing the hall and music free of charge; also they wish to thank for courtesies extended Blakeley & Houghton, A. M. Williams & Co., THE CHRONICLE, Times-Mountaineer, the doorkeepers, E. Jacobsen and Max Vogt, and the ushers, N. H. Gates, Ehren Kortzen and Fred Weigle. Their gratitude to the Home Dramatic Club has already been expressed.

"A NIGHT OFF."

The Baldwin Crowded to Witness the Play Given by the Dramatic Club—A Decided Success.

A more appreciative audience never assembled in The Dalles than the one which greeted the Home Dramatic Club at the Baldwin last evening. When the curtain rose it showed every reserved seat occupied with the best people the town could furnish. All the good things that have been said of the Dramatic Club were justified by their performance on this occasion. The play was full of interest from beginning to end, nor at any time was it dull or insipid. "A Night Off" is one of those comedies that make you laugh in spite of yourself, and the members of the cast carried it out with a zest and enthusiasm that soon became catching in the audience. From the very first the spectators "caught on"—to use a slang expression—and watched the unfolding of the plot with close attention, giving emphasis to the good points by hearty applause. The cast contained some ladies and gentlemen that had appeared before in dramatic performance, and their appearance last evening was greeted by applause from those who appreciated their acting.

Mr. R. H. Lonsdale took the part of "Professor Babbitt," the well meaning, but blundering, husband, whose penchant for dramatic writing caused him endless trouble. This gentleman needs no words of praise to tell him of the success he achieved last evening, as the hearty applause he received and the congratulations of his friends showed plainly this fact. The part he took was a hard one, but he carried it out to the entire satisfaction of all who heard him. To Mr. Lonsdale as stage manager and his direction of the rehearsing is due great credit for the success of the play.

Mr. N. J. Sinnott scored a great success as "Marcus Brutus Snapp," the tragedian. Mr. Sinnott's make-up was stunning, and he acted his difficult part in a manner that would have done credit to one high in the ranks of professional actors. It is by far the best character he has essayed before a Dalles audience, and he demonstrated last evening that he is possessed of real histrionic talent. The young gentleman was compelled to respond to a certain call at the close of the third act.

Mr. John Hampshire, who never does anything unless he does it well, was one of the star performers of the evening. He impersonated the fortunate lover, with an ease and grace that won the young lady's heart and the approval of the audience. During the second act Mr. Hampshire sang a solo, for which he received hearty applause that continued till he responded with an encore. Last night, as in every performance in which he is, Mr. Hampshire contributed, in a very large measure, to the success that resulted. Mr. Roger Sinnott made a capital "Dr. Damask," the son-in-law of the professor, who had the same faculty for getting into scrapes, but better luck of getting out of them. Mr. Sinnott is possessed of good ability in dramatic affairs and brought much credit to himself by the force of his acting.

Mrs. G. C. Blakeley took the part of "Mrs. Babbitt," the wife of the professor, and her acting was of a kind requiring the highest praise. In the scenes with the professor she showed much dramatic power and sustained the character from first to last in an admirable manner.

The "Nisbe" of Miss Rose Michell was par excellence. This young lady has appeared in other dramatic performances and always in the front rank of the best. Last night she was perfectly at ease and capable of showing the proper feeling and reserve. Whenever Miss Michell appears in public she is greeted with deserved applause.

Miss Myrtle Michell was fully up to the high standard set by the others in the cast, and as "Angelica," the forgiving wife of "Dr. Damask," she won new laurels. Her acting was perfectly natural, while she said her lines in a manner that showed good elocutionary powers. Miss Michell favored the audience with one of her sweet solos, which received a hearty encore.

Mrs. A. N. Varney took the part of "Susan," the sympathizing servant, and acted it in a vivacious manner. As one of the newest members, Mrs. Varney gives promise of being a valuable acquisition to the club.

The music of the Orchestra Union cannot be passed without mention. The selections were highly appreciated, especially the overture "Cavaleria Rusticana," which was received with rapturous applause. The orchestra kindly furnished their services free of charge, and their kindness is much appreciated by the society of St. Vincent.

The net receipts will be quite large, as $104 were taken in for the sale of seats.

Found Not Guilty.

Justice Davis' court was the scene of an assault and battery case yesterday afternoon, in which John Green was the defendant. Dr. Dietrich was the complaining witness and charged Green with coming at him with a rock. The trouble originated over the non-payment of a bill due him, the doctor alleged, from Green. A jury was empaneled consisting of J. W. French, S. B. Adams, J. H. Cross, N. Wheelton, L. Booth and F. T. Esping. For the State T. J. Jackson, John Carey and Dr. Dietrich appeared as witnesses. For the defense Frank Moore and the defendant testified. The case occupied the greater part of the afternoon and evening. After being out an hour the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. Deputy Pros. Atty Phelps represented the State and Huntington & Wilson the defense.
