NATIONAL PROSPERITY CREATES HIGH WAGES.

National prosperity, beyond all denial, stimulates industry, which creates employment. Hence, it always has and always will create a demand for labor, which must increase the wages of workmen.

Cheaper imported competitive commodities will destroy national prosperity and the demand for labor must decrease in proportion to the importation, because all competitive importation supplants home production, closes the avenues of employment, thereby reducing the rate of wages.

Of all men, the wage earner is most interested in creating a demand for labor, which he can only secure by having the industry from which he obtains employment, protected to an extent that will produce the greatest amount of employment.

If capital, without which no industry can exist, is not made secure against the effects of cheaper competitive foreign competition, it will not be employed. Without the medium of capital there will be no employment for labor.

The only capital possessed by the wage earner is his labor. His capital increases in proportion to the demand created. The greater the demand for employment the higher will be the rate of wages. This axiom has held good in the past and will hold good for all time.

If the American workmen desire to retain their high rate of wages and recover their past prosperity, they must create for themselves a demand for labor. This can only be secured by keeping out of our country the foreign competitive manufactures, which, for self preservation, should be manufactured at home.

It does not lie within the brain of mortal man to frame any law that can determine, for the whole people, a fixed rate of wages without destroying personal liberty. The prosperity of every nation is measured by the prosperity of the masses, which is determined by the rate of wages they receive. Freedom, personal liberty and national prosperity cannot continue when the wage earner is poor and dependent.

The Democratic party, and their allies, who advocate free-trade, claim to be the poor man's friend and party, a claim most untrue, for their policy and methods have always been antagonistic to the welfare of the wage earner and of the nation.

The poor man strikes a self inflicted blow, not only against himself, but against his country, when he casts his vote for a party whose policy is to advance the interests of foreign countries instead of those of his own. Consequently he surrenders his franchise to scheming demagogues, who betray his interests in order to obtain political power or personal aggrandizement, regardless of the welfare of the voter or of the nation.—Economist

HISTORY IN THE SOUTHERN SCHOOLS.

The Cleveland World alarms itself unduly because there is taught in the public schools of the south a history which presents slavery and the rebellion from the Southern point of view. Such teachings are wrong, of course, and a greater injury to the South than to the North; but human nature must be taken into account. It can not be expected, says the Spokesman-Review, that the Southern people will admit to their children that they were entirely wrong in plunging their country into civil war. That confession would throw upon them a terrific responsibility. Children of the south, viewing the scars of war which have not entirely healed, could reproach their sires for a wrong so grievous. "You admit that slavery was a mighty evil," they would say: "that secession was wrong. Why, then, did you perpetrate this great wrong in defense of a gigantic evil?" And the logic could not be resisted.

It is to shield themselves from this responsibility that the Southern people continue to give the lost cause a sentimental and theoretic defense. The virus, though, has become practically harmless. Southern children may have mild attacks of rebel varioloid; but the virulent epidemic will be seen no more forever.

The exports of American products and manufactures, from the port of New York, amounted to $360,776,967 in 1894 and only $351,196,606 in 1895. There was a decrease of $9,580,000 last year, not a very satisfactory showing for the Empire city to make in capturing the markets of the world. But last year's imports at New York were $83,200,000 greater than in 1894, which very well shows whose markets are being captured.

OF LOCAL INTEREST.

Monitor: Sherman county, though rich in soil and climate, is lacking in timber, not even an evergreen suitable for a Christmas tree is to be found in the county.

[That may be all so, but our county warrants are worth 101: Perhaps some others can do better.]—Wasco News.

Arlington Record: G. W. Alexander of Bickleton was in town Tuesday looking for subscriptions to make a new grade up Wood gulch. Of course the business men of this place are all favorable to the grade and will give substantial aid to its progress. Arlington is the natural market place for that section of Klickitat, and we are heartily in favor of doing anything that will give them better roads to our town. Elsewhere in this issue is a notice of a meeting to consider this matter.

Goldendale Sentinel: In view of the danger of invasion in the event of a war with England, the Lyle board of trade propose to erect fortifications to protect the harbor and the Lyle and Goldendale railway. Their proposals and bids may be called for the construction of a couple of ironclads; the board having appropriated $—,000,000 for defense. Col. Rowe, at his own expense, has obstructed the Klickitat at the falls so that it will be impossible for an English gunboat to reach Wahkiakus.

The Wheat Trade.

The local wheat market shows signs of strengthening. In The Dalles today the prices quoted are 45 to 46 cts per bushel. In Pendleton the nominal price is 40 cts. Although considerable wheat remains in the warehouses, but little is changing hands. The conditions in Portland and the East are reflected in the following taken from the Commercial Review in Portland:

We have passed through a week of dullness, holders of grain in Eastern Oregon and Washington are still clinging on to their wheat, and will only sell at an advance above market quotations. Many will sell if they can realize 50 cents per bushel there, 62½ cents at Portland. This is practically out of the question, according to prices paid in Europe and Chicago. In the Walla Walla country very little wheat has been disposed of as yet. Holders there are convinced that prices will advance as to enable them to sell at a good profit. At the present writing we hardly see where their hopes can be realized, and hope that expectations may prove true. Receipts have been fair and sales mostly are made to interior millers, at 2½ cents above the local price. Exporters' wants here are small; there are few ships at hand to load, and these have cargoes pretty well provided for. Not many ships are due to arrive in the near future, and those under forward engagement, but not yet provided for in the way of cargoes, are not likely to suffer any detention. Values are about 80 to 95 cents per cental for fair average Walla Walla; 95 cents for round lots of valley.

EASTERN MARKETS.

The past week was a moderately active one in the speculative markets. Advice from Europe were a little more encouraging to holders. Stocks of breadstuffs in Europe are understood to be gradually decreasing, though the imports are quite liberal. The receipts of grain at the larger distributing points, while not so free, were fairly liberal, and considerably in excess of the arrivals at this time last year. The movement of grain eastward was fairly liberal, and widely distributed, considerable grain of all kinds being distributed through the eastern and middle states, and also through the central West, more particularly to millers. Stocks are accumulating at interior points. The estimates of the government of grain production in 1895, issued early last week, show returns about as previously foreshadowed, with the exception of wheat, which is returned as fully 43,000,000 bushels greater than suggested by the figures given out in October. This makes the crop about 7,000,000 bushels greater than that of 1894. The winter wheat crop shows a shortage 65,157,000 bushels, while the spring crop is 71,992,000 larger than in 1894. The average production of wheat for the past ten years has been 462,000,000 bushels, so the crop last year was only fractionally above the average for the last decade.

Sift one quart of flour, two rounding tea-spoonsful of baking powder, and one tea-spoonful of salt into a bowl; add three tea-spoonsful of COTTOLENE and rub together until thoroughly mixed; then add sufficient milk to make a soft dough; knead slightly, roll out about half an inch thick, and cut with a small biscuit cutter. Place a little apart on a greased pan, and bake in a quick oven for fifteen or twenty minutes. These biscuits should be a delicate brown top and bottom, light on the sides, and snowy white when broken open.

The secret of success in this recipe, as in others, is to use but two-thirds as much Cottolene as you used to use of lard.

Cottolene

will make the biscuit light, delicious, wholesome. Better than any biscuit you ever made before. Try it. Be sure and get genuine Cottolene. Sold everywhere in tins with trade-marks — "Cottolene" and steer's head in cotton-plant wreath — on every tin.
