BRIEF MENTION.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

Everything is on runners today. Thirteen inches of snow have fallen since the storm began.

The Sherman county court has designated the Moro Observer as the official paper of that county.

There will be an auction sale at the Boss Cash Store at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. on Saturday, the 18th and Wednesday, the 22d inst.

Two engines and a caboose left The Dalles at 9:30 this morning to go to the aid of the rotary snow-plow, which was stuck at Oneonta.

The allowance of the militia for armory rent has been increased to $25 per month. This action was taken by the county court yesterday.

Four cars of sheep from Arlington to Troutdale were unloaded at the stock yards here, where they will be kept until the road is clear again.

The weather bureau gives an unexpected bulletin for tomorrow. The dispatch received today forecasts rain and warmer weather for Saturday.

The dance to be given by Smith Bros. will occur at the Baldwin opera house next Saturday evening. The music will be furnished by the Orchestra Union.

Clerk Kelsay is busy making out the warrants ordered drawn by the county court. The list will be a long one, and it will take a day or two to prepare them all.

A deed was filed today from Mary Laughlin to Frank Laughlin, conveying lot 9 in block 8 in Laughlin's addition. The deed mentions $1 and other valuable considerations.

The Elks in The Dalles have received an invitation to attend the institution of an Elks lodge in Boise City. A number of members of the Portland lodge are expected to be present.

Early this morning many citizens began cleaning off their sidewalks, and in many places the walking is made good. There still remains a good deal of snow to be cleared away from the walks.

Among the passengers on the delayed west-bound train this morning was Archbishop Gross, of the Catholic church. He was one of the guests in Receiver McNeil's private car. During his stay here he made a short visit with Rev. A. Bronsgeest.

The hotels, by reason of the delayed passengers congregating in them, looked today like the old days when the steamboats carried all the travelers that went east from Portland. In those times everyone who passed through The Dalles had generally to spend a night in the city.

At the recent election held by the stockholders of the Arlington National Bank, Hon. D. M. French was chosen president and W. W. Steiner vice-president. The directors elected are E. B. McFarland, L. E. Edwards and A. C. Hawson. F. T. Hurlburt was re-elected cashier.

It is the wish of THE CHRONICLE to publish reports of the proceedings of the Republican clubs, which will be held to select delegates to the state convention in Portland. The secretaries are requested to forward this paper the proceedings and a list of the delegates as soon as elected. Such a kindness will be appreciated.

The receiver's car, O1, was attached to No. 1 this morning and suffered a few hours' delay in The Dalles. In the car were Receiver E. McNeil, Freight Agent B. Campbell and Chief Engineer W. H. Kennedy. The car met Mr. McNeil at Huntington as he was returning from the East. Mr. McNeil is doubtless so elated over the success of his re-organization plans that he will not mind the cold reception he is getting on his return to Oregon.

Thomas Gilmore, well known in this city and in Klickitat county, where for many years he has resided, died this morning. Word was brought to town that the funeral will occur tomorrow. Mr. Gilmore was a son of the late S. Gilmore, one of the early pioneers of Oregon. Thomas Gilmore has suffered for many years with stomach trouble, and during the past fall his health grew steadily worse. He leaves a widow and several children to mourn their loss.

Sheriff Kilbourne of Baker county was among the belated passengers in The Dalles today. He was en route to Salem, having in charge an unfortunate for the insane asylum. Sheriff Kilbourne said Baker City had enjoyed a prosperous year, and expects to be treated better during 1896. The adjacent mines have yielded rich treasures, and the stringency of money has not been noticed there so much as in other places. A good deal of eastern capital has lately been invested in Baker county mines, and the activity in this direction is expected to be very great.

The Condition of Things.

Yesterday's storm caused the railroad company a good deal of trouble. The road is covered with drifts in many places, and west of Bonneville is in such condition that traffic is impossible. The local train which left here yesterday afternoon at 1:10 did not arrive at Bonneville till 10 o'clock this morning, and the passengers will probably not reach Portland till late this afternoon. The west-bound passenger arrived in The Dalles on time, but did not leave here till 11. One cause of the delay was the engine getting off the track as the train started across Mill creek bridge. Previous to its going, two engines went down the road to render assistance to imprisoned trains.

The rotary snow-plow left Portland last evening ahead of No. 2, the regular passenger train, but was unable to get any farther than Oneonta, where the snow was packed solid.

Local officials informed THE CHRONICLE this afternoon that a steamboat left Portland this morning, which, after picking up the passengers on the train that started last night, will proceed to Bonneville, where a transfer will be made. Unless the transfer is delayed, the train from Bonneville should reach The Dalles between 5 and 6 o'clock this evening. East of The Dalles everything is reported clear, though there is deep snow everywhere. Between here and Cascades no trouble is expected unless slides occur.

The weather is much moderated this afternoon, and with the promise of warmer conditions tomorrow, it looks like we may have only a spurt of winter and not a siege.

Fraternal Social.

Fraternity hall was taken possession of last night by the Workmen lodge and the members of the Degree of Honor. The attendance was large, and the evening pronounced one of the most pleasant in the social history of the two orders. The program, which was a very interesting one, opened with a song by ten members of the Gesang Verein, led by Prof. Birgfeld. The singers were: First tenors, Hans Hansen, Karl Gottfried Joseph Nitschke; second tenor, Fred Weigle, Johannon Stoll; first bass, Chris Weigle, I. C. Nickelsen, J. Kohler; second bass, Charles Stabing and Charles Schutz. After this enjoyable selection, Dr. Doane gave a well-rendered vocal solo, which was followed by a pleasing duet by Will Crossen and Charles Clarke. Mr. Clarke then favored the audience with a vocal solo. Among the most enjoyable pieces of the evening was a violin duet by Professor Birgfeld and his pupil, Mr. Woodcock. At this point in the program Dr. Doane gave an interesting ten-minute talk in words appropriate to the occasion.

This concluded the evening's program, and lunch was announced. One hundred and thirty-five people sat down to an elegant lunch, after which the time was given over to dancing till a late hour. The social proved a most enjoyable one to the Workmen, the members of the Degree of Honor and the few guests who were fortunate enough to be invited.

Delegates Chosen.

Despite the storm, which made walking, if not impossible, at least very disagreeable, the council chambers contained a large number of Republicans last night, who met as members of the McKinley Club to choose delegates to the state convention of clubs to be held in Portland February 4th. Mayor Frank Menefee, the president of the club, called the meeting to order, and the call for the convention was then read by the secretary, H. H. Riddell.

As the members came together to choose delegates, it was decided to proceed to that action at once. Mr. J. M. Patterson moved that in balloting each member voting should write the names of five persons on his ballot, and the five receiving the greatest number of the votes cast should be declared elected delegates. The motion was passed. Messrs. W. H. Wilson and Charles Hilton were appointed tellers, and when the votes were counted it was found that the following had been chosen delegates: B. F. Laughlin, W. H. Wilson, J. M. Patterson, John Mitchell and Fred W. Wilson.

The question of electing officers for the ensuing year was brought up, but the club decided that such action had better be postponed until a meeting called for that purpose. It was then determined that the next meeting of the club should be held February 8th, at which time officers should be elected and plans for the campaign considered.
