"A TRIUMPH FOR FREE WOOL."

The exports of our woolen manufactured goods during the eleven months ending November 30, amounted to $685,898, against $676,740 in the corresponding eleven months of 1894. It cannot, therefore, be doubted that our woolen mills are now doing better than they have done.

This is a great triumph for free wool, which the Wilson tariff gave the country.—N. Y. Herald, January 11, 1896.

Mr. James Gordon Bennett's un-American paper shows that our exports of American woolen goods were $9,158 more during eleven months of protection to wool in 1894. This may, indeed, be regarded as "a great triumph for free wool," an increase of $33 per working day in the output of all American woolen mills, 2,500 in number, or an average of 13 cents added to the value of the daily output of each mill, half of which goes to labor, so that 6½ cents per day could be divided among 155,657 wage earners as the direct result of the "great triumph for free wool."

We have not deducted the increased woolen imports which, last year, from the United Kingdom alone reached $19,000,000 more than in 1894, without any figures from Germany or France, where Mr. Bennett's partisan friends are undoubtedly drinking success to American free trade.

The loss of $19,000,000 of our woolen trade meant an average loss of $7,600 in the output of each and every one of our woolen mills last year, to be charged against the increased 13 cents worth of business per woolen mill per day acquired through the capture of additional markets of the world.

We believe that Mr. Bennett's statement that "It cannot, therefore be doubted that our woolen mills are now doing better than they have done" is slightly at variance with the truth. These results, however, certainly show that "this is the great triumph for free wool" when one becomes "triumphant" over the destruction of American industries.—Economist.

Governor Lord's promptitude in responding to an eastern newspaper's inquiry as to the numerical strength of the state militia was no less remarkable than is his tardiness in answering the query of about a score of Oregon newspapers as to why he does not call a special session of the legislature. His excellency seems to be more interested in Cuba's struggle for freedom from Spanish rule than in Oregon's appeal for relief from oppressive taxation.—Evening Telegram.

This is lively imagination. Governor Lord is not more interested in the Cuban insurgents than in Oregon's appeal for relief from oppressive taxation; but he does not call an extra session because he knows that outside of the political ringsters in Portland and a few of their hirelings in other parts of the state, no one wants an extra session. We would rather let bad enough alone, without making it worse.

A bale of goods from Europe is a depressor of American wages under a low tariff. The American manufacturer without adequate protection must meet the European price or suspend operations, and he can meet it only by reducing the cost of production, which is mainly labor cost. Add this to the fact that laborers of the cheapest, and often the most degraded classes, are pouring into this country to make the competition sharper among wage-earners, and it is perceived that the right method of advancing wages in this country is, not to try to fix wage rates by governmental decree, but to build higher the tariff barrier against foreign goods and to impose severe restriction upon immigration.—The Press, N. Y.

Political Gossip.

Political gossip is beginning to appear in the state papers. It is yet too early for candidates to be announcing their intentions, and the imagination of newspaper men has a full field for its exercise. An Eastern Oregon paper says that A. S. Bennett of The Dalles may possibly be the Democratic nominee for the supreme court. This, however, we think unlikely, as Judge Bennett has been a candidate for that position twice already and the chances for electing a democrat to the supreme court are no better now than they were two or four years ago. The Tribune says that there is a mild suspicion that Judge Charles H. Carey of Portland could be prevailed upon to take an active part in the congressional fight in the First district. Whether or not this may be so, Mr. Ellis will not be without competitors that will make the contest in the convention interesting. It is about time that John C. Leasure was arising to announce that he would make a good congressman. Mr. Leasure, after moving to Portland, seems to have been lost in the political shuffle.

From now till convention time there will be abundant opportunities to make and unmake candidates with the rapidity of a kaleidoscope.
