BITTER CONTROVERSY

The House Involved in a Dispute Today.

IT GREW OUT OF TALBOT'S REMARKS

Which Representative Barrett Interpreted as Treasonable—Resolution of Censure Offered.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Debate on the free-silver substitute for the bond bill proceeded steadily in the house today. The house met at 10:30 a. m., with less than 30 members present.

Newlands awoke the empty echoes of the vast hall with a vigorous argument in favor of the free and independent coinage of silver. He asserted not a single debtor nation of the world maintained the gold standard except the United States, and we did so as the price of the continued bond issues.

Talbot then rose to a question of personal privilege to correct what he said was an unintentional misrepresentation of himself in the public prints. He said Pearson made an unwarranted attack on the loyalty of his state, which, he declared, was as loyal as any state in the Union. Pearson had said North Carolina followed South Carolina out of the Union, and got whipped along with the Palmetto state. "In a jocular way, Mr. Speaker," continued Mr. Talbot, "I declared we weren't whipped, but had worn ourselves out trying to whip the other fellows. In the heat of the moment, and impulsively, I said South Carolina was not ashamed of the part she took in it, and I, for one, endorsed secession then. I thought we were right; I think so yet, and surrounded by the same conditions, I would do the same thing again. Now, Mr. Speaker, I repeat it."

Barrett asked that the words be taken down. Several members appealed to him not to do so.

The speaker asked Barrett if he insisted upon his demand. Barrett seemed to hesitate until Talbot declared in a loud voice he was willing to have his words taken down. "I will stand by them," said he.

Barrett then replied to the speaker: "Yes, I insist; I want to see if a member can violate his oath in this fashion."

"The chair understood that the gentleman from South Carolina was only repeating what he had said on a former occasion," said Speaker Reed. Crisp moved that Talbot be permitted to explain. The words were read at the clerk's desk.

Barrett then formally made a point of order that when a statement made by a member had been called in question and he deliberately reiterated it, it constituted a new statement and a new offense. He purposed now to offer a resolution of censure.

The excitement on the floor was intense. Crisp said he had never known an instance when a member was called to order and a motion made that he be allowed to explain his utterances, that such motion was not considered.

Barrett replied he had no objection to the gentleman from South Carolina explaining at the proper time. There was more parliamentary sparring between Crisp and Barrett, during which the excitement increased.

The speaker finally cut the matter short by saying if the house was not satisfied with Talbot's explanation the resolution might be offered. The speaker decided Crisp's motion in order.

"I take it for granted," said Dingley, rising, "that the house does not intend to vote on the resolution of censure without according the gentleman from South Carolina an opportunity to explain." These generous words won the applause of the democratic side. Talbot explained that he had arisen to correct misrepresentations. "South Carolina," he proceeded, "was as loyal and true to the Union as any state. The circumstances under which she seceded could not exist again, and he was glad of it." (Democratic applause.)

Dalzell moved to refer Barrett's resolution to the committee on judiciary. This was carried by a vote of 154 to 41. This is understood to mean that no notice will be taken of the matter.

At Hendrick, Ind., Joe Merrifield, aged 18, quarreled with his brother Hugh, aged 10. He shot and killed Hugh and then committed suicide.

WORLD'S NEWS IN BRIEF.

William H. English died at his rooms in the Hotel English, Indianapolis, Friday, at 12:35 p. m.

Senator Frye from Maine was made president pro tem of the senate yesterday, and A. J. Shaw of Spokane, Wash., secretary.

The great storm in the East caused water in the streets of Morristown, N. J., to rise 17 feet. At Somerville the telegraph operators in the Lehigh Valley and Central railroad depots, for a time sent messages while standing in water up to their knees, but finally were compelled to leave their posts.

The report of the commissioners appointed under act of congress to make an investigation of the route of the proposed Nicaraguan canal was sent to the house yesterday by the president. The salient features of the document have already been published. The report contains very elaborate data respecting the work already done by the company, the physical characteristics of the country, the dangers to be met, the weak points to be overcome and various other detailed statistical information. The total cost of the canal is estimated to be $133,472,895.

The sultan has replied to the autograph letter from Queen Victoria, which it has been understood was a personal appeal to the better nature of the sultan against the condition of Asia Minor, sympathizing with her in the humane sentiments expressed and declaring the reports of the massacres were spread by evil-disposed persons. The sultan adds that, contrary to allegations, the Turks were first attacked while praying in a mosque. The sultan assured the queen that the measures taken had succeeded in restoring order, and except in Zeltoun, quiet prevails everywhere, and negotiations going on with the insurgents at Zeltoun will undoubtedly lead to quiet.
