A chinaman was arrested Saturday for stealing a chicken at J. H. Cross corner. It afterwards proved to be a mistake and the Mongolian was vindicated. The event caused some indignation among his countrymen, and their contempt for a Melican man's estimate of the Chinese character is supreme.

Sheriff Maddock of Clackamas county, will arrive this evening with a prisoner arrested for seduction, committed on a farm near Boyd under promise of marriage. The Lothario fled, but was captured about fifteen miles from Oregon City. Names are omitted at present, in the event that a marriage might take place.

The ladies of the First Christian church will give an experience social next Wednesday at the Christian church, corner Eleventh and Court streets. Surveyor Sharp handed to the county court today his report, containing the survey of the proposed new road from the winehouse to the city limits. The present route is rocky, steep and irregular. The new one is level for 1,600 feet, and a grade of only a foot to the rod for 1,000 feet. The road bed is 25 feet wide. Surveyor Sharp estimates that the sum total of cuts and fills will amount to 9,750 cubic yards. The construction of the road will be submitted to bidders, but a comparatively close estimate is thought to be about $2,500. Mr. Sharp has taken great pains in this work, and his maps and drawings indicate accurately the shape of the ground, its formation, distances and measurements, so that contractors will have all data needed for an intelligent idea as to the work to be done.

MARRIED.

At the residence of the bride's parents, The Dalles, Or., on Sunday, Feb. 10, 1893, by the Rev. Mr. Goss, minister in charge of St. Paul's church, Vernon H. Koontz and Sophia Nicholas.

Mr. Koontz is a well-known and popular young man of this city, who has grown up with us and numbers his friends by the score. The bride has also resided here almost since her birth, and is the amiable and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Nicholas, of the Columbia hotel. The newly-wedded pair took the Sunday local train for Tacoma and the Sound, and will be absent about two weeks.

At the residence of Rev. Jenkins, The Dalles, Saturday, 10:30 p. m., Ernest V. Jensen of The Dalles, and Miss Mattie Foley of Hood River.

Mr. Jensen has been in the employ of Pease & Mays for several years, and is one of the most popular young men connected with that store. He is prominent in church work and is a universal favorite among all who know him. Miss Foley has lived with her parents at Hood River for a long time, and it is with some reluctance that community loses her to live in the future at The Dalles. Mr. Jensen has fitted up a cozy little home on the hill, where they will hereafter reside and be "at home" to their many friends.

The Good Templars.

The Dalles Lodge, No. 2, I. O. G. T., on Saturday night had a rousing meeting at the K. of P. hall. For the good of the order there was a debate of the question, Resolved, that pen is mightier than the sword. The affirmative was conducted by G. R. Campbell and the negative by George Ernest Stewart. As the argument became spirited, the excitement was intense. The judges, Messrs. Frazier, Harper and Miss Edna

Barnett, rendered a decision for the affirmative. Every available seat was occupied, and as usual, several candidates were initiated.

Kaffir Corn in Wasco County.

In response to a request made some time since by THE CHRONICLE for an experience in raising Kaffir corn by some farmer, Mr. J. C. Wheeler of Hood River furnishes us the following, which will be read with interest by all those having an interest in the production of this valuable cereal. Mr. S. L. Brooks of this city has ordered and proposes to plant three bushels of seed in Sherman county the coming season:

EDITOR CHRONICLE:—Referring to your request that parties having knowledge of the adaptability of Kaffir corn to Wasco county climate, I will state that in the spring of 1895 I sent to Lawrence, Kansas, for ten kinds of forage plant seeds, including red and white Kaffir corn, yellow and white Milo maize, Jerusalem corn, brown Dourra corn, Amber and African sorghum and two kinds of millet. I planted one-tenth of an acre of each kind on May 11th. All was slow to germinate, but finally started fairly well. The yellow Milo maize outgrew everything, producing large hills seven feet high. The Jerusalem corn a good second; then Dourra corn. The white Milo maize, and Kaffir corn grew about four feet high. It did not head out. A part of all was fertilized at the rate of ten loads of stable manure to the acre. One-third of each kind was irrigated. All was well cultivated and hoed. The Millet showed the effects of water by increased growth the most; the yellow Milo maize the least. It grew six feet high without irrigation. So far as one experiment goes, yellow Milo maize is way ahead for my soil and climate for fodder. The Jerusalem and Dourra corns were the only kinds that perfected their seed before the frost of Sept. 20th. Perhaps I ought to add that my friends living on heavier soil do not consider my soil as good as theirs and that we cleared off the pine just ahead of the plow. I have no seed to sell.
