

UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM

C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles

AYER'S The Only World's Fair Sarsaparilla.

AYER'S PILLS cure Headache. A Very Fine Entertainment.

The spacious hall of St. Mary's Academy was filled last evening by those anxious to listen to the St. Patrick's day exercises, in charge of the sisters of the institution.

The stage was beautifully decorated with trailing vines, flowers and motto "Caed Mille Failthe," Irish for "Come and a thousand welcomes." When the curtain raised, there trooped in fifty or more girls, ranging in age from 6 to 16 years, all prettily dressed and wearing a knot of green ribbon. After a pretty march they lined up in respect to size, the smallest children in front. These gave a very fine chorus, including a duet by Mary Goelner and Effie Wakefield. "St. Patrick's Day" was the next selection, requiring eight mandolins, two guitars and a piano accompaniment. It was a very pleasing selection.

Ernest Furlong then gave a spirited recitation, "Erin's Flag," holding in his right the beautiful flag of Ireland, upon which appeared a silver harp. At its conclusion, a number of boys rallied around him and sang a medley of Irish airs, which must have inspired all of that nationality who were in the house, for the familiar tunes were very prettily rendered, the solo being taken by Ernest Goelner, whose childish voice is very pure and sweet.

"Afloat on the Waves" was the title of a concert recitation by a number of the larger girls. They recited in perfect harmony of voice and gesture a thrilling allegorical selection of the sea, with an impressive piano accompaniment.

Mary McInerney and Rose Mary Baldwin next executed a brilliant piano selection, "Come Back to Erin."

"A Lawyer Outwitted" was the title of a spirited dialogue, representing the character of an inquisitive lawyer and an unwilling witness, by Joe McInerney and Chas. Bunn.

"The Dear Little Shamrock" was another concert selection, solos by May Johnson and Clara Horton. The girls named have beautiful voices and are susceptible of still greater beauty with cultivation.

The drama followed, and is a well sustained sketch of society life, in which a daughter is blamed for her sister's misdeeds, and after suffering unmerited censure and trouble, is finally proven to be innocent. The central character is the wronged child, taken by Clara Horton, who ably sustained her arduous part.

The Pagani waltz was a pleasing selection with mandolin, Lily Seufert, and piano, Frank Seufert.

"A Precious Pickle" was a spirited dialogue, quite humorous, and well rendered by a bevy of girls, whose natural animal spirits were so irrepresentable that the piece seemed as a leaf torn from everyday life.

Another charming musical selection followed, entitled "The Irish Exile," the solo being sung by Mary McInerney. "La Chasse au Lion" was a duet on two pianos, a charming and difficult selection executed by Alma Schanno, Edith Smith, Katie Brogan and Mary McInerney.

The program concluded with a tableau our Lord blessing the little children. It proved very impressive, the calcium lights giving the representation a supernatural effect. The part of the Savior was taken by Miss Virginia Hillgen.

A Pleasant Afternoon Spent.

Yesterday afternoon Misses Annetto and Myrtle Michell entertained a number of their friends at their home on Fourth and Washington streets. In view of the fact that it was St. Patrick's day the parlors were tastily festooned with green ribbons and decorated with evergreens, while on the score cards was painted shamrock. The early part of the afternoon was passed in playing "Logomachy," which held them "spell-bound" until Miss Newman was found to have gained the most words and the head prize, and Miss Louise Ruch was rewarded with a "dainty" little green toy snake. At 5 o'clock lunch was served and each young lady was presented with a shamrock boutonniere. Lunch being over, Misses Newman and Schmidt favored the young ladies with instrumental solos and Misses Beulah Patterson and Myrtle Michell with a vocal duet, "Come Back to Erin."

The following were guests: Misses Florence Lewis, Clara and Etta Story, Grace Sharp, Anna and Laura Thompson, Mattie and Mamie Cushing, Clara Davis, Minnie Lay, Lizzie Sampson, Beulah Patterson, Maybel Mack, Louise and Ione Ruch, Dora Freddan.

None But Ayer's at the World's Fair. Ayer's Sarsaparilla enjoys the extraordinary distinction of having been the only blood purifier allowed on exhibit at the world's fair, Chicago. Manufacturers of other sarsaparillas sought by every means to obtain a showing of their goods, but they were all turned away under the application of the rule forbidding the entry of patent medicines and nostrums. The decision of the world's fair authorities in favor of Ayer's Sarsaparilla was in effect as follows: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a patent medicine. It does not belong to the list of nostrums. It is here on its merits."
