WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Random Observations and Local Events of Lesser Magnitude.

Forecast—Tonight and Saturday occasional rain.

Fossil girls play base ball with the school master.

The Columbia river cannerymen have organized a combine.

Mr. E. Jacobsen will move his store tomorrow to his new location across the street.

Glance at the excellent program for the Brownie entertainment in another column.

The noblest and most up-to-date line of neckwear now on sale at A. M. Williams & Co.

The county delegates have nearly all arrived in the city and are being properly buttonholed.

Take early advantage of the choice offerings made by A. M. Williams & Co. in spring suits.

The west-bound passenger was delayed several hours today by the burning of a bridge east of Pendleton.

Sheep in Wasco county are lambing fast. The weather is desirable, and the prospects of a large increase flattering.

Mr. J. H. Sherar begins work today on the road between Bakeoven and Antelope, and will make a good highway out of a bad one.

Messrs. Stubling & Williams have the finest stock of liquors and cigars ever brought to the city. Family trade especially solicited.

There will be a grand display of Eastern pattern hats and bonnets at Mrs. Phillips millinery Saturday March 28th, to which a cordial invitation is extended to the ladies.

The women of Josephine and Jackson counties believe in the double standard. Three pair of twins have been born there recently, one in the former and two in the latter.

In Union county the Populists resolved that they are unalterably opposed to the use of liquor and cigars by the candidates in the campaign for electing purposes.

The dredger is still at work at the locks. Riprapping is also steadily going on, and the entrance to the canal is now presumed to be safe from any possible stage of high water.

The river has risen an inch an hour in the last 24 hours, standing this morning 12.7 feet, an increase of 2.6 from 7 a. m. Thursday till 7 a. m. Friday. The lower part of the incline is now under water.

Mr. R. Shelley, who was in town yesterday, confidently predicts the re-nomination of Representative Hermann to congress. He places the following counties to Herman's credit: Clackamas, Yamhill, Polk, Benton, Jackson, Josephine and Douglas. A division of sentiment is apparent in Washington, Lynn, Lane and Marion.

The members of the First Baptist church in Portland have decided not to accept the resignation of Roland D. Grant by a vote of 99 to 35. It is not yet definitely known whether Rev. Grant will remain or not.

Miss Cora Aldrich of the Cascade Locks, has consented to sing at the Brownie entertainment next Saturday night. Miss Aldrich has sung before to a Dalles audience, who were delighted with her rare vocal ability.

Mr. E. F. Sharp has been in the Muddy and Currant creek settlement for the past two weeks. The new grade on Currant creek stood the winter well, and needs only some slight repairs caused by springs on the hillside, making mudholes in the road.

The Commercial Club proposes to take action soon on the Fossil road question. The ozone is so deeply impregnated with politics at present that it is impossible to discuss business interests, and the road question will be postponed until after the Republican county convention. Early in the week President Schenck will call a meeting of the Commercial Club to discuss the Fossil proposition and appoint the necessary committees.

OREGON'S VOTE.

The official figures of the census enumeration of 1895, just promulgated by the secretary of the state, show the population of Oregon to be 382,513. This is but 149 less than the estimated population of the state published by the Oregonian immediately upon receipt of unofficial returns from all counties.

The official returns give a more comprehensive summary of the voting strength of the state—showing as they do that the number of voters in the state has increased a little over 100 per cent in ten years than has heretofore been published. The number of voters in each county under the state censuses of 1885 and 1895 is given in the appended table:

	1885	1895
Baker	884	1,759
Benton	1,649	2,650
Clackamas	884	2,444
Clatsop	877	884
Columbia	304	1,649
Coos	877	877
Crook	304	877
Douglas	2,093	3,833
Gilliam	835	1,581
Grant	1,837	2,581
Harney	2,157	2,581
Jackson	756	1,263
Josephine	356	667
Klamath	665	965
Lake	2,686	4,364
Lane	3,099	965
Linn	1,059	1,267
Lincoln	898	970
Malheur	3,605	3,877
Marion	802	1,895
Morrow	10,474	1,809
Multnomah	1,727	5,501
Polk	496	3,833
Sherman	2,878	1,759
Tillamook	2,692	2,581
Umatilla	1,174	2,581
Union	2,599	2,581
Wallowa	2,335	2,581
Wasco	2,351	2,581
Washington	2,351	2,581
Yamhill	2,351	2,581
Total	55,043	110,802

It is interesting to compare these figures with the actual votes cast in the years of 1894 and 1894. In 1884 the largest vote recorded was on the presidential issue, and resulted:

Blaine	28,860
Cleveland	24,604
Butler	726
St. John	492
Total	52,682

This records about 96 per cent of the total vote.

The highest recorded vote in 1894 was for governor. It stood:

Lord	41,034
Galloway	17,498
Pierce	26,033
Kennedy	2,700
Total	87,265

As the assessors found 110,802 legal voters in 1894, it appears that in that year only about 79 per cent of the voters expressed themselves at the polls. It is evident, however, that more would have voted in 1894, if it had been a presidential year; for while Blaine received 28,860 in 1884, Hermann, for representative, received only 25,699; while Cleveland 24,604, Myers received only 23,652. We are justified in expecting, therefore, a total vote in the November Oregon election of about 100,000.

A Runaway on the Deschutes.

Harvey Smith, the well-known sheepman of the Deschutes, had a thrilling adventure last week with a runaway team by which the lives of his wife and little boy were seriously endangered. He had driven with them in a light buggy to the farm gate, and giving the lines to his wife, alighted to open the gate. Before he had returned to the buggy the horses became frightened and started to run. He tried to reach the buggy and nearly succeeded. His wife threw him the lines, but he secured control of but one, and this he was forced to loose. The horses then ran for two miles over a very rough country, finally running down a steep and rocky hillside, where the buggy was capsized at the bottom by running into a ditch. The lady and little boy were thrown out and stunned, but luckily escaped serious injury. Mrs. Smith sustained slight bruises about the face, but the boy was uninjured.

Neighbors followed the track made by the buggy and rendered the necessary assistance. The buggy was ruined and the horses badly injured.

Ode to the Liberty School House.

O schoolhouse dear, how oft of thee In after years our hearts will sing: Thy joys recalled by memory No bard in mystic rhyme can bring. Though plain thy walls and unadorned By works of art; unknown to fame, Yet we love thee, and Liberty Has crowned thee with her name.

An entertainment at the Liberty schoolhouse on last Saturday evening, given by the Young People's Literary Society, was a success both financially and socially. A very interesting program, consisting of recitations, dialogues and songs, was rendered by the members of the society, and apparently appreciated by the audience, judging from the unusual good order which prevailed throughout the exercises.

The weekly meetings of this society during the winter have afforded amusement, entertainment and instruction for our young people during the winter, and the orderly way in which they have conducted them deserves praise.
