

A SPECIFIC —FOR— La Grippe, for Colds, Coughs, AND LUNG TROUBLES, AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Two years ago, I had the grippe, and it left me with a cough which gave me no rest night or day. My family physician prescribed for me, changing the medicine as often as he found the things I had taken were not helping me, but, in spite of his attendance, I got no better. Finally, my husband,—reading one day of a gentleman who had had the grippe and was cured by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,—procured for me, a bottle of this medicine, and before I had taken half of it, I was cured. I have used the Pectoral for my children and in my family, whenever we have needed it, and have found it a specific for colds, coughs, and lung troubles."—EMILY WOOD, North St., Elkton, Md.

A Good Example.

Several young ladies set a good example at the last show which is well worthy of emulation. The floor at the Baldwin is level, and the audience back of the first five or six rows of seats have quite an imperfect view of the stage caused by ostrich feathers and ribbon, which adorn the heads of the fair sex. There is now going on a popular crusade leading to the removal by the ladies of their hats during a theatrical performance, and many ladies, in the larger cities, have endorsed it by removing them. Several ladies removed their hats at "Finnigan's Ball," and the effect from a masculine point of view was quite as pleasing as if they kept their hats on, and we know those men immediately back of them loved them the better for doing so, if that is a reason for wearing the hats. On behalf of the public who pay their money to attend a show, and in behalf of the opera house management, who would be better patronized if their patrons could be assured of a good view of the stage, we urge that the ladies of The Dalles adopt the sensible style set at the last show and remove their hats. There is good sense in it; there is appreciation for the rights and comfort of others in it; and there is admiration and gratitude of all, which is always a winning proposition.

BORN.
Friday, April 10th, to the wife of A. W. Mohr, Grand Dalles, a son.

Day Bros.' steam launch, while returning to the Cascade Locks Sunday afternoon under full steam, grounded upon the sand bar in the river just opposite Mr. F. Locke's place. The lumber company's little tug, seeing the launch in distress, got up steam and started to the rescue. But after about an hour's time the launch succeeded in getting free, a few minutes before the arrival of the tug.—Glacier.

WHY LATIN IS USED.

Good Reasons for a Doctor's Writing a Prescription in a Dead Language.

"Why doesn't the doctor write his prescription in English instead of Latin?" asked a man of a druggist, whose reply the New York Herald publishes:

In the first place, Latin is a more exact and concise language than English, and being a dead language, does not change, as all living languages do.

Then, again, since a very large part of all drugs in use are botanical, they have in the pharmacopoeia the same names that they have in botany—the scientific names. Two-thirds of such drugs haven't any English names, and so couldn't be written in English.

But suppose doctors did write a prescription in English for an uneducated patient. The patient reads it, thinks he remembers it, and so tries to get it filled from memory the second time. Suppose, for instance, it called for iodide of potassium, and he got it confused with cyanide of potassium. He could safely take ten grains of the first, but one grain of the second would kill him.

That's an extreme case, but it will serve for an illustration. Don't you see how the Latin is a protection and a safeguard to the patient? Prescriptions in Latin he can't read, and consequently does not try to remember.

Now for a final reason. Latin is a language that is used by scientific men the world over, and no other language is. You can get a Latin prescription filled in any country on the face of the earth where there is a drug store.

We had a prescription here the other day which we had put up originally, and which had since been stamped by druggists in London, Paris, Berlin, Constantinople, Cairo and Calcutta. What good would an English prescription be in St. Petersburg?

Cook Rides a Bike.

A lady living in the upper part of New York wanted a cook who would go home at night, and put an advertisement in the paper setting forth her needs. Among the applicants was a negro woman of huge proportions. The lady looked at the negress and thought of her little kitchen. She did not want to state the real reason, for fear of giving offense, so she said: "I'm afraid that you would not get here in time in the morning, you live so far downtown." "Don't you fear about that, honey," said the negress; "it won't take me no time to come up on my bike." The lady regrets now that she did not ask this wheelwoman whether she wore bloomers or knickerbockers.

Call It Quits.

Among the advertisements in a German paper there lately appeared the following: "The gentleman who found a purse with money in the Blumenstrasse is requested to forward it to the address of the loser, as he was recognized." A few days afterward the reply was inserted: "The recognized gentleman who picked up a purse in the Blumenstrasse requests the loser to call at his house."

How to Cure Rheumatism.

ARAGO, Coos Co., Oregon, Nov. 10, 1893.—I wish to inform you of the great good Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done my wife. She has been troubled with rheumatism of the arms and hands for six months, and has tried many remedies prescribed for that complaint, but found no relief until she used this Pain Balm; one bottle of which has completely cured her. I take pleasure in recommending it for that trouble. Yours truly, C. A. Bullard. 50 cents and $1.00 bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton's Drug Store.

It May Do as Much for You.

Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a severe kidney trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so called kidney cures but without any good result. About a year ago he began to use Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to cure of all Kidney and Liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Price 50c and $1.00. At Blakeley & Houghton's Drug Store.

J. W. Pierce, Republic, Ia., says: "I have used One Minute Cough Cure in my family and for myself, with result so entirely satisfactory that I can hardly find words to express myself as to its merit. I will never fail to recommend it to others, on every occasion that presents itself." For sale by Snipes-Kinnersley, Drug Co.
