THE SPIRIT OF COMPROMISE.

The recent Republican convention in Portland was in many respects a memorable one. Aside from the intense feeling displayed by the disputants for seats in the convention, the meeting had an historical interest that impressed deeply those who were familiar with the events of the past thirty years. Some of the scenes approached the dramatic, especially when the white-haired statesman, Ex-Atty.-General Williams, at the request of both disputing factions, arose to state the truth as he saw it to be. Dramatic all would call it who heard the man, who not only in state, but in national affairs, had received a full measure of honor, point out the course which it was safe and wise for the convention to follow.

After serving the nation as senator, as a member of the president's cabinet, as one of the High Joint Commission, which aided in settling the most serious international question that has arisen between this and a foreign country since the war—Judge Williams came into the convention to say what should be done, and, as if justifying their faith, the members of the convention did what was told them.

Through all of Judge Williams' speeches and acts could be detected the spirit of compromise—not the base surrendering of any moral right, but the disposition to meet half way, to give and take—allowing to both sides the merits that were theirs. Judge Williams' whole career has been an exposition of the value of compromise as a working theory. Whether we admit it or not, it is the only working theory where "many men of many minds" all meet together to decide upon a course of action and there can possibly be but one. Sometimes this theory does not seem applicable to all phases of a subject. Shall we send our army by land or water? A half and half project applied to transportation would result in sending them into a swamp; applied to the troops, half of them taking the one route, the remainder of them coming, perhaps not so quickly, by the other, avoiding some of the difficulties of the first, are able to save the day for the victorious general.

We are not forgetful of the position of the stump orator who said to his would-be constituents, "I assure you, my friends, you will always find me steering a straight middle course between right and wrong." This is not the true spirit of compromise; rather does it mean straight hitting whenever it can be done; when common sense says it cannot, then do the next best thing possible.

Away back in the 50s Judge Williams delivered his views on this subject of compromise in a lecture on that title, which he delivered in several of the valley towns. He worked under this flag in the Reconstruction period, at a time when any other course would simply have let loose the dogs of war again, when the remnant that has now grown to such a lusty manhood would have otherwise been still further torn and wasted.

If this spirit taken in its true interpretation—not meaning the compromise of good with evil, but the accommodation that would adjust the edges, which otherwise would not come together—could be extended to the incidents of every-day life and made a part of each man's code of action, how much more smoothly the affairs of life would glide.

The politicians of the country are combining against McKinley, which will make him all the more the popular candidate. The people want a reenactment of the protective policy under which the country has prospered, and McKinley stands foremost in connection with such a policy. For this reason he is the logical candidate, and unless all signs fail, will secure the prize. In every state there is a strong sentiment for McKinley, which will find expression at the St. Louis convention despite the efforts of the politicians to control it.

One of the newly elected councilmen remarks that the Sentinel is run by as thorough a jackass as ever brayed a bray. Every time he opens his mouth he makes a bigger ass of himself.—Agri. A newly elected councilman says that "thing of the Agri is such a sneaking whelp that he couldn't be anything more than the hind leg of an ass, of which the councilman mentioned by the Agri is nothing but the bray.—Sentinel.

The new time card of the Northern Pacific railway, shortens the time between Portland and St. Paul ten hours. This is now the shortest and quickest route to the East. Two through trains daily out of Portland. The only line running a dining car from Portland, and good connections at St. Paul and Chicago makes this the most desirable route. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75 cents.

None But Ayer's at the World's Fair. Ayer's Sarsaparilla enjoys the extraordinary distinction of having been the only blood purifier allowed on exhibit at the world's fair, Chicago. Manufacturers of other sarsaparillas sought by every means to obtain a showing of their goods, but they were all turned away under the application of the rule forbidding the entry of patent medicines and nostrums. The decision of the world's fair authorities in favor of Ayer's Sarsaparilla was in effect as follows: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a patent medicine. It does not belong to the list of nostrums. It is here on its merits."

In the fall of 1893 a son of Mr. T. A. McFarland, a prominent merchant of Live Oak, Sutter county, Calif., was taken with a very heavy cold. The pains in his chest were so severe that he had spasms and was threatened with pneumonia. His father gave him several large doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which broke up the cough and cured him. Mr. McFarland says whenever his children have croup he invariably gives them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it always cures them. He considers it the best cough remedy in the market. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton's Drug store.

Bucklen's Arnica salve.
The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Blakeley and Houghton's Drug store.

Two Lives Saved.
Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City Ill. was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St. San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching Consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and colds. Free trial bottles at Blakeley & Houghton's Drug Store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00.

Blakeley & Houghton desire us to publish the following extract from a letter of Chas. M. Gutfield of Reedley, Fresno county, Calif., as they handle the remedy referred to and want their customers to know what a splendid medicine it is: "It is with pleasure I tell you that by one day's use of Chamberlain's Cough remedy I was relieved of a very bad cold. My head was completely stopped up and I could not sleep at night. I can recommend this remedy." A cold nearly always starts in the head and afterwards extends to the throat and lungs. By using this remedy freely as soon as the cold has been contracted it will cure the cold at once and prevent it from extending to the lungs.
