WHY? have we taken hold of the VICTOR BICYCLE as our leading Wheel.

Because after thoroughly testing a dozen different makes, we have come to the conclusion that the VICTOR is the BEST.

Because it is mechanically perfect, and while not TOO LIGHT for our bad roads, yet it runs the easiest.

Because it has a tire that, while light, is almost PUNCTURE PROOF. (We will repair all punctures free for the season on 1896 Victor Tires.)

We have 1896 Bicycles that list at $100 that we will sell for $75, but they are not VICTORS. Our 1896 VICTORS sell for $100.

For medium grade bicycles, we have the Waverley and Crescents—$50 to $85. Good second hand wheels, $25 to $50.

Bicycles and Tandems for rent. Wheels repaired. We keep constantly on hand a good stock of compressed air, for inflating tires, and give it away. Get your tires inflated.

There will be a meeting of the Congregational church at 8 o'clock this (Tuesday) evening.

A marriage license was issued in the clerk's office yesterday to William Kennedy and Fanny A. Ordway.

Pease & Mays are putting in a mammoth new safe today. Its dimensions are 68x52x32½ inches. It is very handsome.

The Lincoln Republican club will meet at the Endersby school house on Friday, May 15th, at 8 o'clock p. m. All Republicans and their friends are cordially invited to be present.

No new evidence has been discovered concerning the postoffice robbery. The preliminary trial occurs tomorrow, at which time it is expected Deputy U. S. Marshal Murphy will be present. A postoffice inspector is in the city today.

The Mills murder case is being tried this week at Prineville. Mills shot and killed J. R. Wagner, of Hardin, in the southeastern part of the county, and was himself shot in both hands. Judge Bradshaw and The Dalles attorneys expect to start for home Thursday.

The Baldwin opera house, centrally located, well ventilated, lighted by electricity, and newly renovated, is now for rent for theatrical shows, campaign speakers, concerts and lectures, church sociables, dancing parties, etc., on very favorable terms. Address J. C. B., P. O. box No. 211. m12-3t

In the latest issue of the Lakeview Examiner, the editor says: "With this issue the Lake County Examiner turns over a new leaf, and from this on it will fly the Republican banner at the masthead. This is in accordance with the oft-expressed wish of many of our esteemed readers, and, in taking this step, we do not wish any one to feel that we are severing any friendships."

The supreme court at Pendleton handed down a decision in the case of the State of Oregon ex rel. Carter vs. Nellie M. Stevens, involving the eligibility of Miss Stevens to hold the office of county school superintendent of Union county. The decision is adverse to Miss Stevens. The decision, which is a lengthy one, quotes article VI, section 8 of the constitution, which provides: "No person shall be elected or appointed to a county office who shall not be an elector of the county," and section 2 of article II, of the same instrument, which defines an elector as a male citizen.

The many friends of Mr. W. H. Biggs, who have so anxiously hoped for his recovery to health, will be gratified to hear that he was able to put on his clothes and to take dinner with the family today. This is the first time for two months that Mr. Biggs has been able to be dressed or to walk into the dining room, and was a particularly happy event, as today is the sixty-fifth anniversary of his birth. Just as he was about to be seated at the table several lady friends came in and presented him with some beautiful flowers and a nicely bound volume of Ian MacLaren's "Bonnie Brier Bush," with the hope that he might soon be perfectly well again; which hope is also echoed by all of his friends.

Hawthorne Reported Dead.

Another baseless report was circulated this morning that Hawthorne had suicided by hanging. Coroner Butts had received nothing authoritative up to 2 o'clock, or anything sufficient to cause him to make an investigation. Hawthorne left the residence of his wife Friday morning for his ranch on seven-mile hill between The Dalles and Mosier, since which time nothing has been heard from him. He was at the house all night and left the next morning with the threat that he would finish the job he unsuccessfully undertook Thursday, but no one, so far as known, has exhibited enough curiosity to follow him. The coyotes may have eaten his dead body by this time for all anyone knows, or he may be experimenting with blue vitriol on the coyotes.

THE "DIRTY DOZEN" CLUB.

Another Secret and Exclusive Organization in Our Midst.

Of all the unique and exclusive clubs in the city, that known among a certain class of boys in The Dalles as the "Dirty Dozen" club stands unrivalled in its class. They have an organization, with all the advantages of autonomy, a club house and set of rules, to promote their pleasure, apart from the scrutiny of the world, and uninterrupted by parental solicitude or the vigilance of the city and county officers. In fact some of its members are sons of some of these officials. Their quarters were unearthed yesterday in an unexpected way.

While hunting for a roll of blankets, which was taken from a camper under the D. P. & A. N. Co.'s wharf, an officer entered a shabbily constructed shack on the bank of the slough below the China garden, and there were the blankets, spread out on the floor, and a couple of boys lying on them smoking cigarettes. Others were about, talking, smoking and reading. They regarded his entrance as an intrusion, and for a moment it looked as if he was going to be thrown into the slough, but the boys luckily did not use extreme measures, and the officer was even permitted to leave with the blankets.

The club contains no bowling alley or gymnastic apparatus as yet, but the library is well stocked with such tales of adventure as "Ten Buckets of Blood, or a Boy's Revenge," "Dick Dead Eye, the Blind Scout," "Nosebag Gallagher, the Terror of the Black Hills," "The Maiden's Escape, or the Keyhole in the Door," etc. Here the boys have chewed and smoked and told vulgar yarns, and read hair breath escapes, played cards and gambled to their unbounded delight for no one knows how long, but if their rendezvous is not broken up soon by the officers, the high water will do the work. Another foot or two and it will enter their den, and as boys hate nothing so bad as water, they will be compelled to abandon it. Whether they will remove and carry on their club at another place, or temporarily disband is not known. The boys' club is a first-class place to breed incipient vice and it should be attended to.

Nuptials in Mosier.

Northrup-Hunter—At the residence of the bride's parents at Mosier on Monday evening, May 4th, by Rev. W. C. Curtis, pastor of the Congregational church of this city, Mr. John L. Northrup, of Chehalis county, Wash., and Miss Mary Mabel Hunter, of Mosier.

The ceremony took place at 7:30 p. m. The bridesmaid was Miss Veronia Hood and groomsmen Mr. Leonard Fields. The bride was given away by her father. She was dressed in gray cassimere, trimmed with white lace and white ribbons; the groom in conventional black. After congratulations were over and the usual social concomitants of music, singing and dancing, a fine supper was served at 11 o'clock at which the guests did ample justice. The supper was succeeded by music and dancing again till the wee sma' hours, when the guests dispersed. These were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Mosier, Mr. and Mrs. W. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. E. Handlen, Mr. and Mrs. R. Power, Mr. and Mrs. J. Smith, Mrs. McGregor, Messrs. Stuart, Mr. Stevenson, Mr. Harry Silinger, Mr. John Davenson, Mr. William Hunter, Mr. Gibson, Albert Sutton, Newell and Thos. Harlan, Mr. Mouson and daughter Lotie, Russel Hushey, Vernie Smith, Mrs. M. Harlan, Mand Smith, Wesley Huskey, Agnes Hunter, Frank McKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. Hardwick, Joe McNeil.

HE SAVED THE BOY.

John Todd, of This City, Rescues a Drowning Lad.

Mr. John Todd, of this city, did a very heroic and courageous action a few days ago, saving a life at the old Graves' ferry at the risk of his own. A youth whose name is unfortunately not known at this time, started to cross the John Day river at the ferry operated by Mr. Clarno, in a row boat. A cable is stretched across the river and the young man attempted to cross above the cable. The boat drifted down to it and was capsize by it, throwing its occupant out who grasped the cable. The current kept continually pressing him under, and he only tried to keep his hold. Todd was looking out the window of Clarno's at the time, dressed in a heavy overcoat and gum boots. He was so affected at the sight he immediately ran to the rescue. He did not think to take off the overcoat or boots but boldly plunged into the water. Reaching him in a short time they were both plunged repeatedly beneath the surface, but assisting him as best he could to keep up, Todd towed his charge to shore. His strength then deserted him, and he fell fainting on the bank. When he revived his brain was temporarily affected, and when found he was crawling around over the sand on all fours. He has probably by this time fully recovered.

This is one of the few instances outside of fiction of a heroic deed, calling for supreme strength, fortitude and nerve worthy of a giant.
