FIRST BLOOD SHED

War Declared on the Columbia River.

WILL FOLLOW SEARCY'S MURDER

Last Night by Fishermen From the Lower River--Non-Union Men Will Fight.

PORTLAND, May 22.—Last night about 8:30 o'clock P. M. Searcy, one of the oldest fishermen on the Columbia, while making a drift with Wallace Jewell, was approached in the darkness by a boat filled with men. As the strange boat drew near the net Searcy ordered it away. Its occupants had apparently been waiting for the sound of his voice to better get the range, for with Searcy's first shout they began firing. Some ten shots were fired, but it required but the first volley to drop Searcy dead with a bullet through his brain. Another shot a moment later sent Jewell to the bottom of the boat with a wound in the back of his head. The murderous crew hearing no sound and evidently believing they had killed both men, bent to the oars and disappeared down stream, the darkness preventing Jewell from recognizing any of them.

The excitement among the men fishing between Wallace and Cottonwood islands, over the murder, is intense.

From Ed Pierce, a seiner on Cottonwood islands, the following description of the tense situation on the river was obtained by a Telegram reporter:

"Ever since the 10th of March we have been awaiting and expecting the adoption of the tactics which resulted in Searcy's death last night," said Mr. Pierce. "It is too bad the murderers struck an unarmed boat first, retreating after doing their work. Had they come up the river but a few miles further and began their shooting they would have met with a reception which would have meant the naming of a second Dead Man's body, as the rip in which nine of their bodies were found seven years ago after the river battle, has since been called.

"Between Wallace and Cottonwood islands there are between 130 and 150 men fishing. These men are Americans with families, and own their own gear. They do not assimilate with the union, simply for the reason that to them a strike and its enforced idleness means starving children and rotting nets, nets the meshes of which have many of them been knit by these very children. If they let the season go by there is nothing ahead for them but what this winter, and say they had followed the mandate of the union and not fished, would they be given any credit by the men at the mouth of the river? No, sir. They would be termed fools when the strike was over.

"Therefore, we fished, and in the light of past years' experience, felt that we had taken means to protect ourselves. Not a boat has gone out on the river, day or night, but what it carried two guns, and the law is: 'Challenge!' 'No answer!' 'Fire!' This may seem summary measures but the rule is perfectly safe to act on, as witness poor Searcy's death last night.

"No boat with honest intentions comes sneaking up on a drifting boat after dark. Anyone aboard on the river during the night knew the strained situation that exists and will hail before he is in gunshot. If he does not hail it means mischief.

"We are going to fish, not through any obstinacy or enmity, but because we propose earning a living and own the gear to do it with, and if there is to be killing, we hope and trust to be able to keep the scores about even. We want no trouble; seek none; but if the lower-river men labor under the idea that it is their option to stop us through picking off an isolated boat and murdering the crew, they are mistaken. Their next expedition will see the waters of the Columbia reddened with other blood than of the men, who, no way connected with the union, are trying to take from the river the fish the Almighty has placed there, and with the sole object of supporting themselves and those dependent upon them."

Blakeley & Houghton desire us to publish the following extract from a letter of Chas. M. Gutfeld of Reedley, Fresno county, Calif., as they handle the remedy referred to and want their customers to know what a splendid medicine it is:

"It is with pleasure I tell you that by one day's use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy I was relieved of a very bad cold. My head was completely stopped up and I could not sleep at night. I can recommend this remedy." A cold nearly always starts in the head and afterwards extends to the throat and lungs. By using this remedy freely as soon as the cold has been contracted it will cure the cold at once and prevent it from extending to the lungs.

J. W. Pierce, Republic, Ia., says: "I have used One Minute Cough Cure in my family and for myself, with result so entirely satisfactory that I can hardly find words to express myself as to its merit. I will never fail to recommend it to others, on every occasion that presents itself." For sale by Snipes-Kinersley, Drug Co.

Before you try anything else for the blood take Simmons Liver Regulator. It is the best blood medicine because it is the best liver remedy. If your liver is active and at work the blood will be the best. Simmons Liver Regulator is the best spring medicine. "I tell my friends if they want to enjoy health and happiness they ought to take Simmons Liver Regulator."—Mrs. R. W. Smith, McIntosh Bluff, Ala.

It not only is so, it must be so, One Minute Cough Cure acts quickly, and that's what makes it go. Snipes-Kinersley, Drug Co.

Through trains on the O. R. & N will run via Umatilla, Walla Walla and Pendleton. Through sleepers, first and second class will run in connection with the Union Pacific, the same as heretofore. A through first-class sleeper from Portland to Spokane, connecting with the first-class sleeper to St. Paul and a through tourist sleeper from Portland to St. Paul, will be run in connection with the Great Northern railway.

E. E. LITTLE, Agent.

A great many people are influenced by what others do, and that is one of the reasons why so many take Simmons Liver Regulator. "I was suffering greatly from Chills and Fever and the more quinine I took the worse I felt. I was told of Simmons Liver Regulator, by a friend in Arkansas, and I didn't need to take much of it until I was entirely relieved."—Byron Bradley, Tallahassee, Fla.
