WHERE THE BLAME BELONGS.

The threatened split in the Democratic party over the financial question, says the Salem Statesman, is serving the good purpose of fixing the blame for the distressful condition of the United States treasury, and the piling up of a great bonded debt in a time of peace, where it belongs.

The outlook is for a warm time in the Chicago convention, and it has been predicted by accredited Democratic authority that there will be two separate conventions and two nominees for the presidency—one standing for the financial policy of the present administration and the other representing the large wing of the party desiring the free coinage of silver.

This condition that confronts them is embarrassing to the leading Democrats who do not sympathize with either of these extreme factions. One of this class says:

"No people of ordinary education and intelligence can see the payment of a colossal war debt continue uninterrupted during the thirty years which follow the attainment of peace, and then see this process suddenly stopped and the debt begin to grow rapidly again, without inclining to condemn the policy responsible for it. It is no wonder that the Democrats, still inflamed against riches and prosperity by the party oratory of 1892, Mr. Cleveland being incomparably the leader of such excitement, should not vow destruction on the money standard which the same leader tells them has compelled the new bonds. Mr. Cleveland's appeal for the gold standard are feathers before the storm."

The deliberate policy of misrepresentation entered upon almost at the beginning of his present term and pursued with studied faithfulness to the cause of mendacity, by Mr. Cleveland and his underlings, while it has resulted in deceiving a few Republicans anxious for such deception, and in rearing some of the finicky old maids of finance, has not been successful in blinding the eyes of the great majority who favor protection and progress, nor of the thinking, acting men of affairs and toil of the country—while it has failed of its purpose, it has well nigh destroyed the party that honored this conspicuous disciple of Ananias with the loftiest position of honor within the gift of any people.

Thus is the mortal crime of ingratitude added to the sin of lying in order to further selfish aims.

The idol of the coming campaign will be the plumed knight of protection and prosperity, not the discredited hero of his country's distress.

The same events that have elevated and will crown with the laurel wreath of honor the brow of William McKinley will dash the sceptre of authority from his hand and retire permanently Grover Cleveland.

MR. CLEVELAND'S VETO.

As expected, President Cleveland has vetoed the river and harbor bill. The situation required it. The treasury is confronted with a deficit for the last year of nearly $40,000,000, says the Spokesman-Review, and the revenue system of the government has been so bungled and butchered that there is no immediate prospect of relief.

The country is now paying another of the penalties of Democratic misrule. In these times it must not expect improvement of its rivers and harbors. Improvement is not the existing order. Nor can our coasts be given protection. The country must be pinched, because the treasury must be saved.

This is not the first veto of a river and harbor bill by President Cleveland. He vetoed a bill during his first administration, and as a result of the stoppage of work on the Columbia river great damage fell upon the improvements. Like loss and damage will again be suffered. But the people are becoming hardened to these reverses. It used to be that a bank failure, or the crash of a large commercial concern, was a sensation, but that is the case no longer. As in war, many become so hardened and infatuated with horrors that they long to continue the fighting forever, so in these times, many seem so fascinated with hard times and crashing banks and business houses that they are clamorous for the continuance of the same conditions.

tion, but that is the case no longer. DECORATION DAY 1896.

(Dedicated to the members of the G. A. R. Post of The Dalles by one who honors them.)

The lowered flag, the muffled drum,
The bugle call in mournful tone,
The stately march of warrior men,
And, mingling all, the nations moan.

I saw them stand in broken line,
Those heroes, now a dwindling band,
Their whitened locks and drooping forms,
The blessed heritage of our land.

The self same men at Lincoln's call
Rushed to save a country torn
By rebel strife and rebel yell,
Ah dark the prospect and forlorn!

The men that fought at Gettysburg
So glorious those days and deeds!
When the-aring Pickett's awful charge,
They filled full well their country's needs.

The men that made the weary march
From Georgia to the sunlit sea,
And broke the rebel's tottering rule
And saved the land for you and me.

Ah youth! the privilege is thine
To honor yet the noble throne
Whose blood was spilt on Southern fields
While fighting slavery's devilish wrong.

The years are passing. Hear me well;
The roll-call dwindles—oh how fast!
The noble veterans soon will be
But memories of a sacred past.

The flowers are strewn on soldiers' graves,
How little care the sleeping dead!
Their rest is sweet; their work well done.
What better words could e'er be said?

While still there may let honor flow
In ceaseless measure—full and free—
To those brave men, the noble men
Who saved our land for you and me.

The lowered flag, the muffled drum,
The bugle call in mournful tone,
The stately march of warrior men,
And, mingling all, the nations moan.

The Congo Oil Medicine.

The Congo Oil Medicine Co. is giving entertainments under a large tent in this city. They are here to advertise and sell the greatest medicine ever offered to an afflicted public. Wonderful cures have been effected; cases that have baffled the skill of the most skillful physicians. One hundred dollars will be paid for any case they undertake and fail to cure. If your case is incurable they will tell you so. They want cases that have been declared incurable by other physicians. You may go to them on crutches or canes; you may be brought to them on a stretcher, but they guarantee that you will walk away from their tent of your own free will, with no assistance from others. The Congo Oil is justly styled the marvel of the age in curing rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia and all pains that can be cured by an external application. All patients treated free of charge; no payment of any kind asked. They want living testimony to back up their statement that the Congo Oil is a marvellous medicine. Go and see them. They will remain here until June 3d, and no longer.

These Must Go at Once.

A home with lot, worth $900; $750 takes it. Owner leaving city, and must sell. Three lots only five blocks from Court house. Lay in fine shape; $150 for the three. One fine business lot in heart of city; $800. Among a multitude of offerings, these three are the very best. Match them if you can.

An exceptional opportunity will be given to anyone wishing to go into active business, to trade property for enough interest to control a well established, paying lumber business that will stand inspection in Portland, Oregon, to the amount to $12,000 to $16,000. The present owner is willing to retain an interest in the concern. A change of climate being necessary is the reason. For particulars, call on or address J. E. In the fall of 1893 a son of Mr. T. A. McFarland, a prominent merchant of Live Oak, Sutter county, Calif., was taken with a very heavy cold. The pains in his chest were so severe that he had spasms and was threatened with pneumonia. His father gave him several large doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which broke up the cough and cured him. Mr. McFarland says whenever his children have croup he invariably gives them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it always cures them. He considers it the best cough remedy in the market.
