THE MESSAGE TO ST. LOUIS.

The Oregon delegation to St. Louis has an important duty to perform. Not only will its members participate in the nomination of a presidential candidate and in the adoption of a platform, but the task is before them also of explaining to the Republicans of the East the true meaning of the Oregon election.

The comments of newspapers from beyond the Rockies are interesting to read because of their variety. Some have interpreted the election as a triumph for free silver; others a victory for the sound money cause. The Populists claim that both their men were elected, but counted out through the cleverness of Republican politicians, a charge for which there is not the slightest foundation.

For the ignorance which exists in the East regarding the causes and results of Oregon's vote, our delegation must have explanation sufficient to cause it to be dispelled. The Republicans of the East must be told how the party in this state was disorganized by the fratricidal war among Portland politicians; how the Republicans went into conventions hating one another worse than the common enemy; how when Mr. Ellis was nominated—not by a dirty bargain, but fairly and honestly, as things go in politics—the bolt occurred and an independent candidate named who drew thousands of votes from the regular Republican nominee, and yet suffered certain defeat. The result in the Second district was not fought upon the money question, as many would have us believe, but upon the protection issue. Thousands of Republicans voted for Mr. Ellis, not because they believed as he does about free coinage of silver, but because he was the regular Republican nominee and could be counted upon to work and vote for protection to the wool industry.

In the Second district a sound money man was chosen, not by a large majority it is true, because his vote was cut through local causes. His opponent was a popular man, who had taken a prominent part in state affairs and conducted himself with ability. There was also a dissatisfaction prevalent over the turning down of Hermann, and in many localities this operated to reduce Tongue's vote.

The lesson can be drawn that a divided house is in danger of tumbling down, and that the Republicans must settle their troubles before election day if they want to win.

Oregon is not a free silver state. Such a conclusion does not follow from the narrow escape which Republican congressional candidates had. When November rolls around and the people are called upon to choose between a Republican nominated upon a sound money platform—protected in every plank—and a free silver man, Oregon will give her regulation, old-time Republican majority. This is the message that our delegation must carry to St. Louis.

The city election occurs next Monday. The event is one of much importance for our citizens, and great care should be shown in the selection of officers. Our city government has been conducted wisely during the past year; better than it has at different times in the past, and the good record should be continued. Let only the best officers be selected; men who are interested in the material welfare of the city; men who pay taxes and are concerned in keeping the annual levy a low one. At the mass meeting tomorrow evening let all citizens attend and carefully consider what men are the best for the respective offices.

The little interest being shown in the Cascade locks shows how thoroughly disheartened and disgusted the people are at the way the work has been mismanaged. Promises which a few years ago would make us alive with hope, now fall on unresponsive ears.

If we are to have a Fourth of July celebration, now is the time to begin. If we are not going to have one, then we are pursuing the right course.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c and $1 per bottle at the Snipes-Kinnersly drug store.

How to Cure Rheumatism.

ARAGO, Coos Co., Oregon, Nov. 10, 1893.—I wish to inform you of the great good Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done my wife. She has been troubled with rheumatism of the arms and hands for six months, and has tried many remedies prescribed for that complaint, but found no relief until she used this Pain Balm; one bottle of which has completely cured her. I take pleasure in recommending it for that trouble. Yours truly, C. A. Bullard. 50 cents and $1.00 bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton's Drug Store.
