PIONEER MEETING.

Tomorrow, June 16th, marks the fiftieth anniversary—we will not say (as said in the yellow circular put out by the Oregon Pioneer Society) "of the day when Oregon became a part of the United States," but when by the treaty of 1846 she was recognized by Great Britain as such. We know she was that all the time. It is, therefore, highly fitting that this anniversary should be becomingly honored.

To this end the Pioneer Association has made a great effort to secure the names of all such as were resident in Oregon at that time. The roll of names, with such additions as farther investigation has demonstrated, has been published in the Oregonian, and as far as possible their presence will be secured at the jubilee celebration. Of these many will surely be prevented from going by infirmities of age and ill health, and many of them will be prevented from going by other adverse circumstances. One thing is true, the rapidly diminishing roll contains the names of those to whom we of this end of the century may well deem it our privilege to show all honor.

The Pioneer Society admits as members all who were here prior to February 14, 1859, when Oregon was admitted as a state. But of this not very large number the "forty-sixers" are but a very few. There may be some in Wasco county; we can now think of but one or two. Mrs. Gilmore, widow of the late Hon. S. M. Gilmore, now living in Klickitat county, was here in 1846, but, if we have been correctly told, not until Oregon's then large borders until after June 15th. Mrs. Crate, the widow of the Hudson Bay pioneer, Edward Crate, was here at that time and in Wasco county.

The association will be banqueted by the pioneer ladies of Portland June 16th. Hon. G. H. Williams will deliver the annual address.

MCKINLEY AND TRACY.

The convention which meets today in St. Louis promises to heed the voice of the people. Every indication points to the nomination of McKinley and the adoption of a sound money platform. The only contest seems to be over the nomination for vice-president. The candidates mentioned most prominently so far are not men of wide reputation. Governor Hobart of New Jersey is not known widely to the people of the West, while H. Clay Evans of Tennessee made his fame during the late celebrated gubernatorial campaign in that state. Levi P. Morton declines the second place, though if the convention should nominate him it is a question if he would not reconsider his former declaration.

We believe New York should receive the vice-president, and among her distinguished citizens is a man well fitted for the office—Ex Secretary Tracy, a member of Harrison's cabinet and a wise statesman. If nominated for vice-president he would add greatly to the strength of the ticket. McKinley, Tracy, protection and sound money would be an irresistible combination.

Wasco County's Resources.

From time to time we are in receipt of letters asking questions concerning our county, such as, "What kind of climate have you; what do people find employment in; what of the soil, productions, etc.?"

Wasco county is in the northern central part of Oregon, and reaches almost to the 46th parallel of north latitude. Being in the middle of the north temperate zone, it has the four seasons well marked. But unlike the eastern and Mississippi valley states of the same latitude, the winters are much shorter and less severe, the cold seldom going below zero, and that for only a few days during any winter. Some winters we have sleighing for a month or a little more, and some only for a few days. The climate is dry; sunshine being the rule at all seasons; the greatest amount of moisture being precipitated during the winter in snow. However, spring rains are not infrequent, there being as a rule, enough moisture to mature crops of wheat, oats, barley and vegetables without irrigation.

One great interest in many parts of the county where irrigation is possible, is fruit raising. Perhaps no country in the world will produce the fruits of the temperate zone in greater variety or abundance. Apples, plums, pears, apricots, peaches, prunes and most berries grow to perfection, and never fail.

Farming has, as a rule, paid as well here as almost anywhere. The soil is light but fertile, readily plowed, and as yet not filled with noxious weeds. Wood and lumber are at hand almost any place in the county at prices that are as reasonable as could well be asked. Pine and fir lumber sells at the mills at from six to ten dollars per thousand feet.

Land can be procured by homestead or at prices ranging from five to twenty-five dollars per acre.

Perhaps our eastern friends would like to know about our storms, cyclones and other aerial disturbances. The proximity of that great equalizer, the grand old Pacific, makes atmospheric disturbances of the classes named unknown except the steady gale. Water spouts occur now and then, but they are generally small affairs and cause little damage except to bridges. Clouds accompanied by thunder and lightning are of rare occurrence, so much so that no thought is given to protection against it.—Dufur Dispatch.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. QUEEN VICTORIA'S BOSS.

She Had One in Mrs. Musser's, House-keeper at Balmoral.

Queen Victoria has just sustained a severe loss by the death of Mrs. Musser, who, from time immemorial, had been her housekeeper at Balmoral, says the London News. Though unknown to the public at large, she was an important personage in the eyes of everybody connected with the court, as she was one of the few who had the courage to "talk up" to her majesty, and even on occasion to deliberately "boss" her august mistress. Once when the queen wanted a certain maid to whom she had taken a fancy detailed to the care of her own room, Mrs. Musser remonstrated in the strongest fashion, telling her majesty that it was quite out of order, and she really must not spoil the servants by taking undue notice of them. The queen, as usual, gave away, and "dear Mrs. Musser" won the day. She was a typical personage of her class, gowned always in black silk, lace-trimmed apron and white cap, with cork-screw curls. She and the queen were excellent friends, and her majesty used to delight in her conversation. She also stood high in the favor of the royal grandchildren, who used to seek her out as soon as they arrived at the castle. But to the world at large she was a holy terror, and with the servants and members of the household she was infinitely more exacting and imperious than the queen herself.

Water Famine in South Africa.

The South African newspapers are full of amusing incidents in connection with the Rand water famine. Soda water at five shillings a bottle is in general use for culinary and washing purposes. The demand for Florida, bay rum, eau de cologne and other liquids of like character is unprecedentedly great, and anything that can be pressed into the service of the toilet commands a fancy price. A mixture of ammonia and lavender water is said to yield satisfactory results, and even vaseline and benzene are by no means despised.

None But Ayer's at the World's Fair.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla enjoys the extraordinary distinction of having been the only blood purifier allowed on exhibit at the world's fair, Chicago. Manufacturers of other sarsaparillas sought by every means to obtain a showing of their goods, but they were all turned away under the application of the rule forbidding the entry of patent medicines and nostrums. The decision of the world's fair authorities in favor of Ayer's Sarsaparilla was in effect as follows: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a patent medicine. It does not belong to the list of nostrums. It is here on its merits."

As a remedy for all forms of Headache Electric Bitters has proved to be the very best. It effects a permanent cure and the most dreaded habitual sick headache yields to its influence. We urge all who are afflicted to procure a bottle, and give this remedy a fair trial.
