THE FAREWELL OF THE SILVER MEN.

The silver senators have bade good bye to the Republican party and amid mutual tears have broken all political ties.

The scene before the resolution committee was theatrical in the extreme, and the farewell speeches of Teller, Cannon and Dubois brought tears of regret to the eyes of veteran politicians. It is not an easy matter to break asunder the associations that have continued pleasant and profitable for many years, and the act of repudiation upon the part of the silver senators was like unto a child disowning its mother.

Credit will be given to Teller and his associates for apparent sincerity in their cause. They have fought the fight for silver continuously, and no theory ever had more aggressive champions. They have failed to win conviction in the councils of the Republican party, and since they place the silver god above all deities, they have adopted a consistent course in transferring their allegiance to another camp.

It is not clear but that they are making an egregious mistake. In placing the financial question in the front rank of national issues, Senator Teller is being blinded by prejudice. The American people are fully alive to the importance of this issue, but they do concede it to be of greater concern to the country than the matter of securing adequate revenues for the country's needs and the uplifting of American laborers and industries. This is the crying need, and this it is which has made William McKinley, the apostle of protection, the hero of the hour.

The most serious charge against the silver senators was their "hold up" of all tariff legislation in the senate, and their refusal to assist in providing for the country unless all remedial legislation should be accompanied by declarations in favor of free silver. It was this action which exasperated the nation and has made the withdrawal of Teller, Dubois and Cannon a matter of less regret than otherwise it would have been.

The Republican party will live without them, and when placed once more in power, will consider the needs of the country greater than the wishes of any particular section.

Citizens should not forget to attend tonight the meeting called to determine whether or not The Dalles shall celebrate the Fourth of July. It is within our power to have the grandest affair of the kind which the city has ever seen. All that is needed is the hearty co-operation of all our citizens.

Grover Cleveland will survive in history as "the man without a party." He is totally at variance with the majority of Democrats upon the financial question, and equally so with the Republicans upon the tariff issue. If the Chicago convention declares for free silver, as it undoubtedly will, Cleveland cannot consistently vote for its nominee. On the other hand he cannot support McKinley because McKinley advocates "the robber tariff" and believes in prosperity for Americans. The Populists won't have Cleveland, and the Prohibitionists are provided for. In truth the man of destiny has outplayed his part and finds himself askew with the world. He will be remembered as the man under whose administration the country suffered its greatest period of business stagnation.

Opinion differs as to the wisdom of calling out the militia to aid in quelling the fishermen's strike. Appeal to arms should be a last resort. Aside from unlawful acts committed by individual fishermen there does not seem reasons sufficient to justify the expense to which the state has been subjected nor the bitter feelings which have been engendered by the presence of armed men in the streets of Astoria. To make citizens of Oregon take up arms against fellow-citizens without just cause is a dangerous precedent. It is to be hoped that the militia will not be called upon for further duty, and also we hope that in case the ordering to arms proves to have been unnecessary, the blame will be placed where it rightfully belongs.

THE ONWARD MARCH

of Consumption is stopped short by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If you haven't waited beyond reason, there's complete recovery and cure.

Although by many believed to be incurable, there is the evidence of hundreds of living witnesses to the fact that, in all its earlier stages, consumption is a curable disease. Not every case, but a large percentage of cases, and we believe, fully 98 per cent, are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, even after the disease has progressed so far as to induce repeated bleedings from the lungs, severe lingering cough with copious expectoration (including tubercular matter), great loss of flesh and extreme emaciation and weakness.

Do you doubt that hundreds of such cases reported to us as cured by "Golden Medical Discovery" were genuine cases of that dread and fatal disease? You need not take our word for it. They have, in nearly every instance, been so pronounced by the best and most experienced home physicians, who have no interest whatever in misrepresenting them, and who were often strongly prejudiced and advised against a trial of "Golden Medical Discovery," but who have been forced to confess that it surpasses, in curative power over this fatal malady, all other medicines with which they are acquainted. Nasty cod-liver oil and its filthy "emulsions" and mixtures, had been tried in nearly all these cases and had either utterly failed to benefit, or had only seemed to benefit a little for a short time. Extract of malt, whiskey, and various preparations of the hypophosphites had also been faithfully tried in vain.

The photographs of a large number of those cured of consumption, bronchitis, lingering coughs, asthma, chronic nasal catarrh and kindred maladies, have been skillfully reproduced in a book of 160 pages which will be mailed to you, on receipt of address and six cents in stamps. You can then write those cured and learn their experience. Address: WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

Blakeley & Houghton desire us to publish the following extract from a letter of Chas. M. Gutfield of Reedley, Fresno county, Calif., as they handle the remedy referred to and want their customers to know what a splendid medicine it is:

"It is with pleasure I tell you that by one day's use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy I was relieved of a very bad cold. My head was completely stopped up and I could not sleep at night. I can recommend this remedy." A cold nearly always starts in the head and afterwards extends to the throat and lungs. By using this remedy freely as soon as the cold has been contracted it will cure the cold at once and prevent it from extending to the lungs.
