WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Random Observations and Local Events of Lesser Magnitude.

Forecast—Fair today and tomorrow and stationary.

The Regulator will leave in the morning, making connection for Portland.

The Regulator leaves at 7 o'clock in the morning, instead of 8 o'clock as usual.

Mr. E. Jacobsen has commenced moving into his new quarters in the Vogt building.

Ice cream will be served by the ladies of the Christian church after the lecture this evening.

Lecture tonight by Rev. Geo. F. Hall at the Christian church. Subject, "The New Woman."

The strong current this afternoon in the river tore the little warehouse from its moorings on the D. P. & A. N. Co.'s incline, and it floated off. No effort was made to rescue it.

Rev. Hazel last night finished his long course of sermons from Revelations. His sermon last evening was on "The New Jerusalem," the scripture reading being taken from the last two chapters of Revelations.

Joseph Adams, a son of John Adams, an Indian living on the Silets, was one of the graduates of the Carlisle Indian school, this spring. Mr. Adams has graduated as a full-fledged doctor of medicine, and will practice his profession in the East.

An old soldier tramped through town this morning, bound for the soldiers home at Kansas City. He was old and feeble, but was neatly dressed, and wore a pair of new, but cheap, shoes. He proposes to walk the entire distance unless invited to ride.

A warrant for the arrest of the Chinawoman and husband No. 1 arrived from Portland Saturday and they were taken down. Larceny is charged. It is believed the charge is trumped up and that a scheme is on foot by husband No. 2 to regain possession of the woman by unlawful means.

The barn leased by the Wasco warehouse is the Second street barn, and not the one on Fourth street, an impression gathered by our readers from Saturday's CHRONICLE. Messrs. Ward, Kerns and Robertson have not gone out of the lively business. They merely rented their Second street barn for the accommodation of the surplus wool which is received by the Wasco warehouse.

The expected has happened. The rising water of the river has washed out the track in various places between Umatilla and The Dalles and traffic is impeded, if not blocked. The morning passenger was delayed by a washout of three lengths of rail above Seufert's cannery, and did not arrive until 9

a. m. A special construction crew was dispatched to the scene of trouble at 4 o'clock this morning.

Wamie Union Sunday school will celebrate the Fourth of July by having a picnic at the picnic ground one mile and a half west of Wamie. Everybody invited to come. Bring your baskets and have a good time. Liberty car, instrumental music, etc. Committee of arrangements, Henry Driver, Martin Wing, Frank Woodcock, Mr. and Mrs. Gillis, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Magill, Eugene Pratt.

A larger number of citizens than usual listened to the beautiful concert by The Dalles band yesterday afternoon. The overture "Poet and Peasant," is very melodious and was faultlessly interpreted by a full complement of instruments. The other selections were scarcely less beautiful and the audience was very attentive throughout the whole hour of the concert. The placing of seats is a great improvement and tends to increase the attendance.

There is no market for wool. Buyers are here, but are making no offers. There is no demand for it. Boston is so overstocked already with the raw product that there is difficulty in finding places to store it. Manufactories are closed. A good deal of English cloth is being purchased in the centers of trade. There is a congestion in the wool trade which will increase with time until great financial trouble ensues, unless there is some remedial legislation soon.

A settlement has been effected with the McCoy ditch laborers for 50 cents on the dollar. The morning was spent in attending to the men's papers, and the sheriff's office presented a busy scene throughout the forenoon. The sheriff took the afternoon train for Portland, where, it is supposed, he will get the money necessary to pay the men half what is due them, returning with it tomorrow. This will be accepted by the men in full for their claims.

A reward of $100 has been offered by Mrs. C. M. Hogue, mother of the 10-year-old boy who was drowned on Tuesday, the 16th, for the recovery of the body which has been searched for in vain by many Pendleton men. Major Harper, of the Umatilla Indian agency, has promised to inform the Indians of the offer and it is thought the Indians, who are expert swimmers, will make efforts to find the body, which has been three days in the water.—Pendleton Tribune.

Maximum Height Nearly Reached.

Umatilla, 24.9; rise of 5 inches the past forty-eight hours.
Wenatchee, 37.8; rise 1.3
Lewiston, 20.2; fall of 1.5 since Saturday.

The Columbia at this point will not rise over one foot more, and the maximum height has practically been reached. The Snake is falling. The upper Columbia is rising, but will not produce any material rise in the lower river.

Examination Papers at St. Mary's.

The examination papers of the classes at St. Mary's academy have been on exhibition since Saturday. A perusal of them well repays the effort, and two or three hours of time may be thus pleasantly spent. The papers are prepared by pupils ranging in age from 7 to 17 years and cover many branches of study. A general peculiarity of them all is the pen or pencil drawings that adorn most of the papers, many of them revealing considerable artistic merit. The compositions are on all sorts of subjects, and are generally illustrated. A composition by Miss Ada Smith, gives, in true repertorial style, an account of the exercises at St. Mary's academy on St. Patrick's day, the 17th of March last. Another one is an account of Hugh Gourlay's lecture in the Baptist church, a very edifying report. May Johnson, a little girl of 7 or 8 years, tells of how she did a washing, picturing the tub, washboard, soap, etc., with marvelous fidelity. Anna Brogan, another little girl, gave the life history of a potato, showing the vine in its natural growth. The art work is most attractive and rivets the attention of the visitor to the last. Miss Lena and Eva Rhea and Miss Effie Wakefield seem to be natural-born artists. The Misses Rhea excel on animal life. The picture of "Pharaoh's Horses" is almost animate. A crayon drawing of a brother is also remarkably life like. Of Miss Wakefield's pen drawings, the salmon is perhaps the best.

There are also papers on musical composition. The best in thorough bass are by Misses Ada Smith and Katie Brogan who are each marked 100 per cent.

Numerous oil paintings are shown, which have been executed by the pupils. The cactus, by a girl of 14 years, is worthy of a master. Instructions in fancy work is also shown by the display of artificial flowers, crocheting and fancy sewing which numerously abound. The morning glories are very naturally done, as are also the bouquets of roses in vases.

New K. of P. Hall Fixed Up.

The workmen have finished the interior of K. of P. hall and work commenced this morning on the furnishings. The Lodge have expended over $1,000 for furniture and hangings and their equipment is elegant and complete. The presiding officer's chair is a beautiful specimen of workmanship in carved oak, of which the other official chairs, though smaller, are prototypes. The altars or stations are of polished oak, antique finish. There are a host of chairs for members, all alike, but of handsome and uncommon design, high-backed and strongly made. The canopies are of French cashmere, of varied colors, and are simply beautiful. A Hardman piano, from the Jacobsen Book & Music Co., was placed in the hall this morning.

Crime of an Indian.

An Indian stole $25 from Mr. W. N. West, the butcher at Hood River, yesterday morning. Mr. West laid his money sack, a leather one, containing $25 in gold on his meat block. He forgot it for a few moments and left the shop, when it was taken by the Indian. The swash went immediately to camp, where he was followed by Officer Olinger. The sack was found on his person, as well as the money which was tied in the corner of a handkerchief. He was very much ashamed of himself upon being apprehended. Indians seldom steal and the temptation in his case must have been great. If he had been a practiced villain he would have thrown away the purse. Mr. Olinger brought him to The Dalles on the local yesterday, and he was tried this morning before Justice Davis.

Visited Mill Creek Falls.

Messrs. F. H. Van Norden and Archie McCully took a trip up Mill creek yesterday. They saw that rare sight, Mill creek falls, which calls for a considerable expenditure of effort, for much of the distance must be covered on foot, and the trip is arduous. These falls are therefore rarely visited. The young men had their hooks and lines along, and they soon caught a large mess of trout. They were of large size, for seldom being molested, they are not wary. The only disagreeable feature is the spray, which soon wets the fisherman through if he is unprepared for it. While coming home Mr. Van Norden lost control of his bicycle on a steep down grade. It has no brake, and the pedals were soon revolving too fast to admit of setting his feet in them. The grade was a long one, and faster and faster went the wheel. He soon went out of sight of his companion, who was much perplexed at the sight. Mr. Van Norden says he never traveled so fast on a railroad train, and believes he was going a mile a minute. He checked his speed only when the road changed to an up grade, the impetus gained by the long down ride being sufficient to carry him to the top of a rather steep ascent 200 feet in length. It was a perilous ride, and had he met a team he might have been killed.
