THE TYPICAL AMERICAN.

The second act in the presidential drama has been played, and McKinley has felt his proudest moment. The notification committee has performed its pleasant mission and told the Ohio statesman of the honor he has received. Every day brings new assurances of the satisfaction with which the nomination of McKinley is received. East and West, North and South; even from the bolting silver states, are heard the shouts of ratification of the convention's work.

The more McKinley's life is brought out in detail, the more the people learn that his character deserves all the encomiums that have been heaped upon it. He is a brave soldier, a wise statesman, a patriotic citizen, a model husband. His life has been representative of what every American should attempt. The efforts of partisan traducers to belittle the name of McKinley will fail, as they should, because of their untruthfulness. McKinley is a typical American, and in this day of distrust throughout the land he is just the man who can win the confidence of all classes.

It is not McKinley's fame as a statesman, his record as a soldier, nor his keenness as a politician that altogether makes him the hero of the day. His home life, his character as a man and a citizen, are among his chief recommendations. Like that other Ohio statesman, to whom history has never given proper due—the eminent man who occupied the presidential chair for only four years, but who gave to the nation one of its best administrations—Rutherford B. Hayes, McKinley will enter upon his office unimpeachable in character and lacking nothing in qualification. Truly he is "A Typical American."

Had it not been for the action of the silver senators in defeating the emergency tariff bill, there now would be hundreds of thousands of dollars—the proceeds from wool sales—in active circulation in The Dalles. Good authority states that the passage of this bill would have made a difference in the price this season of from three to five cents. Multiplying 6,000,000 pounds, a fair estimate of the wool in our warehouses, by either one of these figures and you get what Teller and his crowd have cost The Dalles; and we are but a drop in the bucket compared with the rest of the country. The action of the silver gang shows the extreme limit of selfishness. Should such men have any standing before the country?

The report which comes from Portland that several members of the First Regiment have lost employment because they answered the summons calling them to Astoria, should attract attention throughout the state. It is generally considered the First Regiment did effective work in bringing a peaceful solution to the fishermen's strike. The presence of armed men was a prevailing argument against any acts of violence which may have been contemplated. Such being the fact, the action of Portland business men in discharging employes who answered the call of duty is reprehensible in the extreme. There is too little regard for law and authority, and when once the majesty of the law has been upheld, all good citizens should rejoice in the result. The militia boys were not called upon to shoot or kill—and more's the rejoicing thereof—but there is little doubt but that they would have done what duty demanded. The names of the Portland men who have discharged militia men should be made public so the people may have a chance to see what kind of creatures they are. It is a safe assumption they are closely allied in thought and feeling to the men who fired on Sumter.

The Oregonian has not given much attention of late to the tariff question, but it speaks out now and then to show it is all right on this great issue. It would be hard to overestimate the work the Oregonian is doing for the cause of sound money. It is presenting facts and arguments to the people of Oregon that cannot help but hold this state in the Republican ranks. We are glad to see it striking home on protection as it did yesterday in saying:

The people of Oregon and Washington want reasonable protection, equitably distributed; therefore will not forget that protection is an issue in the presidential election. The Democratic tariff scheme now in force is unfair. It protects the East and South at the expense of the West and North. There is no demand for a prohibitive tariff, but there is a demand, and a just one, that, so long as protection shall have any place in our system, equity shall not be disregarded in the application of it.

AN ALARMING STATEMENT CONCERNING WOMEN.

HOW BAD HABITS ARE FORMED.

The New York Tribune says: "The habit of taking 'headache powders' is increasing to an alarming extent among a great number of women throughout the country. These powders as their name indicates, are claimed by the manufacturers to be a positive and speedy cure for any form of headache. In many cases their chief ingredient is morphine, opium, cocaine or some other equally injurious drug having a tendency to deaden pain. The habit of taking them is easily formed, but almost impossible to shake off. Women usually begin taking them to relieve a raging headache and soon resort to the powder to alleviate any little pain or ache they may be subjected to, and finally like the morphine or opium fiend, get into the habit of taking them regularly, imagining that they are in pain if they happen to miss their regular dose."

In nine cases out of ten, the trouble is in the stomach and liver. Take a simple laxative and liver tonic and remove the offending matter which deranges the stomach and causes the headache. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are composed entirely of the purest, concentrated, vegetable extracts. One Pellet is a dose; sugar-coated, easily swallowed; once used, always in favor. They positively cure sick headache and remove the disposition to it.

Mr. E. VARGASON, of Otter Lake, Lapeer Co., Mich., writes: "I not infrequently have an attack of the headache. It usually comes on in the forenoon. At my dinner I eat my regular meal, and take one or two of Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets immediately after, and in the course of an hour my headache is cured, and no bad effects. I feel better every way for having taken them. Pleasant Pellets are worth more than their weight in gold, if for nothing else than to cure headache."
