BALDWIN'S ESCAPE

Gay Millionaire Once More Proves Lucky.

AN ATTEMPT MADE UPON HIS LIFE

Lillian Ashley's Sister Shoots at the Aged Lothario—She Narrowly Missed Her Mark.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—During the progress of Lillian Ashley's suit against E. J. Baldwin for $75,000 for seduction, this morning, Emma Ashley, a sister of Lillian, tried to shoot the millionaire defendant. She fired at Baldwin, but the bullet missed.

Lillian Ashley was in the witness chair on cross-examination. She testified yesterday that she has never worn her hair crimped. This morning the defense had a picture of her showing her hair dressed with crimps of extraordinary size. Asked if it was her picture Lillian said: "It may be me, but I don't think so." At these words Emma Amenda Ashley, a sister of the plaintiff, rose from her seat carrying a small bag and walked behind the chair where "Lucky" Baldwin was sitting. From the bag she took a revolver which she leveled at Baldwin's head, the muzzle being two inches from his skull. She tried to pull the trigger, but could not and had to use both hands. Every one was engrossed with the testimony, and nobody knew Baldwin's danger till the report of the pistol was heard. It had missed Baldwin's head and Emma Ashley was trying to fire again, but the pistol did not discharge readily. H. A. Unruh, Baldwin's business manager, was the first to grasp the situation, and jumped towards the woman and struck her a violent blow on the wrist and wrested the pistol from her grasp.

Lillian Ashley turned pale and almost fainted in the witness chair. Attorney James Crittenton, for the defense, rushed to the assistance of Emma Ashley, putting his hand in his pistol pocket. Unruh covered Crittenton with Emma's pistol, but Crittenton drew his pistol and the spectators thought more shooting would follow. Attorneys Lloyd and Highton and the court officials came between the excited men, and the clerk of the court took the revolvers from them. Meantime Emma Ashley had run across followed by Baldwin, who thought she had another pistol. Baldwin held Emma until the bailiff escorted her to the city prison, where she was booked on a charge of assault to commit murder.

Emma Ashley is believed to be insane. During the trial she has spent her time in court reading the Bible. When taken to jail she sang "Nearer My God to Thee" in a loud voice. Baldwin was crazy with rage and wanted a chance to fight some one. His hair was singed by the powder and the bullet passed within an inch of his head. His escape is ascribed to the woman's inexperience with firearms. The pistol was thrown upward by recoil after the trigger was pulled.

Judge Slack was the coolest man in court, and soon restored order by citing Unruh and Crittenton to show cause tomorrow why they should not be punished for contempt, one in pointing a weapon at Crittenton and the latter for carrying a pistol. The judge would hear no explanations. The bullet was found in the wall fifteen feet from Judge Slack's chair.

Everyone in the courtroom was asked if he or she was armed. All replying in the negative, the case was about to be resumed when Lillian Ashley, the plaintiff, broke down. "My baby is sick and I'm afraid she is going to die," she cried; "my sister, my baby."

Court was then adjourned and the case continued until next Monday.

WORKING FOR TELLER.

Friends of the Silver Man Hope to Yet Get Him Nominated.

CHICAGO, July 2.—Senator Dubois and Congressmen Shafroth and Towne and Senator Lee Mantle have been very active in conferring with different delegations already here in the interest of the candidacy of Henry M. Teller. Yesterday Senator Dubois was closeted with Senator Blackburn for a considerable time, but the latter refused to discuss the matter. The Teller men were also in conference with the leaders in other delegations.

Dr. H. S. Taylor, a member of the Populist national committee and a man very close to Chairman Taubeneck, appeared at the Sherman house and stated that the Populist would in all probability nominate Senator Teller, but that they would not take up Bland or any other man who has been affiliated with the Democratic party at present.

The Teller men are simply waiting for something to turn up that will give their candidate a show as a dark horse, and it is understood they have received much encouragement at the hands of several delegations who, while they could not support Teller at the start, might go to him in case of an emergency as a compromise candidate. That a bolt will come they feel sure, and that will be their opportunity.

Hon. Charles S. Thomas and the Colorado delegation will reach here Friday night or Saturday, and it is stated will push Teller for all they are worth.

SHOULD not be regarded as a trifling ailment—in fact, nature demands the utmost regularity of the bowels, and any deviation from this demand paves the way often to serious danger.
