THE MONEY ISSUE.

The campaign of this year, says the Globe-Democrat, bears a close resemblance to that of 1860 in the respect that it involves a plain issue of right and wrong. It took the people some time to get over the habit of dealing with slavery in a conciliatory and compromising way. They did not call it by its right name and assail it in a plain and positive way, but spoke of it euphemistically and opposed it by roundabout and ineffective means. At length, however, the time came when a courageous and straightforward policy had to be adopted. The evil had grown by indulgence and concession until it could no longer be tolerated, and there was no escape from the duty of making a direct and determined fight upon it. In other words, the logic of circumstances forced a square test between freedom and slavery. Men quit talking about expedients of a mild and paltering nature, and insisted that the question should be settled on its merits. The courage and conscience of the country took hold of the matter and disposed of it thoroughly and permanently. It was a severe contest, but a necessary one, and the result was a triumph of right over wrong that removed a great national reproach and added a splendid chapter to the history of civilization.

In a sense, the issue now before the people is as important as that which was presented in 1860. It relates in a serious way to the prosperity of the country and to the credit and honor of the government. There is much more in it than a mere difference of opinion about the best way to promote the welfare and happiness of the people. It has a moral aspect, and compels a choice between honesty and dishonesty. The maintenance of the gold standard implies adherence to the rules of right, justice and propriety, while the free coinage of silver means a violation of those rules and a resort to false and mischievous financial methods. The gravity of such an issue is easy to comprehend. It comes directly home to every citizen, and calls for the same patriotic action that was required to settle the slavery question. The menace of dishonest money should unite all intelligent and upright voters in a resolute fight for honest money, which is essential to commercial safety, to national solvency, and to the success of all forms of industry. It is impossible to mistake the significance of the contest; and it is equally impossible to believe that the people will fail to decide it in accordance with the declaration of the Republican party upon the subject.

The carryings on at Richmond do not strike the American people in a pleasant manner. The speeches made by Gordon and O'Farrell—one a United States senator, the other a governor—show that the war spirit of the South is not yet dead. There is no disposition upon the part of the North to wave the bloody shirt, but such utterances as are being made at the Confederate gathering in Richmond do not aid in re uniting the country.

Whitney, Harrity and Hill are trying to prevent the Democrats from declaring for free silver. It is too late now. Such work of education should have been begun long ago, but it would not have changed the result. The Democratic party is incapable of learning.

None But Ayer's at the World's Fair.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla enjoys the extraordinary distinction of having been the only blood purifier allowed on exhibit at the world's fair, Chicago. Manufacturers of other sarsaparillas sought by every means to obtain a showing of their goods, but they were all turned away under the application of the rule forbidding the entry of patent medicines and nostrums. The decision of the world's fair authorities in favor of Ayer's Sarsaparilla is in effect as follows: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a patent medicine. It does not belong to the list of nostrums. It is here on its merits."
