A THREATENED CALAMITY.

The Democratic mob at Chicago has done what was expected of them. Disregarding all restraint of reason, they allowed themselves to be swayed by the impassioned oratory of a demagogical speaker, and while under the spell of his magic wand chose him as their candidate.

The nomination of Bryan is one of the phenomena of American politics. A week ago he was hardly spoken of as a presidential possibility. Now he is the leader, named in a convention amidst the scenes of wildest enthusiasm. His success means the widest schism in the party whose ostensible candidate he is. Bryan represents the free silver idea in all its wildness. He is an ephemeral creature, gifted in speech, with little or no experience in statecraft and bound to a single idea. He is spoken of as the "boy orator," and such a designation probably is a complete one.

The convention whose work is just ended was one of the most remarkable which ever gathered on American soil. Its actions were controlled by men of mediocre ability, ignorant of the fundamental principles of government, and wedded to all manner of pernicious doctrine. Altgeld, the anarchist, Tillman, the agitator, and Bryan, the demagogue, were fitting specimens of an ungainly gang. The ease with which the delegates allowed themselves to be bamboozled into voting for a man simply because he was a smooth talker shows of what weak stuff they are made.

Compare a man like Bryan with McKinley! The one a Western shouter for free silver, inexperienced, a man of moment, who flickers in the sunlight and passes in the night; the other a patriotic soldier, a learned statesman, who through long years of labor mastered the principles and intricacies of statesmanship, and brings to his present position a mind well trained and a character well rounded. Bryan and McKinley! What a contrast! Shades of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln, what is the country coming to? It is bad enough that an able, conscientious, but mistaken Democrat like Grover Cleveland should occupy the presidential chair; but when an untamed upstart like Bryan is named as a fitting successor to the long line of distinguished presidents, the contrast is painful.

Let us hope that the Almighty in his wisdom will put forth his hand and stay the threatened calamity.

If ever the American people were called upon to administer a deserved rebuke, now is the time. The Democratic candidates and platform represent principles inimical to the welfare of the nation. They should be taught a lesson next November that will linger long in memory. Under an avalanche of votes should Bryan and his platform be buried.

Oregon knows how it feels to have a candidate for the presidency. There have been abler men in the state than Pennoyer, but it remains for him to bring fame to Oregon as the mother state of a presidential aspirant. Pennoyer's ten votes will cause no harm, but will make the Democrats of Oregon feel immensely tickled.

NORTHWEST NOTES.

Camas Prairie on Monday was visited by a thunder storm, during which the lightning struck a tree, felled John L. Bislers to the ground, stunning him, and killed a cow belonging to Bislers.

A 7-year-old girl named Minnie Fisher was caught in the act of burglarizing a house in Spokane on Monday night, and after she had been arrested, several other recent burglaries in that city were traced home to her. The little girl says she was forced to commit the crimes by some man whose name she will not divulge.

Robert Estoup, about 26 years of age, living about five miles northwest of Milton, attempted suicide by hanging, on Tuesday evening. When discovered, he was lying upon the ground, the rope having broken, otherwise all efforts to revive him would have been of no avail. Medical assistance was soon procured and it was first thought that he could not recover. However, on Wednesday evening, though he was still unconscious, hopes were entertained that he could be brought round.

None But Ayer's at the World's Fair. Ayer's Sarsaparilla enjoys the extraordinary distinction of having been the only blood purifier allowed on exhibit at the world's fair, Chicago. Manufacturers of other sarsaparillas sought by every means to obtain a showing of their goods, but they were all turned away under the application of the rule forbidding the entry of patent medicines and nostrums. The decision of the world's fair authorities in favor of Ayer's Sarsaparilla was in effect as follows: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a patent medicine. It does not belong to the list of nostrums. It is here on its merits."
