THE CONTRAST.

From now till next November every Republican should have his armor on. A contest is being waged between the forces of commercial prosperity and commercial dishonor. The future of America depends on which way the election turns. The humorous part of the campaign will be brought out as usual. Cartoons of candidates and politicians will cause the comic papers to sell. Professional jokers will portray the eccentricities and incongruities of our political life. The demagogue will stalk abroad in the land and make harangues, from the emptiness of which it might be surmised that there are no great questions before the nation.

But there are. The Democratic party is making an insidious attack upon the finances of the country. The free coinage of silver means nothing less than universal disaster. Government cannot legislate the price of wheat; neither can it decree the worth of silver. Every argument that can be advanced for the free coinage of silver applies as well to the free coinage of iron or horsehide. The advocates of silver show how weak is their foundation when they lose all reason under the sound of bombastic words. Should Bryan be elected, this country would pass through a period of darkness which the shadows of the war could not exceed. Every honest, thoughtful American should look upon the coming election as one of the most momentous in our history.

Not being content with the attempt to overturn our finances, the Democratic party makes war upon our industrial system. It prefers the laborer of Europe to the toiler of America. It would rather see the American farmer suffer for want of a home market than see him sell his products at a fair figure.

The Democratic party has had a career of uselessness and incompetence; but it never in its worst moments sought to do such things as it is attempting now. Instead of the party of Jefferson, Jackson and Tilden, it has become the home of anarchism, fanaticism and freaks.

The city authorities have a duty to perform in reference to the stagnant water which has gathered in the alleys and low places between First and Second streets. The present condition is a menace to health, a breeder of disease, and some move should be made immediately towards a change for the better. The committee of the council on health and police, who as a rule are not overworked to any great extent, would do well to give this subject a thorough investigation and decide what means are the best for the eradication of the evil.

The Democratic party has named a man for the presidency because he is a good talker. Whether or not he has been schooled in public life or shows evidence of executive ability is a matter of no consideration. He is a whooper up; a dealer in rhetoric; man of gesture and dramatic effect.

These make up Bryan, and they are all he is. And yet the American people are asked to choose such a man as their chief magistrate in preference to a statesman like Governor McKinley, who served many years in congress learning the ins and outs of national legislation; who ruled a great state as its chief officer for four years, and who has reached an age in life where he is steadfast in purpose and possesses training and ability to penetrate the truth, no matter how darkly hid. The nomination of Bryan is a travesty upon American statesmanship.

It is amusing to watch the convulsions of some of the sound money Democratic papers as they swallow the nomination of Bryan. It is an unpalatable dose, and may prove indigestible after taken.

NORTHWEST NOTES.

The executive committee of the Oregon state board of agriculture will meet in Salem on Saturday, the 18th inst., for the purpose of appointing the necessary gatekeepers, letting the pool privileges and attending to other preliminary business for the opening of the next state fair. The personnel of the committee is as follows: William Galloway, ex-officio chairman; J. H. Albert, D. H. Looney, Richard Scott, Z. F. Moody.

The last thing written by Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, only a few days before her death, was a loving acknowledgement to the public for fond remembrances and tokens and expressions of affectionate esteem, on her 85th birthday, which she sent to the Ladies Home Journal. In the next issue of this magazine it will be published in fac simile. It reflects the beautiful nature of the gifted authoress, and by her death has become her last message to the American public.

Rev. J. S. McCain, editor of the Coquille Herald, who is a delegate to the Populist national convention, will leave Tuesday for St. Louis. J. F. Johnson, of Wallowa county, who is also a delegate, was to have left for St. Louis yesterday. In speaking of probable candidates, Mr. Johnson says he has no favorite, but that he is opposed to fusion in any manner. "We should put up a true-blue Populist, and if the free-silver element means business they can support him," is Johnson's theory.—Engene Guard.

None But Ayer's at the World's Fair. Ayer's Sarsaparilla enjoys the extraordinary distinction of having been the only blood purifier allowed on exhibit at the world's fair, Chicago. Manufacturers of other sarsaparillas sought by every means to obtain a showing of their goods, but they were all turned away under the application of the rule forbidding the entry of patent medicines and nostrums. The decision of the world's fair authorities in favor of Ayer's Sarsaparilla was in effect as follows: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a patent medicine. It does not belong to the list of nostrums. It is here on its merits."
