WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Random Observations and Local Events of Lesser Magnitude.

The fruit will be of superb quality this season.

Edwards Davis tonight at the Christian church.

Grasshoppers have done considerable damage in various parts of the county.

The river today marked 40 feet, a fall of only .8 in the last forty-eight hours.

Ed. Patterson and Hugh Chrisman began work this morning making out the delinquent tax roll, which will occupy their attention about six weeks.

Two more train loads of cattle were shipped from The Dalles yesterday, one from Mr. Millik for Montana, and one from Mr. Mellin for Wyoming. The cattle are from the Prineville district.

The ladies of the M. E. church will give an ice cream social next Wednesday evening for the benefit of the fund for preacher's salary. Ice cream, cake and a fine literary program, 15 cents.

Mrs. Wilmot Whitfield, who spoke on "Home Missions" at the M. E. church yesterday morning, organized a Ladies Home Missionary Society with 15 members, and in the evening from the young ladies, a Queen Esther Circle, also of home missionary intent.

A horse tournament takes place in Astoria, commencing the 15th of August. It is not known whether or not The Dalles will participate, but the boys propose to practice regularly, so that in case a way appears to provide funds they will have a fair chance to win. Practicing will commence tonight.

H. M. Beall, formerly of The Dalles, has closed his accounts as receiver of the Linn County National bank, Albany and will go to California, where he will spend several months. He was receiver about three years, during which time he handled $250,000, which went to the depositors of the bank, and was thus put in circulation.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Christian church are getting up a very interesting and unique entertainment, to be given Friday the 23d. The program is in the hands of wide-awake committees, and from what is intimated to us, we shall be given something rich, amusing and instructive. Watch these columns for further announcements.

Edwards Davis arrived today from Portland and will address the citizens of The Dalles tonight on "The Science of Art." Mr. Davis has a very pleasing personality. He has a massive intellectual head, with magnetic eyes and even features, whose curves from a phenological standpoint would indicate a highly artistic temperament.

The band concert yesterday was attended more generally by the ladies than common. The music was excellent, as usual. The placing of seats in the grounds was a wise provision and insures comfort with delight. Yesterday was the sixth free concert of the season, and interest in them does not wane. The unselfish spirit of the band is appreciated by a liberal attendance.

Hon. Chas. Hilton, wife and daughter returned on the local train today from the East. Mr. Hilton was a delegate to the Republican national convention and a member of the notification committee.

When a schoolmaster entered the temple of learning on Mountain creek a few mornings ago he read on the blackboard the touching legend: "Our teacher is a donkey." The pupils expected there would be a combined cyclone and earthquake, but the philosophical pedagogues contented himself with adding the word "driver" to the legend, and opened the school as usual.—Mitchell Monitor.

The continued high water is having its effect on some of the tenants in the lower district. We learn that Mrs. Britan is making arrangements to vacate the house she has occupied for the past twelve years. It is about time the city fathers adopted some measures to exclude the water from the low places, preventing its becoming stagnant, thereby endangering the health of the city.

The prisoners in the county jail are at times visited by Mrs. Cross, who talks, prays, sings and reads with them, endeavoring to induce them to accept Christ. This morning the lady made one of her periodical visits. She is always treated respectfully and courteously, and undoubtedly elevates them by her spirit of true unselfishness, whether or not they accept the Word she brings to them.

Mr. W. M. McCorkle returned home last night from his visit of six weeks to Illinois among relatives, after an absence of forty-four years. He stated that he was glad to get home to Oregon, "where he could get a good night's sleep again." It is a fact that every one who leaves Oregon for the East is not satisfied until they return. Mr. McCorkle said regarding the financial situation that we did not know what hard times are compared with Illinois and Iowa. There are abundant crops in all the middle states, but that does not bring hope. Prosperity is as distant as if the crops were a failure for the market is so low that the crops will not clear the cost of production.

A Famous Lecture.

Edwards Davis is an actor, poet and musician as well as lecturer, and delightfully exhibits all his talents in the lecture known as "The Science of Art," which will be given at the Christian church tonight. The following is the musical and recitative program given by Davis in this famous lecture:

THE COUNCIL DEADLOCKED.

The Mayor and Three Councilmen Want W. H. Butts for Marshal.

The chief business before the city council Saturday evening was the appointment and confirmation of marshal, but the meeting was barren of result. There is a deadlock in the common council at the present time, on the one side the mayor and three councilmen and on the other the remaining six councilmen. Reduced to individuals, four out of ten are determined that W. H. Butts shall be the next city marshal, and six of ten are for some one else.

The first business before the meeting was a petition from Mr. J. M. Patterson that the council fix a rate of $3 a night or $15 per week for shows in the armory hall. Referred to the finance committee.

After the disposal of this business there was a momentary silence, broken by the mayor, who stated the object of the meeting to be the selection of a marshal. He said he had been unable to make any appointment except the one he had heretofore made, and hoped the council would take another ballot and make the confirmation. Of all men in the city Butts was the ideal man in the mayor's estimation who could work harmoniously along with him. He should like to have his choice respected, because he is in a great measure responsible for the marshal's actions; whatever mistakes the marshal makes is treasured up against the mayor who made the appointment.

Councilman Nolan moved that a ballot be taken, which resulted as before—6 to 3 against confirmation, when the mayor announced that he had no other names to propose. The meeting then adjourned without further remark.

No intimation was given of yielding on either side, even in the event of a change in the vote. All this suits the present incumbent, Mr. Blakeney. He believes the best way out of the difficulty is for the mayor to present his name, and he believes that seven out of the nine councilmen would vote for confirmation.

The question of draining the standing water out of the lots between First street and the alley came up. The marshal said arrangements had been made by which men were going to work Monday to open the manholes and let the stagnant water run off.

THEY DIVIDED BY TWELVE.

How the Jury Reached a Verdict in the Boat-Railway Case.

As was stated at the time the verdict in the condemnation case of the government against Senfert Bros. was rendered, neither party to the suit was satisfied, and both were talking of asking for a new trial. Perhaps they both understood then how the jury arrived at the verdict, says the Oregonian.

It is said that each member of the jury wrote out the amount of damages he thought the defendant was entitled to, and that these amounts were added together and the total divided by 12, the number of the jury, and the amount was agreed upon as the verdict. One of the jurymen asserted the damages at $750, and another at $100,000. A new jury might award more or less, and each party to the suit seems willing to try a new deal.

An outsider who listened to the trial says it was funny to hear the arguments made, which tended to convey the idea that there were tons and tons of fish to be hauled to the railroad every day in the year, and that "trains or boats" would be running over the boat railway so close together that a wagonload of fish could not be hauled over it without danger of being run over.

The facts in the case are that the bulk of the fish are caught at The Dalles within ten days, and that the whole fishing season there lasts only about a month. As to the boat railway, perhaps Mr. Senfert may live long enough to see a boat pass over it, and perhaps he may not; but it will be a long time before there is one boat per day passing up and down over the proposed boat railway. However, this probably cuts no figure in the amount of damages which should be allowed on general principles.
