UNTOLD MISERY

HEUMATISM C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consided the best physi-ciaus, visited Hot Springs, Ark, three times, spending $1000 there, Lesides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighted only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the museles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure reliations of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in elay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I begun to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 155 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith.

THAT IRISH ESTATE.

Hand" O'Neill's Descendants Heirs to 180 Millions.

The story in yesterday's Chronicle seems to have had its foundation in an Seatinel of July 9th. The Sentinel gives Mrs. Thos. Woods and F. H. Van Norden as The Dalles claimants to the in connection therewith. Below is the Sentinel article:

A hundred and eighty million dollars seems a sum far beyond even the dreams of the very wealthy, to say nothing of the ordinary, every-day person. Yet in Victoria, B. C., living in a modest little house on Herald street, are a family that do not dream, but look forward with quiet confidence to possessing not only this enormous sum, but a whole Irish county thrown in.

Mr. A. P. Freimuth, who came here a short time ago and now plays the solo cornet in the Fifth Regiment band and wields the baton as leader of the Victoria theatre orchestra, is the husband of one of the claimants to the estate of the O'Neils of Antrim. Mrs. W. E. Ward, of Los Angeles, Mrs. Freimuth's mother, is at present visiting her daughter, and in the fall is going over to Ireland on behalf of the American heirs to claim the estate. From the two ladies the history of the quest was

The estate they say has been in chancery for something like fifty years for want of an heir. Mrs. Ward's father, John Falls O'Neill, was a younger son of old Hugh O'Neill, the last to hold the estate. Beiug a younger son John Falls O'Neill went to the United States to seek his fortune, and after remaining for some time in St. Louis, got the gold fever in 1849, and joined the stream of those who came to the Pacific coast. He was captain in the Black Hawk war, and now lies buried at Quincy, Plumas county. Now his descendants are looking eastward to a store of gold that far exceeds the expectations that drew the old "Forty-niner" to the West.

Capt. O'Neill leaves five children alive, Richard O'Neill, of Bakersfield, California; Charles Terrence O'Neill, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Mary F. Bell, of Froville, Col.; Mrs. Theresa C. Wheeler, of Oakland, and Mrs. W. E. Ward, of Los Angeles. There are three grandchildren also-Mrs. Freimuth, who is Mrs. Ward's daughter; Mrs. Tom Woods, of The Dalles, Oregon, and F. H. VanNorden, of the same place, children of Mrs. Lizzie O'Neitl 'Van Norden, now deceased.

"We are the only direct heirs," said Mrs. Ward. "We can trace our ancestry right back to the 'Red Hand' as the first of our line was called. We have had lawyers working on the case for years in England, and now they tell us Hay and Grain for Sale that all we have to do is to come over and claim our own. I have the family seal and the old documents to prove we really are the heirs to the estate, and I will take them over with me to England this fall with my brother, Charles Ter- deci-lm

rence O'Nelll, who is coming up here

soon to go with me."

There are other O'Neills who-would like to have a share of the millions, but Mrs. Ward says they cannot prove their descent, and it is only her brothers and sisters, her daughter, neice and nephew, who will come into the estate. There is a romantic story of how the first O'Neill came by his property and his name of the "Red Hand."

In the good old-fashioned way of sovereigns Henry II conferred a great tract of land in County Antrim on the one of two suitors who would get there first. Of these the Red O'Neill was one. The time of the contest was fixed; good King Henry acted as starter, the course being from Windsor Castle to the land in question, the condition being that the man who first laid hand on the land should take the prize.

Away sped O'Neill and his rival for the Emerald Isle and crossed the Irish sea heedless of anything but of the land greed that even in the present day has actuated the wild rush of the "boomer." Arrived at Lough Neagh, O'Neill's rival secured the first boat, but O'Neill was soon after him in a second. The rival was almost across to the strand which marked the limit of the promised land and prepared to spring ashore.

O'Neill, to prevent the fair demesne being snatched from him, drew his sword, sliced off his left hand deftly and with a mighty effort threw the bloody hand ashore just before his rival sprang trom his boat. The O'Neill's hand first touching land made him owner of the magnificent property for which the heirs are now striving.

Mr. J. W. Brown, editor of the "Mineral Age," Warrior, Ala., says: "After article that appeared in the Catholic a trial of Simmons Liver Regulator I find it an excellent remedy for expelling Malaria from the system; and, as a remedy for disease in incipient states it estate, and a very romantic story is told cannot be excelled, and no family should be without it." This is a strong endorsement for Simmons Liver Regulator, but none too much so.

> It's an old saying "The proof of the pudding is in the eating of it." And it is because people have taken Simmons Liver Regulator that they know it to be a most excellent medicine and especially for the Spring and Fall when there is so much Malaria in the air. Mr. W T. Lee, of Pandleton, N. C. says, "I have used Simmons Liver Regulator for twenty years, in place of calomel and quinine."
