Weather Forecast. PORTLAND, July 22, 1896. FOR EASTERN OREGON—This afternoon, tonight and tomorrow fair, and much cooler. PAGUE, Observer.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Random Observations and Local Events of Lesser Magnitude.

Remember the lawn socia' tomorrow evening at Mrs. C. G. Bills.

The teachers will have an excursion to the Cascades and return Saturday. Round trip 50 cents.

A cement walk is being laid around the French bank corner, which will greatly improve the building's neat appearance.

The latest news from the sheep market in Chicago is that prices have declined 10 to 20 cents per cwt, though the lamb market is reported strong.

George Small has started from Silver Lake with a band of horses and mules, to find an eastern market. He will drive overland as far as Nebraska or Kansas. Four men accompanied him.

St. Louis is a poor convention city. A severe storm blew the wires down last evening, so that the Populists could not do as they had planned, hold an evening session because they could not have lights.

The recitations and songs at the Christian church tomorrow night are mostly by persons between the ages of 50 and 82 years. A great deal of interest is already manifested in the program, which appears in another column.

Justice Filloon has rendered a judgment for plaintiff in the case of Hal French vs. J. Freeman. The amount involves $100 and costs and disbursements. The case of Balch vs. Epstein has been settled out of court, which was an attachment to recover borrowed money.

Moonlight excursion on the Regulator tonight. The boat leaves at 8:30. The Dalles band, who gives the excursion, will furnish an abundance of delightful music. The fare is only 25 cents. A large number should avail themselves of the delightful evening in store for all who go.

There is always a sort of an interregnum about this time in the fruit market—the period when cherries cease and peaches and apricots begin. The Dalles Commission Co. have orders on hand for fruit at good prices, but cannot secure more than 400 crates altogether of all kinds.

The outlook for farmers in Morrow county is discouraging this year, to say the least. Grasshoppers are said to be taking everything in sight that is green, the wheat crop is light and of poor quality, and wool growers, for the first time in the history of the county, are unable to find a market for their product at any price.

False ideas lead people to think, says the Observer, that sheepmen burn themselves to death by destroying fires in the mountains when the annual midsummer haze settles down upon the state like a fog over London. Another fallacy in Oregon is to cry poison when a flock of sheep kill themselves from suddenly changing to flirree from dry bunch grass.

The Moro Observer makes a prophecy and says: "It will be five years, with a waste of $200,000 now appropriated and $300,000 more to come, before a tangible thing will be done on the boat railway fraud at the dalles of the Columbia. Mark these words. Twenty-seven years at the Cascades; twenty-five years at the dalles. But it is a hobby of the anarchists."

From four miles above town into the Dalles appearances intimate a suburb of Chicago. Besides being the handsomest city in the Inland Empire, with such handsome structures as the Williams and Vogt blocks, The Dalles proper may shortly become the liveliest metropolis of the Pacific Northwest. Why not? she has local pride and energy, and no place on the whole coast has half so good a country to back it.—Moro Observer.

Selecting Army Horses.

Only four horses were bought by Mr. Frazier up till noon for the use of the army. Mr. Frazier says the most of the horses shown are too heavy. An ideal weight is 1000 or 1050. Other horses again are shut out because of their color. A beautiful horse, with nice, clean limbs, a trim body, graceful neck and small shapely head was refused this morning because he was too dark in color. The horse must be a bay, a sorrel or a gray. Another horse was refused because, while perfect in all other respects, his haunches were too high, giving him a sway-back appearance. Between fifty and seventy-five horses have been brought so far and offered for sale. Mr. Frazier says that he has secured only forty-eight horses in Walla Walla, Pendleton and The Dalles, and will go to the Grande Ronde country, as he must procure about twenty more. He will leave The Dalles tonight.

Tomorrow Night's Program.

The following unique program will be rendered by well-known "young people" tomorrow night at the Christian church, commencing at 8 o'clock:
Recitation—Mrs. Mary Scott Myers.
Song—Dr. Frazier.
Recitation—Mr. W. D. Jones.
Song—W. A. Maddron.
Recitation—Geo. Stewart.
Song—Father Harper.
Recitation—Mrs. W. S. Van Durn.
Song—Grandma Ward.
Recitation—R. H. Darnielle.
Instrumental Solo—Mrs. Eshelman.
Recitation—Mrs. I. H. Hazel.
Song—Mr. I. H. Hazel.
Recitation—Mr. W. S. Van Durn.
Recitation—Dr. G. C. Eshelman.
Following the program ice cream and cake will be served in the basement of the church for 10 cents.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

The Discussion This Afternoon Turned Upon Books.

The question for discussion this afternoon at the institute was: What shall the primary teacher read? The teacher of a mixed school? Miss Rintoul led the discussion with an admirable paper, in which she recommended professional work principally. Mr. Gavin spoke very entertainingly on the subject. He said one should read that which had a good effect, and leaves one in a thoughtful mood. He regarded too much newspaper reading as deleterious, and emphasized the point by specific mention of the Oregonian, which was filled with so much of all kinds of matter that it left one with a sense of exhaustion if all were read. He did not think one-sixth, or at most one-third, should be read. He had read so much he got so he could pick his books with a tolerable certainty as to what was best to read. He thought the Chautauqua or any regular course of reading, excellent.

Mr. Gourlay was present and spoke upon this theme. He recommended the reading of some good current magazines, suggesting the "Review of Reviews," the "North American Review," etc.

After the discussion teachers were asked to write the names of books they have read and would recommend. A large list was the result, from which we extract the following: "Boys of '76," Irving's "Washington" and "Columbus," "Helen's Babies," "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "Robinson Crusoe," "Gulliver's Travels," "Little Women," "Black Beauty," "Beautiful Joe," and poems as follows: "Constitution and Guerriere," "Old Ironsides," Gray's "Elegy," etc.

The Wheat Trade.

Now that wool is a drug in the market at any price interest will from now on center in the price that wheat is to bring the present season. There is no rift in the clouds at present. There is nothing doing whatever and nothing is likely to be done for a long time yet. Millers are the only buyers and this is done sparingly. Interest now centers in the news from the harvest fields. Reports of crop damage are conflicting from the excessive heat of the past fortnight; some points estimate the damage done at about 40 per cent, while at other points the claim is only 10 per cent. The question of price is a very uncertain one.

Says the Commercial Review: Present indications are decidedly in favor of a lower range of values than is quoted at present, but a month will elapse before wheat will be moving with anything approaching freedom and many changes are liable to occur to alter the position.

Klickitat Democrats.

A dispatch from Goldendale says that Hon. Hiram Dunstan, one of the few-and-far-between Democrats of Klickitat, has issued a call for a rally July 25. One of the striking features of the handbills, that have been spread broadcast over the county, is the part that reads "important business will come before the committee." Rumor is current that this call of Democrats is the first step toward fusion with the Populists.

A prominent politician of the Populist party says that Judge George Turner, of Spokane, will be invited at an early date to address the citizens of Klickitat county.
