WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Random Observations and Local Events of Lesser Magnitude.

Peaches are retailing in this city for 50 cents a box.

Remember the lawn social this evening at Mrs. C. G. Bills.

J. M. Huntington, of The Dalles, was commissioned a notary public yesterday.

Rev. L. Gray has returned from Oregon City. Mrs. Gray has been dangerously ill, but is now recovering. The usual Lutheran services will be held Sunday.

The Roseburg Plaindealer is responsible for this: "Is this a sixteen-to-one town?" asked the drummer. "It air on Sunday," answered the native. "On Sunday?" "Yas. Sixteen goes fishin' to one goin' to church."

Tomorrow is the last day of Rev. Mr. Hazel's stay in The Dalles. All members and friends of the Christian church are cordially invited to attend morning service, after which a picnic lunch will be served in the Academy grounds.

A. Blanchet, of Salem, slept on a porch in order to keep cool. He kept pretty cool until about 1 o'clock, when he rolled off upon the ground fifteen feet below. It required a physician to help him through, but no bones were broken.

Mr. Emile Hechler, a sheepman, was brought in from near Mt. Hood last night and taken to Dr. Hollister to have a crushed foot attended to. While herding sheep in the mountains, his horse fell upon him, with the result as stated.

The Regulator was crowded with excursionists last evening, who passed a most enjoyable evening under the magic influences of moonlight, music and riding on the water. Notwithstanding the fare was only 25 cents per passenger, the band cleared about $25. The boat returned shortly before 11 o'clock.

The little sternwheeler Loreli, after her long and exciting trip through the dalles and over the cascades, has at last struck a profitable trade, and is now carrying passengers to the cruiser Philadelphia. The craft attracts much attention owing to her novel construction, but seems to be able to show a clean pair of heels to anything of her size on the river.

A telegram was received by Mr. T. A. Hudson while at Union yesterday that the shipment of Ed. Martin's body had been delayed because a zinc coffin could not be procured and one had to be made. The body was sent to Payette and embalmed. It will therefore pass through in the morning for Portland. Mr. Hudson will accompany the body to that city, and see that it is properly shipped by Wells Fargo express to San Francisco. The cause of Mr. Martin's death was inflammatory rheumatism. His mother will receive the body at San Francisco.

The Institute.

At the institute today Prof. Ackerman introduced during history a talk upon current events. He explained what was meant by unit rule and the two-thirds rule.

In literature the works read or reviewed today were Butler's "Hildebras," Milton's "L'Legro" and "Il Penseroso," and readings from Isaac Walton and John Bunyan.

The question for discussion this afternoon was "Daily preparation of a teacher; what and how much?" The discussion was led by Miss Lois Helm and afterwards developed into a sort of an experience meeting—that is, a relating of various experiences by the teachers, their practices and results.

Miss Minnie Michell was added to the list of teachers today. Mrs. Harrington was a visitor.

Wants to Live to Vote Again.

Grandpa McCabe, who lives on a ranch near The Dalles, fell from a box yesterday and injured his hip and back quite severely. He sent for Dr. Hollister, and as soon as he arrived said: "Doctor, I want you to fix me up one more time. I have voted the Republican ticket every campaign since the party was born, and I want to vote it once more before I die." The request was much like that of Samson when he became a patriarch, and was quite pathetic. The extreme age of the patient coupled with the fact of the extremely hot weather, makes it doubtful if he will recover in time to vote at the November election.

Mr. Pinkham to Leave.

Seventeen boxes of peach plums, the first of the season, were shipped last night by the Oregon Fruit Union. They were from Mr. Husband's place. This may be the last shipment made by the Oregon Fruit Union this season in The Dalles. Mr. Pinkham, agent of the company, will depart shortly for Denver, Colorado, to permanently reside. He will sever his connection entirely with the Union and he believes he will not be succeeded by anyone at The Dalles; that is the Oregon Fruit Union will have no representative here the present season.

Strattan—Helm.

An auspicious event in the lives of two well-known young people of The Dalles was the marriage last evening of Prof. M. N. Strattan and Miss Marie Helm, which took place at the residence of the bride's parents on Laughlin street. The nuptials were celebrated in the presence of only members of the family. Rev. W. C. Curtis performed the ceremony. The couple left on the morning train for the beach, where they will spend their honeymoon, when they will make their future home in Portland. A host of friends extend congratulations.
