HONESTY AGAINST DISHONESTY

This is the policy that Bryan is asking the honest men of the United States to vote for:

"We demand the free and unlimited coinage of both silver and gold at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation. We demand that the standard silver dollar shall be a full legal tender, equally with gold, for all debts, public and private, and we favor such legislation as will prevent for the future the demonetization of any kind of legal-tender money by private contract."

And this is the statement of principles to which McKinley adheres:

"We are unalterably opposed to every measure calculated to debase our currency or impair the credit of our country. We are, therefore, opposed to the free coinage of silver, except by international agreement with the leading commercial nations of the world, which we pledge ourselves to promote; and until such agreement can be obtained the existing gold standard must be preserved."

The Chicago platform, says the Tribune, means that the savings banks and insurance companies may pay 53 cents to every poor man who has a claim upon them. The St. Louis platform means that, as now, under the existing gold standard, every dollar which the laborer receives for his work, the farmer receives for his wheat, and the thrifty man pays for insurance or puts in the bank, is worth 100 cents, so shall every dollar received or paid out by them in the future be worth 100 cents in every market in the world. Every man who wishes to do justice and to receive justice must vote for McKinley.

Two years ago in a speech delivered at Springfield, Missouri, Mr. Bryan said: "The increase of coinage decreases the value and vice versa. We don't find perfection in any human being; nor can we expect to find it in a dollar, gold or silver. The advantage of having metallic money is that the supply is large and regular enough to prevent great fluctuations. The objection to paper money is not that it will not pass if limited in amount. It will float along with gold and silver as long as it pays taxes and debts. The danger is that the presses may be set to work and too great fluctuations result. The value of each dollar depends on the number in existence." Now the young orator is declaring that the silver dollar is the most adorable thing on earth, and although unlimited coinage will decrease its value, still he is in favor of it.

Here is something for the wool grower of Eastern Oregon, whose wool remains unsold in The Dalles warehouses. In a speech in congress during the debate on the Wilson bill William J. Bryan, the Democratic candidate for president, said: "It is immaterial, in my judgment, whether the sheep grower receives any benefit from the tariff or not. Whether he does or not, I am for free wool."

Bryan would be happy if the other fair charmer were away. He has more vice presidents to take care of than he can handle, and their prolixity will be his ruin. In the meantime will be back up his telegram that he would not run if Sewall were turned down. We think not. That telegram was a Bryan bluff.

State Superintendent McElroy is, it is rumored, a candidate for the presidency of the State Agricultural College. When will Oregon get rid of its perennial office-seekers.
