

CANCER CURED

—AND A—
LIFE SAVED
By the Persistent Use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my face, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after filling a number of bottles, the sore began to disappear and my general health improved. I persisted in this treatment, until the sore was entirely healed. Since then, I use Ayer's Sarsaparilla occasionally as a tonic and blood-purifier, and, indeed, it seems as though I could not keep house without it."—Mrs. S. A. Fields, Bloomfield, Va.

A Reported Battle of Sheepmen.

The Fossil Journal says: J. M. South brings word to town of a desperate battle between sheepmen and cattlemen on Snow mountain, southwest of Canyon City, which took place about a week ago. Mr. South was at Muddy Station Thursday, when the Mitchell-Antelope stage driver brought word to O'Neill, manager of the Prineville Sheep & Land Co., that Mr. Kitchen, one of the company's employees, was one of three sheepmen killed, two cattlemen being also slain. Another of the sheepmen killed was Earnest Sherar, a nephew of Jos. Sherar, the well-known woolgrower and buyer. Young Sherar was known to a number of our people as the pitcher of the Antelope baseball club. For several years he has been buying and shipping sheep for his uncle, and on the occasion of the battle he, with several others, including Mr. Kitchen, was driving a band of sheep across the country to the railroad, presumably to Huntington, for shipment. There have been so many fake "sheep fights" in Grant county this year that this may be like the others, simply made up in order to scare sheepmen from going into the mountains with their flocks, but this story, in that it gives the names of some of the killed and was accepted as true by Mr. O'Neill, has symptoms of truth in it.
A reporter of THE CHRONICLE endeavored to find out whether there was any truth in the above story or not. From Mr. Wiseman it is learned that he has letters from Earnest Sherar of date since the event spoken of, which would show that there is no foundation for the sensational story in the Fossil paper.

A LOCAL ILLUSTRATION.

Investment Countermanded in Umatilla County.

In so small a city as Pendleton the evil results of the silver agitation are made manifest, says the Tribune. A resident of that city was sent $5000 for investment in Umatilla county warrants, but was immediately telegraphed after the St. Louis populist and silver conventions not to invest another dollar.

Umatilla county warrants are now selling at 98 cents, but it is thought that the present scare will seriously affect the price of city and county securities.

On so small a pretext as the possibility of the triumph of the silver party, several persons have become so alarmed as to withdraw their small holdings from the banks in Pendleton, which they know will go to a premium in the event of any change from the gold standard.

It is the millions of small depositors all over the country who wield a mighty influence over the money market and who move much to do with fomenting a paucity feeling through their loss of confidence.

If at this time depositors feel uneasy, it is not impossible to imagine the wild and frantic raid on the banking institutions of the country that would immediately follow the success of a free-coinage ticket.

It is not difficult for a man to understand that, no matter what the money of final redemption is, it cannot be obtained without work, and once it is honestly obtained, the owner very naturally will exercise every precaution to prevent its loss through exchange for an inferior money if he can prevent it, as now, by holding on to the best money known to the civilized world.

CALL TO INSURANCE MEN.

What Are They Going to Do to Avert the Free Silver Peril?

Thrift, a life insurance newspaper, sounds a note of warning to insurance men regarding the danger of the free-silver craze, and calls upon them for action.

"Gentlemen of the life insurance business, what are you going to do about it?" it asks. "Stealthily drawing nearer and nearer the life insurance citadel, in which are guarded liabilities to 5,000,000 policy-holders aggregating more than $13,000,000, is the epidemic silver madness born of discontent, selfishness and demagogism. Should the dread infection fasten upon a sufficient number of American citizens to pollute a majority of the next electoral college, the almost inevitable result, in the judgment of many of the ablest students of economics, would be a financial earthquake which in any event would depreciate the policies of even the strongest life insurance companies in half, or less than half, their face value, and very possibly wipe out of existence scores of smaller companies which constitute the sole bulwark between thousands of families and absolute pauperism, in the death of the earning heads of these families."

The Wage-Earners' Battle.

Philadelphia Times, Dem.

While all classes and conditions of the American people are vitally interested in the issue of the great battle for the maintenance of national and individual credit, the people who are more interested than all others are the wage-earners of the country. Men with capital of all grades can adjust themselves to new conditions with the least possible sacrifice, but the wage-earner has his whole capital in his labor, and any new condition that changes the value of labor must be a serious misfortune to the working man.

The great contest of 1896 is the wage-earners' battle. Let them see to it that they do not turn with suicidal hands upon themselves.

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Cailouttee, Druggist, Bearersville, Ill. says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial a Blakeley & Houghton's Drug Store.
