"It is immaterial, in my judgment, whether the sheep grower receives any benefit from the tariff or not. Whether he does or does not, I am for free wool."—Extract from speech of William J. Bryan in the house of representatives when the Wilson bill was under consideration.

CASCADE RESERVE MUDDLE.

Fate is dealing the sheepmen of Eastern Oregon some pretty hard blows. A free trade administration has caused the wool clip to remain unsold, and the sheep growers, who expected by this time to receive returns by which they could discharge their obligations, are waiting in vain.

As if this were not enough, the gentlemen of wealth and leisure in Portland, who have little to busy their thoughts except to plan pleasures and diversions for idle hours, are making war upon our sheepmen because they are pasturing their flocks where nature intended they should—in the fastnesses of the Cascade mountains.

The situation, as it exists, is very serious, and the future depends upon the outcome of present complications. The sheep and wool industry of Eastern Oregon is its greatest treasure. Without it the present business enterprises could not be conducted. The pasturage which the Cascade mountains affords has enabled this industry to reach the magnitude it has, and without this pasturage wool growing in Eastern Oregon is doomed.

No one denies for a moment that the "sanctity" of the Bull Run Reserve should be preserved, and any sheep owner who allows his flock to enter the limits of Portland's water supply should be held amenable to law. But, as is gathered from the statements of the different sheep owners, such is not the case in this instance. The sheep are grazing outside of the Bull Run Reserve, and the present crusade is due to the cupidity of metropolitan gamblers.

To say that the sheepmen are accountable for the forest fires is to aver sheer nonsense! To no class of men would the burning of large bodies of timber be a greater menace, and it is perfectly certain no one is so painstaking in guarding against such dangers as the lonely shepherd. It would be well if the Portland Rod and Gun Club were as careful.

The people of Eastern Oregon are used to having their rights disregarded. For twenty years they have felt the hand of Portland in delaying the completion of the Cascade locks, and they see that same subtle, but forceful, touch in this campaign against the sheepmen of Eastern Oregon, who, in the face of gigantic odds, are struggling for existence.

Whatever may be the legal status of the situation, the equities are on the side of a legitimate industry which is being wrongfully discriminated against.

Senator Squire of Washington has announced his determination to vote for Bryan, and made a clean flop into the silver camp. There will be few people who will give to Squire the credit of acting according to his convictions; but rather that he esteems the silver side in Washington the stronger at present, and as his term in the senate soon expires, he is playing the part of an anything-for-office politician. Opposed to Squire as a senatorial candidate is Governor McGraw, a sound money Republican, who will have the solid support of the gold standard element. The issue in our neighboring state will be a clear cut one.

The man who votes for Bryan is voting to cut his present wages in half. Are wages now so high that they need this horizontal reduction?

LEAVES ITS MARK

—every one of the painful irregularities and weaknesses that prey upon women. They fade the face, waste the figure, ruin the temper, wither you up, make you old before your time. Get well: That's the way to look well. Cure the disorders and ailments that beset you, with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It regulates and promotes all the proper functions, improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, melancholy and nervousness, brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and strength. It's a powerful general, as well as uterine, tonic and nerve, imparting vigor and strength to the entire system.

Mrs. Anna Ulrich, of Elm Creek, Buffalo Co., Neb., writes: "I enjoy good health thanks to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I was under doctors' care for two years with womb disease, and gradually wasting in strength all the time. I was so weak that I could sit up in bed only a few moments, for two years. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and by the time I had taken one-half dozen bottles I was up and going wherever I pleased, and have had good health ever since—that was two years and a half ago."
