A Chinese Row.

The Chinese of the city had a lively celebration last evening of some event peculiar to themselves, which wound up with an infraction of the law and an arrest. Some distinguished Chinaman from abroad, high in the order of Chinese Masons, was present and a merry making ensued on a front street resort in Chinatown. During their festivities there entered a Chinaman named Joe Say, who it seems was disliked by the majority of the guests present for being a friend of Yung Quong's, the latter in bad odor among Chinese for not paying his wage debts. Quong was the boss Chinaman at Seufert's. Whether Joe Say was to blame or not, the fact is that a row occurred between him and the other Chinamen, resulting in his arrest by Nightwatchman Wiley for being drunk and disorderly, and the recorder fined him $10 this morning. The more serious part of the trouble consisted in the fact that Quong, who was angered at the treatment received by Say, called in one of his assailants or defendants, as the case may be, and attacked him with a revolver. Quong was then arrested for assault with a deadly weapon and his case set for trial before Recorder Phelps. Later the case was transferred to Justice Filloon, on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Traveling Men to Organize.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 1.—A prominent traveling man started out yesterday to organize a traveling men's McKinley club. By night he had secured the names of 30 of the fraternity, and had not met one who was a Bryan man or who refused to sign the list to organize a McKinley club. Today the list was swelled to 40, and so encouraged is the drummer that he said today:

"A traveling men's McKinley club will be organized in Oregon, and it will include 90 per cent of our class. The travelers' Protective Association has a membership of 200 in the state, and they are for sound money almost to a man. The membership of our club will not be far different from the T. P. A. The Traveling Men's McKinley Club will be heard from again."

PETITION OF STOCK MEN.

They Ask to Have the Reserve Thrown Open—Signed by Everyone.

A petition is being circulated today, addressed to Senator Mitchell, looking to the opening of the Cascade forest reserve to the pasturage of stock. It is being signed by everyone to whom it is presented, as the prosperity of this section depends upon the prosperity of the stockman, and if they are to be prohibited from pasturing their stock in the mountains during the summer time, it will be a great and unaccustomed hardship.

In this connection the news comes from Portland that on petition of United States Attorney Murphy, Judge Bellinger yesterday granted a preliminary injunction, commanding Joseph H. Sherar, of Wasco county, to remove his bands of sheep from the Cascade reserve forthwith, and to cease trespassing thereon, and he is allowed 10 days in which to appear and show cause why this injunction should not be made permanent. Mr. Sherar is one of the persons arrested a few weeks since for trespassing on the reserve, where he has had some 3800 sheep pasturing. He promised that he would take his sheep off the reserve and so was allowed to give bonds in the sum of $300 and go home. Special Agent Dixon found his herders on the reserve and ordered them to get off. They started and had driven their sheep some distance when Sherar sent a man to them to tell them not to leave the reserve. On this account the injunction has been issued.

In this city the above action has caused considerable indignation. There seemed to have been a tacit understanding that the issue was to have been allowed to lag and possibly die from neglect, and the attitude of the government in crowding the sheep growers to the wall is received bitterly. The move does not seem to be inspired by necessity. The sheep are doing no damage either to the timber or the range.

On the contrary the sheep are beneficial, having saved many millions of feet of timber through their habit of making trails, thus preventing the spread of forest fires. At this season of the year the ground is thickly strewn with dead pine needles. The sheep running through make numerous trails or pathways about a foot wide, obliterating everything inflammable the width of the trail. Cases have been noticed where fires have ceased to spread by burning up to one of these trails. The sheep harm nothing, as they refuse to browse the young fir and pine growth under any circumstances. Neither the government or the people are being harmed by this great natural range, which has done the same duty for years, furnishing sustenance to the herds which feed upon it in the summer time.

Big Indian Pow Wow.

The citizens of Enterprise and vicinity are alarmed by reports that Indians are gathering in Wallowa with the intention of massacring the inhabitants, to avenge the death of the Indian recently lynched at Astin for outraging a young lady of Enterprise. Miss Olive Richardson, the young lady who was outraged, has returned home. It is rumored that the Indians now encamped in that vicinity are seeking her life, and threaten to shoot her on sight. It is estimated that over 2,000 Indians from the Nez Perce and Umatilla reservations are now encamped in the Wallowa valley. Yesterday Indians had a barbecue and powwow at their camp at the mouth of Trout creek, this being the time for celebrating the death of the Indian recently lynched. A number of prominent Indians were present, besides the family and relatives of the dead man. The settlers have taken necessary precautions and warned everybody to stay away from the meeting, as they might thoughtlessly cause trouble, as the Indians will no doubt be worked up to a great frenzy, and, with the assistance of whisky, some of them might resort to violence.
