APPRECIATION OF MONEY.

Much is written and said about increase and decrease in the purchasing price of gold and silver. So far as the coins are concerned there is now no difference, and if the free coinage of silver will restore the market price of silver to the price of 1873, there will be no distinction in the purchasing price of the bullion; he who has to earn or buy a dollar will have to struggle as hard as now. But more money will be coined, and it will be less difficult to get, because of its abundance." This would be true if the person who had it coined were by law compelled to distribute it equally, according to population, over the country, to be gathered up by the people without any exchange therefor—a kind of a scramble game, as rich men are wont to do with street urchins in large cities by means of pennies.

But what are really the best indications of the appreciation or depreciation of our money values? One of the best is the rates of interest. In 1860 the United States was paying an average rate of 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent upon its debt; in 1873 the usual rate on loans in Oregon was 12 to 15 per cent, and many loans were made at 24 per cent. In 1895 Dalles City borrowed nearly \$70,000 to pay off its floating debt and had no trouble in getting the money at less than 6 per cent. Today there would be no trouble in securing by private loans \$25,000 in The Dalles at 8 per cent if the would-be borrower could satisfy the lender that he would repay the money when due in the same kind of money he borrowed. No one thinks of asking over ten per cent of a responsible borrower. The United States secures all the gold it desires at 3 per cent. The rate of interest has not increased, but the distrust in the ability or willingness to repay in the kind of money loaned has increased.

We are much pleased to note that the Times-Mountaineer has gone over to the side of "the people." It was on the side of the "money lender and plutocrat" for some time after the June election; after the November election we trust it will return to the habit of expressing its real convictions.

LATIN AND GERMAN TAUGHT.

GERMAN.
The undersigned desires to organize a class in German. Every American citizen who can afford both time and expense ought to be master of this language. There are many advantages over modern languages on account of her profound literature in all branches of ancient and modern science produced in her world-renowned universities. Those who would desire to learn Germanic and yet undistracted fountains of knowledge must master the language which contains the key to them. The undersigned will organize a class in German, and will begin with actual work on the first of September. Classes will be given twice or three times a week in the evening or when most convenient to those who will get down to earnest labor. All who desire to participate in this work will please announce their intention to the undersigned at an early date, as the class will be limited to a certain number. Charges will be very reasonable.

LATIN.

The undersigned will also organize a class in Latin. There are so many reasons why those who desire to advance their knowledge should have a course set out for them to take at least a course in Latin that probably everybody is familiar with at least some of them. I will not take space here to speak of the beauties of the Latin language nor of the many advantages it is possessed by those who have mastered it. I will only say that the undersigned will endeavor to make a class in Latin. Rapid progress guaranteed to those who will work hard. Charges very reasonable. All desiring instruction in Latin are kindly requested to announce their intention to the undersigned before September 1st possible.

Awaiting your application, I am, very respectfully yours,

L. GREY,
Evangelical Lutheran Pastor.
