FALSE BY HISTORY.

The declaration of Mr. Bryan, made at Madison Square August 12th and reiterated many times, that the opening of the mints to the free coinage of silver would bring the price of silver up to $1.29 per ounce, is proven untrue by the history of silver in this country and in other countries. The silver dollar, as made by the act of 1792, was worth less in the market than a gold dollar, and gold went out of circulation. Our silver dollars were even superceded by the worn, and therefore less valuable, silver coins of other nations, and in 1806 President Jefferson ordered a suspension of the coinage of the dollars. The undervaluation of silver by the law of 1792 was less than one-sixteenth. To remedy the difficulty the law of 1834 changed the ratio to 16 to 1. This ratio slightly undervalued the silver, and it in turn went out of circulation, the commercial ratio being about 15 1/2 to 1. The act of 1837 changed the relative fineness of the two metals, so that the ratio became 15.98 to 1. Still silver continued to be exported. In 1853 the free coinage of coins less than the dollars was stopped, (This was a half "crime") and the amount of silver in these smaller coins was reduced, making them about equal to their bullion value. In the latter part of the fifties both silver and gold went out of circulation, in the face of the less desirable paper currency which came into vogue.

The same old law that the cheaper money will replace the dearer is older than the boy orator, and much more constant. We could not change the value of silver from 1792 to 1834 by the free coinage of silver at 15 to 1, when the real value was 16 to 1. Is it reasonable to suppose we can do it when the value is only 32 to 1?

"Open our mints, a demand will be created for all the silver, and there being no silver upon the market which cannot be converted into money, there will be no silver which can be purchased for less than $1.29 an ounce in gold." Thus said Bryan at Kansas City. A more ridiculous assertion never escaped a Populist's lips.

At a recent meeting of Democrats and Populists in this city, called to organize a silver club, a number of prominent Democrats were present. A proposition to invite Mayor Pen-noyer to The Dalles to win followers to the cause, was under discussion, when a prominent Populist, who evidently thinks Pennoyer is less friendly to the cause than he pretends, expressed the real situation of the Democratic party as follows: "Mr. Chairman, I suggest that we get somebody here who can catch the Republicans; we've got all the Democrats already." The Democrats looked as a dog feels when it is being wagged by its tail.

The farmers of Klickitat are not likely to bring much wheat to The Dalles this fall. The road from the river to the foot of the hill is in very bad condition, and as the report is generally circulated that the boat company has entered into a traffic arrangement with the railroad, there is no encouragement to make the long haul through the sand. Fifty dollars expended in covering the sand with straw would obviate one difficulty. A positive and unequivocal denial on the part of the boat company of the rumor would remove the remaining difficulty. The city cannot afford to lose the business, and the boat company cannot afford to lose the good will of the farmers.

Standard silver dollars are issued by the treasurer for silver certificates and treasury notes of 1890, and are sent, at the expense of the government, in sums or multiples of $500. Upon deposit of an equivalent sum in U. S. currency or national bank notes with any U. S. depository, fractional silver will be sent by express, in sums of $200 or more, at the expense of the government, or by registered mail, at the risk of the consignee, in packages of $50, registration free, to any one in the United States. Yet on July 1, 1896, we had $394,344,019 in silver in the treasury.

Among the poor people who are being stirred up by Bryan to prevent them being enslaved by the gold bugs, are the poor silver mine-owners—John Mackay, Senator Wm. Stewart, J. B. Haggis and W. A. Clark, each forty millionaires; Senator Jones, a twenty-five millionaire, and a dozen other silver mine-owners whose wealth ranges from ten to fifty millions. A man in a glass house should keep his missiles inactive.

Under the unlimited free coinage of silver from 1792 to 1873 we coined in all $143,813,598.70, of which only a little over $8,000,000 was silver dollars. Since 1873, and up to June 30, 1896, we have coined $552,650,744.40, and we have not demonetized gold either.

Where was Sewall then?

Vermont 39,000; Maine 50,000. Next?

But, then, is not Maine a state of money lenders and corporations? Yes, Sewall lives there.

Maine speaks for McKinley 50,000 strong, and no shot guns are used in elections up there, either.

Dissolution Notice.

The partnership heretofore existing between J. C. Meins and J. W. Koontz, in the fruit drying business, is this day dissolved by mutual consent, J. W. Koontz buying J. C. Meins' interest in "The Dalles Fruit Dryer" plant, and he will pay all bills against the firm and collect all accounts due.
