Don't be afraid of lack of room tonight at the McKinley Club meeting. The evenings are not cold yet, and the street is big enough to overflow into. Come one, come all. Everybody come.

A prayer meeting at one of our leading churches last evening might well be compared to a menagerie. The congregation was favored by two leaders, one a Hawk and the other a Parrott.—One of the animals.

A use has been found for sheep bells, sad reminders of a once prosperous past. The city expressmen have entered into a combine and use them to indicate where they are during the dense sand storm of today.

The Arlington Record some time since, gave over its columns to its subscribers to fill, thus placing itself on the fence. A very desultory interest was manifested, the communications being short and few. In its last issue the Record comes out for the Republican ticket.

The Sadie B. comes up through the swift water of the lower river with great ease. The little boat is a screw propeller and though only carrying 100 pounds of steam she ascended the river with as much speed as the The Dalles City. Capt. Wand believes the propeller is the thing for swift water.

A number of old friends surprised Mr. E. S. Joslyn yesterday at the home of Mr. J. R. Warner, the occasion being Mr. Joslyn's 71st birthday. The occasion was very pleasant, except that it marked the farewell perhaps forever of many of his old friends who had assembled at the White Salmon farm.

When the McKinley club meets at the council chambers tonight, a list of about 300 names for the re-organized club will be presented by the president, Mr. F. W. Wilson, which will be a grand and enthusiastic starter for the campaign. The list ought to be doubled before November, and if it is and the balance of the state does as well, Oregon can easily be counted in the McKinley column.

A dispatch from Arlington says: "A young man named Boyer met with a serious, if not fatal, accident at Condon, in this county, last evening. He was working for a threshing crew. In stepping over a tumbling rod, his foot caught and he was wound around the rods. Before the machinery could be stopped the bones of his leg were crushed in a terrible manner. Amputation will be necessary."

There will be a meeting of the Lincoln Republican club of Enderby at the white school house in 8-Mile precinct on Monday evening, Sept. 21st at 7 o'clock, for the purpose of organizing a club under the rules of the Republican league of Oregon. For William McKinley and protection, all those who favor a home market for his products, steady employment for the laborer, to be paid in money as good as gold, are invited to be present.

The A. O. U. W. convened a little earlier than usual last evening and were soon after greeted with a delegation of ladies from the Degree of Honor inviting them to a grand banquet at Herbring's old store across the street from his present location. The occasion was in honor of the visiting grand lodge officers. There were covers placed for 150 guests. The mirth of the evening lasted until nearly 12 o'clock. The excellence of the banquet was never excelled in the city. The grand officers made very interesting addresses and the evening passed all too quickly.

In a Nutshell.

Let us all be thankful that the financial question has at last been finally settled.

It is so easy that anybody might have done it.

All that is needed is that the government of the United States shall agree to pay $1.29 to any one who will bring it 60 cents' worth of silver.

If this is done, our financial troubles will immediately disappear. Prices will advance. Wages will go up. Everybody will have plenty of money. We shall have at once the only perfect financial monetary system known in history.

The age of miracles is not past.—New York World.

This morning, between 8-Mile and The Dalles, a check on Moody's bank in favor of Fred. Drake. Finder will leave same at Moody's bank. s18-2t*

HE BACKED DOWN.

A Blackmailer Brags of an Inamorate and Is Called to Account.

An individual wearing the livery of the Salvation Army was jailed last night, having been arrested on complaint of a man in this city whose daughter he blackmailed. The blackmail consisted in the young man bragging about being possessed of a letter from the girl containing lewd remarks. The father hearing of it, sought the young man and demanded the letter but he could not produce it, and afterward admitted that the letter contained nothing but what was proper. The young man who was so intent upon casting stones at the character of defenseless women, is one of those who has been loudest in gospel shouting and psalm singing on the streets. The girl is an older sister of the one who was the victim in the Lane case the other day, and the father is the same parent who is endeavoring to preserve the honor of his family at the cost of the public exposure it entails. He is entitled to the widest praise for his valiant efforts, and shows the best of judgment in summoning the law to his aid. A blackmailer becomes exposed in all his hideous villainy if the proposed victim refuses to temporize; but, taking the opposite course, endeavors to unmask him. This is the second trouble of this kind that has come to light within a few days, the last more glaring than the first because of the chief actor being so prominent in Salvation Army work.

These are unquestionably some noble men and women in this city who are working in that cause, but it is well known that the "barracks" here are frequented by some of the worst toughs of the city of both sexes, who attend for other purposes than to hear the gospel of the lowly Nazarene. Because of these evil associations innocent girlhood, led there first by curiosity, is in danger of being contaminated and led astray, thereby doing the cause of Christianity more harm than good, for it is easier to maintain virtue than to reclaim it when once lost. The evil may go on in the rear of the room while the tambourine and hymn music is offered to the throne of grace.

The recorder released the young man after giving him a lecture something on the lines above indicated.

A Great Misapprehension.

We are informed by a party who ought to know that the paper circulated by Mr. J. B. Crossen—the list for the formation of a Bryan club—was represented by that gentleman to be a petition for his appointment as register of the land office, pending the inauguration of William Jaybrian. Mr. Crossen has a great many friends in all the parties, but this is a subterfuge, if our informant's remarks are correct, of which we frankly say we could not believe him guilty. There are some 200 members of this supposed Bryan club, and if the least inkling of the deception had been known we fancy the club could not boast of a corporal's guard. It is unfortunate for our friends, the enemy, that they must resort to such a scheme to obtain signatures. O tempora!—O mores!

Who is Hobart Serving?

Whenever Mr. Hobart has been asked to do anything for the D. P. & A. N. Co. he has always puckered up his lips and ejaculated shortly: "Can't be done." The company wanted to use a cable at the incline. "Can't be done," said Hobart. "Must have a stationary engine." The boat company ignored Hobart and put in the cable. Hobart gets $100 a month for hindering the operation of the portage by every means in his power. The money that pays his salary comes supposedly from earnings made by the portage taken in as fares or freights by the boat company, yet he is only studious as to how he can thwart their interests and block their business. On the contrary, whenever the portage can be made to serve the Day Bros. it is so used, and the fact is very noticeable that he is tearing up the track just slow enough to be handy for use by the Day Bros. who are laying a track parallel with it on their own ground. It should be ascertained before long which master Hobart is serving and action taken accordingly.

McKinley Club Tought.

Everyone who believes that prosperous times is contingent upon the election of Major McKinley to the White House and the Republican party to congress should not fail to be present at the council chambers tonight. This does not mean some other fellow, but the reader. No one is too exalted, nor no one too reduced to do honor to that great leader of the hosts pledged to the great principles of protection and sound money—the Republican party. From every hamlet, town and city, let the good news go out that there is no limit to the enthusiasm, no rest for laborers until the party of free trade and free silver is relegated once again to the rear, never again to emerge. Council chambers, 8 o'clock sharp.
