NATIONAL REPUBLICAN TICKET

For President, WILLIAM M'KINLEY, Ohio

For Vice-President, GARRET A. HOBART, New Jersey

For Presidential Electors, T. T. GEER, Marion County; S. M. YORAN, Lane; E. L. SMITH, Wasco; J. F. CAPLES, Multnomah

NEW YORK'S DEMOCRACY.

New York's Democracy has left the Democratic voters in that state in a peculiar dilemma. The Buffalo convention declared for free silver and pledged Bryan its support; it nominated a candidate for governor who finds it necessary to expressly promise to vote for Bryan; but at the same time says he is not in accord with the Chicago convention or the convention which nominated him, on the question of finance. He then, as an apology for his position, declares that the governor of New York has nothing to do with the question of national finances.

The inevitable result will be that every honest Democratic voter in New York, who is opposed to free coinage of silver at 16 to 1, and who votes his ticket, must vote for a man who is allied with a cause and stands upon a platform which he knows to be wrong. By thus voting he must, by implication, endorse what he cannot honestly endorse. In other words, in voting for the man he believes in, he votes for a principle he believes to be dishonest.

On the other hand, every free silver Democratic voter must be working and voting for a man who has heretofore, and now says, that Bryan and his coadjutors are in the wrong. He votes for a principle he believes in, but for a man who declares that principle wrong. The result will be that both Thatcher and Bryan will fail to carry the state. It looks as though Hill and other leaders there were purposely planning to throw Bryan overboard in order to save the state government from the hands of the Republicans.

That McKinley will carry New York is now settled.

The statement has been repeatedly made by Populists and Popocratic newspapers that a rupee would buy the same amount of wheat in India now as in 1873. It is like much of the stuff that is being published, not because it is true, but because the publishers of it think its falsity cannot be shown. The statistics preserved by the government of India show the condition there to be governed, as everywhere, by supply and demand. The amount of wheat which a rupee would purchase in 1893 was 78.2 per cent of the amount it would purchase in 1872, a fall of 22.8. The fall in the United States was about thirty per cent. The fall in price in India from 1872 to 1892 was 81.3. In 1893 India had only 27,950,445 bushels for export, whereas in 1892 she had 56,573,046 for export, which accounts for the rise of 8.5 per cent from 1892 to 1893. There is absolutely no foundation for the rupee argument.

Popocratic newspapers quote McKinley's declaration of 1890, when he said "I am for the largest use of silver in the currency of the country. I would not dishonor it. I would give it equal credit and value with gold," and claim that he was then in favor of free coinage of silver at 16 to 1. They may make their readers believe the construction they put upon those words, but no intelligent man will find anything in that utterance different from Mr. McKinley's latest declaration: "I (the Republican party) will keep in circulation, and as good as gold, all of the silver and paper money which are now included in the currency of the country. It will maintain their parity; it will preserve their equality in the future, as it has always done in the past." The two statements are not only consistent, but are the correct statement of the position of the Republican party now and always.

The silver miners of Leadville have forgotten that Bryan is not yet president. They are unsatisfied with $2.50 per day so long as the silver mines pay large dividends, and they proceed to coerce their employers by burning up property and blowing up buildings and people, who are willing to work at $2.50 per day, with dynamite. The Colorado people are advocating a government which tolerates that kind of "liberty," and they ought not to complain. "Bloody Bridles," Waite, Altgeld and Bryan are all on the same platform, and all have the confidence of Colorado people. These rioting miners should have the good will and support of all who are supporting Bryan, Altgeld and Waite.

Betting is by no means the best criterion of the result of an election; but sporting men keep well informed of the conditions in uncertain localities, and their conclusions are more frequently correct than otherwise. Betting in Portland is now two to one that McKinley will be elected. In New York City the betting is reported to be ten to seven that McKinley will be elected. The fact is, the opinion is becoming very strong everywhere that he who desires to vote for the successful candidate must cast his ballot for McKinley and Hobart.

James Hamilton Lewis keeps his mouth open most of the time nowadays. He, like Bryan, will be fully advised on November 3d that mouthings count for little with intelligent people. It is an old adage, but a true one, that "empty wagons make the most noise."
