WAYSIDE CLEANINGS.

Random Observations and Local Events of Lesser Magnitude.

Mr. J. S. Schenk is putting in a steam heating apparatus at his residence.

A Bryan club was organized in Dufur Friday night last with fifty members.

"A Bowery Girl" is booked for September 30th at the Vogt opera house.

The Wizard Oil Co. show in The Dalles in the early part of next month.

The Dalles McKinley club now numbers 413 members and is growing hourly.

Hon. John Michell left for Goldendale this morning and will deliver a speech there this evening.

Do you want an up-to-date Piano? If so, buy a Ludwig, Jewett, Standard or Hardman at Jacobsen's.

The infant child of Wallace Husbands died yesterday at Mosier, and was buried at that place today.

The Artisans will meet Wednesday night after a summer's vacation. All members should be present.

Richard Palmer came in today with seven horses for sale, which he delivered at Saltmarsh's stock yards.

The Pharmaceutical Association, which was to have met here the 8th and 9th of next month, has been transferred to Portland.

This morning was the coldest of the season. Flowers were withered in various places and ice froze in the flume at the old garrison.

Grand opening and display of millinery on Saturday, Sept. 26th, at Mrs. Phillips', on Washington street. Everybody invited.

Thirty-one new pupils were enrolled in the public schools last week and eighteen the present week. The total now marks 645.

The wheat market is gradually, but surely, rising. The Diamond Flour Mills has been paying from 50 to 52 cents for a week or more.

We announce with pleasure that the Dalles band has been engaged to play at the coming agricultural fair. This will prove a great drawing card.

Mr. Ragdale brought up a band of twenty-two Merino bucks from Mt. Adams on the Regulator last night, which are destined for Sherman county.

Bills are out for a concert by the De-Moss family Tuesday evening at the Congregational church. Make your plans to hear them, for they will be good.

Mr. Francis Clarno was introduced last night by Mr. Story as one of the notification committee of the silver party to acquaint Mr. Bryan of his nomination for president of the United States. This is altogether fitting, Mr. Clarno being a large silver mineowner in Baker county.

Mr. Samuel J. Miller, formerly a fireman on the O. R. & N., and a resident of The Dalles, was married in Butte on Sept. 12th to Miss May Wilson of that city.

An order of sale of the personal property of Perry Watkins, deceased, was made today by Judge Mays. The sale is for the purpose of satisfying claims against the estate.

Mr. J. C. Lonagan is in the city to receive the last of Mr. Robt. Mays' cattle. They will be driven to the Yakima country. Mr. Mellik, to whom they will be sold, is expected in the city shortly.

Spokane is up-to-date and don't want Wing & Son's Pianos. Why should you buy cheap goods when you can get a first-class Piano like the Ludwig, Jewett and Hardman for the same price at Jacobsen's.

Rev. J. H. Wood will preach the usual morning sermon at the M. E. church tomorrow, and in the evening at 7:30 the service will be conducted by the Epworth League, the pastor being unable on account of his recent illness to address his congregation both morning and evening.

Mr. M. P. Isenberg came in today, en route to 8-Mile, where he delivers an address this evening. He says the first he knew he was to speak there was an announcement to that effect in THE CHRONICLE, an additional reason why all good Republicans, particularly Republican speakers, should take the paper and keep posted on themselves.

A very loving Chinese couple has frequently been observed on the streets of late, who pursue their lovemaking un-mindful of the smiles or remarks of the Melican man. They walk along the streets with hands clasped, and in one place where the sidewalk was too narrow to walk abreast each put their arms around the other's waist and proceeded joyfully on. China is in her decrepitude, yet its people seem not to have lost a tittle of the tender passion which, though old, is ever new.

The social at the Methodist church last evening was well named a "social" social, for all were in a particularly happy frame of mind, and the evening was a success financially and otherwise. As each person entered they were given an envelope containing a single line of a quotation, the other parts of which were held by other persons, or in some envelopes questions or answers to conundrums were found. Many of the conundrums were take-offs on persons present, which created a deal of merriment when the answers were found.

DIED.

At Hood River, Sept. 25th, Stephen Price, aged 74 years.

Mr. Price is a pioneer and old resident of Wasco county, an uncle of Mr. C. J. Crandall and step-father of Hon. T. R. Coon. He was well known to all old settlers in this vicinity, and in life universally esteemed.

A BRYAN MEETING.

Messrs. Jeffreys and Clarno Entertain an Audience at the Baldwin.

The Baldwin opera house was well filled last night by citizens to take in the opening of the Democratic-Populist campaign, on which occasion Messrs. F. Clarno and S. T. Jeffreys of Portland were billed to make speeches. Messrs. J. A. Douthitt, J. L. Story and B. H. Thurston were among the number who helped to hold down the platform, which might have risen with remarkable buoyancy during Mr. Clarno's address, had he been under instead of upon it.

Mr. Jeffreys was first introduced by Mr. Story. Mr. Jeffreys has adapted a set of facts with some ingenuity, which he delivers in a halting and disjointed manner, and which at times aroused the cheering of the less thoughtful in his audience. He opened by alleging that the Republicans claimed there was a cloud on the Democratic platform and then set himself industriously at work in clearing away that cloud. This was in reference to the criticism in the Democratic platform against the supreme court for declaring the income tax unconstitutional. Mr. Jeffreys claimed that the dissenting opinions of that court, comprising four out of the nine members, were far more revolutionary in tone than the language contained in the Democratic platform, and citing the oft-repeated assertion that the Republican party once assailed the supreme court in the matter of the Dred Scott decision, in the opinion delivered by Chief Justice Taney. Coming to the financial question, Mr. Jeffreys expatiated on the baneful effects of the rising dollar, and claimed that its upward tendency could only be checked by according to silver the right to be coined freely at the present unnatural ratio of 16 to 1. Continuing from these wrong premises he went on to claim that the money market is congested by reason of large accumulations in the banks, which is consequently withheld from circulation, and that under the condition of falling prices money will not seek investment. He paid his compliments to gold Democrats by saying they were in a worse condition than the falling angels under Lucifer's leadership when assailing heaven's battlements, for the angels found a resting place in hell, while there is no place where a gold Democrat can rest the sole of his foot. Mr. Jeffreys neglected to suggest that the gold Democrats have a safe, secure and honorable footing in the ranks of the great party which is now endeavoring to preserve the country's honor and prevent the debasement of its currency.

Mr. Clarno followed. His remarks were pointless and lacked even the force of the speaker preceding. Mr. Clarno's avoidpous is no less puffed up than his own estimation of himself. He swelled and strutted the stage like a turkey cock, appealing mainly to prejudice against the rich. Lacking the information necessary to discuss the situation from his party's standpoint, he made up in bluster what he conspicuously lacked in brains. The only impression left this morning which is tangible, is his unruly boisterousness; but as for scoring a point from the realms of history, experience or logic, never. He was witty in a coarse way and offensively satirical, which at times drew forth applause. While this had a tendency to swell him, he did not actually burst, and the audience was saved the painful sight which such a catastrophe might have presented.

Uniforms for the McKinley Club.

The McKinley club is getting down to business in good shape. This morning the executive committee, consisting of Messrs. Riddell, Chrisman, Farley and Jacobsen, telegraphed to New York city, for 100 handsome uniforms, which it is hoped will arrive in time for next Friday night. One hundred capes go with the uniforms, and a like number of leggings, while 100 torches will light the long procession, which will march every Friday evening, or whenever a speaker comes from abroad. Additional enthusiasm will be lent by a fife and drum corps, which is also being organized, and most likely a company of beautiful Zouaves will be ready to accompany their brothers, lovers and husbands on the occasional parades. The uniforms and accessories leave New York City for The Dalles this evening by the Adams Express Co.

McKinley Club Meeting.

At the regular meeting of the McKinley club last night the several committees were announced as they appeared in last night's CHRONICLE.

The committee on meetings were instructed to secure the court house each Friday evening until the end of the campaign, to notify the state committee to that effect and to arrange for speakers accordingly.

It was also decided to secure the Vogt opera house next Friday evening for Senator J. H. Mitchell.

Notwithstanding the Democratic meeting at the Baldwin, there were fifty or sixty citizens in attendance, who were addressed by Messrs. John Michell, B. S. Huntington and Hugh Gourlay in some very forcible speeches.
