Never was a more grievous wrong done the farmers of our country than that so unjustly inflicted during the past three years upon the wool growers. Although among our most useful citizens, their interests have been practically destroyed. —McKinley's letter of acceptance.

BISMARCK MISREPRESENTED.

THE CHRONICLE suggested some weeks ago that no party can afford to prevail in this struggle through deception or misrepresentation; the result of election to office by such methods at this time means a condition hereafter little better than revolution. We believe the same suggestion applies to success by means of appeals to passion and prejudice, for this is but another and more despicable method of deception. In all these respects Mr. Bryan's campaign has been most unfortunate. His example of so stating partial truths as that false inferences will be drawn from them, is followed by all his advocates, many of whom go farther than he sees fit to go. A marked example of this is now disclosed with respect to Bismarck's letter to Governor Culberson. The original letter is now published in the language in which it was written, with a translation accurate and wholly unlike Culberson's version. The following is the letter as correctly translated for the World by Judge Julius Schutze, editor of the Texas Vorwaerts:

FRIEDRICHSHUB, Aug. 24, 1896.
HONORED SIR: Your esteemed favor of July 1st has been received. I have always had a predilection for bimetalism, but while I was in office would not consider myself infallible in opposition to experts. I believe to this day that it would be commendable to obtain, by endeavors of those nations chiefly engaged in the world's commerce, an agreement in the direction of bimetalism. The United States are, in political economy, less hampered by their government than any one of the European states, and, if North America should find it compatible with its interests to take a substantial step in the direction of bimetalism, I believe that such step would exert a beneficial influence upon the establishment of international agreement and the union of the European states. Assuring you of my highest respect, I am your most obedient servant.
V. BISMARCK.

It will be observed that the whole letter was garbled and erroneously translated by Culberson. Bismarck did not write: "I hold that this is the very hour that would be advisable to bring about between the nations chiefly engaged in the world's commerce a mutual agreement in favor of the establishment of bimetalism. The United States are freer by far in their movements than any nation of Europe, and hence, if the people of the United States should find it compatible with their interests to take independent action in the direction of bimetalism, I cannot but believe that such action would exert a most salutary influence upon the consummation of international agreement," as Culberson claimed.

Mr. Bryan has been misled thus into misrepresenting one of the great statesmen of the world. He may have been innocent in so doing, but it will cost him many a vote.

The grape industry in Wasco county is in its infancy. Two years ago a German who was familiar with the vine-producing countries of Europe came up the river by boat, and while wondering at the grandeur of the scenery commented with surprise that our hillsides were not utilized for grape culture. When the peculiarities of our climate were described he declared that the day was not distant when the Columbia river valley east of the Cascades would be the great vineyard of the world. A few days ago a gentleman from Southern California purchased and shipped from Grant, twenty-six miles east of The Dalles, a carload of grapes, which he pronounced as fine as ever weighted a vine or pleased a palate. We have a few vineyards now, but not sufficient to make carload shipments. We have near us, both east and west, an extensive country, containing a large population, in which to market them, and there is no reason, unless it be lack of knowledge as to how to do it, why we should not utilize our hills and make them profitable.

A most excellent service for law and order was done at Joseph Thursday by the young man who killed one bank robber and wounded another. This will have a very strong tendency to discourage young men from entering the bank robbers' premises. It takes away the romance to be shot down, saying nothing of the profits.

The convention which nominated McClellan declared the war a failure, and so it will have been to a very large degree if the policy advocated by Altgeld, Penoyer and Bryan as to national supremacy shall now be adopted by the American people.

In 1880 our whole public debt, national, state and municipal, was $60.73 per capita, and in 1890 it was but $2.37. In 1880 the amount of property per capita was $870, in 1890 $1039.
