WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Random Observations and Local Events of Lesser Magnitude.

Mr. Ferguson has taken charge of the transfer at the Locks.

J. K. Weatherford speaks tonight at the Baldwin opera house for Bryan and Sewall.

A bright boy or young man can learn something to his advantage by calling at THE CHRONICLE office.

Mrs. Phillips has just returned with the latest novelties in millinery and will have them on exhibition this evening, and a cordial invitation is extended to all.

Sheds are to be built in Eugene under which the farmer may put his horses for shelter, when he goes to town. A small change will be made for the use of the shed.

A fine-looking deer was hung up in front of The Dalles Commission Co's store this morning. The hunter who supplied it says he can furnish 20 a week if desired. He has found where they are plenty of them.

The irrigating canal on the west side of Hood river valley is nearing completion, and will furnish water for irrigating that whole section. The canal will carry 2000 inches of water, and was constructed at an expense of $20,000.

Mr. Henry Yorke, on a recent trip, went to sleep with the right side of his face exposed to the draught from an open car window, which resulted next morning in facial paralysis on that side of his face. He is under treatment of Dr. Hollister.

Don't fail to see that great entertainment to be held next Saturday afternoon at the Baldwin. Miss Grubbs arrived from Portland last night and is to put it on the boards for St. Paul's guild. It will well repay every lady to attend, judging from what is promised.

John Martin, of Joseph, thinks he has the jock on the robbers that robbed the bank there last week, as he had gone into the bank to make a deposit, having $25 in an envelope, and when ordered to hold up his hands held the envelope up in plain view, but they let him keep it.

A surprise party was successfully carried out last evening at Mr. W. E. Sylvester's, the surprised party being Miss Nelle Sylvester. The guests met at 7:30 at Mr. Webster's and proceeded to the house. The principal game of the evening was charades, after which a dainty supper was served.

One of the prettiest show windows in town at the present time is that of Harry C. Liebe. Fine jewelry always makes a brilliant display, but the arrangement and variety in the window spoken of shows excellent taste. The display is enhanced by six bicycle prizes, two of gold and four of silver which are in a neat glass case by themselves. These medals show the perfection of the jeweler's art and will be the envy of the fortunate possessors.

The third annual convention of the Wasco county Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor meets at Dufur this evening and continues over tomorrow. The president of the society, Mr. Alfred Hoering, Miss Etta Story, Mr. E. H. Merrill, Rev. A. D. Skaggs, Mr. D. H. Roberts and Mrs. C. E. Bayard, all of The Dalles, are scheduled to take part in the program.

Judge L. R. Webster of Portland and Hon. M. P. Isenberg of Hood River arrived on the local today and will address the citizens of Dufur this evening. From there Judge Webster will go to Kingsley, Tygh, Wamie and Wapinitia, thence back to The Dalles, when we hope to be fortunate enough to hear him at the opera house.

Fred Wheeler, a Corvallis barber, while out pheasant hunting was attacked by an angry hog. In self-defense he shot the animal. The sow had a litter of pigs, and Wheeler was made to pay $20 for the sow and pigs, as the farmer said the pigs were of no value without their mother. Wheeler has the pigs and proposes to get his money back.

Under the heading of "A Representative Bryan Man," the Oregonian prints a fac simile letter from one S. Johnson of Oregon City, as follows: "H. Scott, Dear Sir—Knowing you to be the biggest lyre on the face of the earth your story of Byron insanity is enough to gag an ass if you think that you make any converts for Mark Hanna by lying about Mr. Bryen that where you ar of your nuts he will carry Oregon buy 2000 this fall."

A very pleasant meeting of the Taine class was held at the residence of Mrs. E. M. Wilson last night. The books for the winter's readings have not yet arrived, and each of the members contributed something in the way of a reading from our best authors or a sketch from their lives. During the evening Mrs. C. W. Taylor kindly sang two very pretty solos, which were highly appreciated by the members. Mrs. W. C. Curtis will entertain the class at their next meeting.

Hon. Richard J. Monroe.

Miss Kate Craig is in Lewiston, Idaho, where she went about two weeks ago to attend the funeral of her half brother, Richard A. Monroe, who died at Lewiston Thursday, Sept. 24th. Mr. Monroe was well known to the citizens of The Dalles, having lived here for several years subsequent to 1851.

Deceased was a charter member of Nez Perce Lodge No. 10, of which he was Worshipful Master in 1881-2, and he was High priest of Lewiston chapter No. 4, R. A. M., and was also a 14 degree Scottish Rite Mason. He was a charter member of Clearwater Lodge No. 11, A. O. U. W., in which he held a beneficiary certificate for $2,000.

Richard James Monroe was born in Florida, on Christmas day, 1836. A few months after his birth, his father, who was an army surgeon, was killed in an Indian engagement. His mother returned to Boston, Mass., and a few years later married Dr. Craig, also a surgeon in the U. S. army. They were stationed at different points in Maine, Michigan and Wisconsin until 1851, when Craig was ordered to The Dalles, Or., coming by way of the Isthmus of Panama, where several of his children died of cholera. After leaving the service he and his stepson, the subject of this sketch, engaged in the drug business at The Dalles. In 1855 Mr. Monroe volunteered in Company B, 1st regiment Oregon Volunteers, and served in the Cayuse war until its close, and also in a campaign against the Mormons in Utah.

From 1860 to 1867 he was engaged in freighting and merchandising in various sections contiguous to Lewiston, coming to that place as early as 1856. In 1867 he went into the drug business in Lewiston, and in 1871 he was appointed register of the Lewiston land office by President Grant. He was reappointed by Presidents Hayes and Harrison and in all served about eighteen years in this position, longer than any other official ever served in this department of the government. He was a member of the last Idaho legislature and had served several terms as mayor of the city of Lewiston.

On account of his death the public schools were adjourned and the teachers and pupils attended the funeral in a body.

Hymenial.

Married by W. C. Curtis, pastor of the Congregational church of this city, on Monday evening, Oct. 5th, at the residence of the bride's mother at Murray Springs, Sherman county, John N. Fordyce of Portland and Miss Huguena M. McDonald.

The ceremony was followed by a bountiful repast and a social evening, such as has made the old home famous. Both parties were formerly residents of The Dalles, and their numerous friends, while extending their hearty congratulations, will be glad to learn of their intention to make this city their home for the present.

One or two gentlemen may secure room in private family, with or without board. Address L. E. A., Lock box 221. sep25-d1w

Chaff of the Campaign.

There was never yet a political campaign but that some comical stories were told and THE CHRONICLE can vouch for the truth of the following:

The other day a well known rancher with a stump leg drove into Hood River and he was whooping it up for Bryan. In the exuberance of his joy, he elevated the wooden stump above the dashboard and waved it to an admiring crowd as he crowded for his champion. A grizzled veteran across the street was sitting on a chair reading the Oregonian, his feet on a level with his head, and resting against a lamp post. Down came the fore legs of his chair with a jar that shook the sidewalk, and over the top of the paper peered the stern gray eyes, which snapped their indignation through the glasses, as he shouted "That's right, you poor fool, shout for the party that cut your leg off!"

Sheriff Driver was puzzled the other day to make out whether a man was crazy or just playing it. He had about decided that his mind was all right, when he chanced to ask him who he was going to vote for. "Bryan," said the poor fellow. "Crazy as a loon," was Driver's next comment. He sent for a physician to make the examination, and sure enough the fellow was found to be non compos mentis. He is in Salem now.

County Clerk Kelsey is a Republican ever ready to champion Republican principles. He was never "knocked out" until the other day when talking to a Populist who was shouting for the restoration of the silver dollar. Kelsey asked him to explain himself. What did he mean by "restore?"

"Well," said the Pop, "suppose I take 10 bushels of potatoes out of my celler, and the next day I put them back. Ain't that re-storing them?" Kelsey was speechless.
