

OVERWORK —INDUCED— Nervous Prostration

Complete Recovery by the Use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"Some years ago, as a result of too close attention to business, my health failed. I became weak, nervous, was unable to look after my interests, and manifested all the symptoms of a decline. I took three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, began to improve at once, and gradually increased my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to two hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I believe my children would have been fatherless today had it not been for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, of which preparation I cannot say too much."—H. O. HINSON, Postmaster and Planter, Kinard's, S. C.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. C. C. Hobart is in town from the Locks.
Mr. Hugh Gourlay went to Lyle this morning.
Mr. J. A. Douthitt went to Portland this afternoon.
Mr. E. L. Korten returned from Portland last evening.
Mr. R. Hendricks of Nansene was in the city yesterday.
Mr. E. E. Lytle returned from Portland this morning.
Miss Katie Davenport arrived in the city from Mosier today.
Mrs. J. A. Douthitt and children left for Portland this morning.
Mrs. Thornton returned to her home in White Salmon this morning.
Mr. W. P. Vanbibber returned from Portland on the local train today.
Mr. and Mrs. Gillett of Astoria returned this morning on the Regulator.
Mrs. John Michell and daughter, Mand, left for Portland this morning.
Mrs. Robt. Denmore of Mosier, who has been visiting in the city, returned on the Regulator this morning.
Mrs. Campion and Mrs. Mason, who visited friends in the city last evening, returned to Portland this morning.
Mr. F. W. Wilson returned last evening from Salem, where he has just been admitted to the bar. Mr. Wilson is a young man of much intellectual vigor, is widely and favorably known and we predict a brilliant career for him when he sees fit to engage in the practice of law.
Gen. Geo. H. Williams arrived on the local train today. The venerable gentleman appears to be in the best of health and was much gratified to shake hands with many of his old friends. He will remain over Sunday and will be the guest of Mr. B. S. Huntington. He then goes to Boise City, where he delivers an address Wednesday night.

A Raspberry Ice Cream.

The most delicious ice creams are those flavored with fruit juices or fruit pulps. They do not usually contain eggs; therefore, they are more like a sherbet than a regular ice cream, except that milk or cream or part of both are substituted for the water used in a sherbet. Raspberry cream is one of the most delightful of these light creams. Boil two quarts of raspberries with a pint of sugar for ten minutes. Strain off the juice and squeeze the pulp out of the raspberry. Add it slowly to a pint of boiling milk. Freeze this mixture. When it is cooled, and just before it is ready to pack away, add a pint of cream beaten to a stiff froth. Pack the cream away for three hours and it will be ready to serve. A delicate white cake, flavored with bitter almonds, is an excellent accompaniment to this cream. A cream made of an equal quantity of chopped pineapple, cooked in a pint of sugar and strained, or of peaches, may be used. Strain the pineapple or the peaches through a puree sieve that will allow all the fruit pulp to pass through.—N. Y. Tribune.

You'll be surprised when you try Hoe Cake soap, and wish we had told you sooner. It is made by patented process.

WENT TO A BRIAN MEETIN'.

man in this vast awdense kin tell what the ratio between the two metals means." I thot that was bitin' the Brian club purty hard, but I sed nothin'. He then went on about the crime of '73, an' cuttin' the hed of silver, an' natur fixen the ratio in the earth, an' capitaliste coinin' gold and raisin' its value so it was no standard any more, for if it was it would be just the same amount all the time.

So after I cum home I wuz tellin' Betsy about it as we sot warmin' our feet before goin' to bed and I sed I thot the slick feller had made a purty good pint, an' that I half believed he was right. She sot bitin' her nails 'till I wuz thro', an' then she sed, "James, you are a greater cedyit then I give you credit fur." Why, what have I dun now, ses I? "When I used to send you to the store last spring," ses she, "you got from 12 1/2 to 15 cents for eggs. Then when the grasshoppers hatched out and got in good condishun, the hens commenced to lay like all creation an' eggs went down kerslap to 6 cents." I commenced to sink down in my cher 'till there seemed nothin' left of me. And she sed, "What changed the purchasin' power of money in that case?" An' I faltered out, "I gess it wuz the grasshoppers." "Yes," ses she, "an' that slick feller had better make the grasshopper his standard of value." "Well, Betsy," ses I, "I wuzn't the only fool in the house. The hole awdense had ther mouths open, an' when that feller made that pint, ther jaws closed with a snap, as if they had cut somethin', an' they hollered and yeld for Brian and free silver." Ses she, "There'l be no word of this in the mornin' and you had better go to bed and I will hunt up a gargon for you." So I went to bed an' dreamed I saw that slick chap tryin' to catch a grasshopper and with it to measure the pribe of a razor-back hog. This is all this time from the corner.

SPECTATOR.

THE "WAGO OWANHAN."

A Mysterious Light That Hangs in West Virginia Canyon.
An old-time West Virginia wonder is again causing quite a discussion among the reading and thinking people of Wyoming and adjoining counties. The "wonder" referred to is the mysterious light which has been known since times almost prehistoric as the "Wago Owanhan."
This phenomenal light, says the St. Louis Republic, appears to emanate from a certain spot on the precipitous sides of the great Pat Wess canyon. It casts its ghostly sheen across the waters of the river, lighting the surroundings not with a "sickly, pale, white light," but with a phosphorescent glow of sufficient brightness to make the reading of a newspaper or a book possible on the darkest night. According to some investigators of the "Wago Owanhan" the light does not emanate from any spot on the canyon's side, but hangs out over the river, like a luminous cloud or fog. This appears to have been the case at the time when Prof. Tohluri and Mr. L. E. Christian—the latter of Oceana, W. Va.—visited the spot. On the 15th and 16th of last February an expedition, headed by Mr. Christian, again visited the "Wago Owanhan." Snow was falling rapidly at the time, and Mr. Christian says that every flake, when it reached a height of about 200 feet above the water, "would blaze out with dazzling brightness" and remain luminous until it reached the surface. A scientific investigation of the phenomenon will be made.

SETTLED IN NOVA SCOTIA.

Colonial Americans Who Early Made Their Homes in Canada.
Many loyalists, particularly from New England, had fled to Nova Scotia before the close of the war, and settled on the spot where the city of St. John now stands. This gave one objective point, at any rate, says Macmillan's Magazine, to the much larger band of exiles who at the peace were forced to seek new homes at short notice; and in a single year the new settlements grew to some 13,000 souls. Men of all classes flocked there, officers and soldiers, clergymen and lawyers, farmers, mechanics and merchants. They were naturally much above the average of ordinary emigrants, both in character, education and intelligence; but all, or nearly all, were equally destitute and forced to begin the battle of life afresh. A year later New Brunswick was separated from Nova Scotia, endowed with a council and home assembly, and the capitol moved to the present site at Fredericton.
The first council included many well-known New England names, such as Putnam, Winslow, Allen and Willard. It included, also, a late judge of the supreme court of New York, another distinguished lawyer of that colony, and several officers of the loyal regiments. Both the New York and the Virginia branch of the Robinsons, one of the wealthiest and most influential families in colonial America, were here represented, and to this day are conspicuous in upper Canada.

It May Do as Much for You.

Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a severe kidney trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so called kidney cures but without any good result. About a year ago he began to use Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to cure of all Kidney and Liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Price 50c and $1.00. At Blakeley & Houghton's Drug Store.

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Cailloutte, Druggist, Bearersville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life! Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial at Blakeley & Houghton's Drug Store.

None But Ayer's at the World's Fair.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla enjoys the extraordinary distinction of having been the only blood purifier allowed on exhibit at the world's fair, Chicago. Manufacturers of other sarsaparillas sought by every means to obtain a showing of their goods, but they were all turned away under the application of the rule forbidding the entry of patent medicines and nostrums. The decision of the world's fair authorities in favor of Ayer's Sarsaparilla was in effect as follows: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a patent medicine. It does not belong to the list of nostrums. It is here on its merits."
