JUDGE WILLIAMS' ADDRESS.

The people of Oregon have confidence in Judge Williams, and their confidence is well placed. When Pennoyer and the leading advocates of Bryanism in this state were denouncing the war, Mr. Lincoln, General Grant and all the men and policies of the Union party, Judge Williams was devoting all his energies to the upholding of the Union cause in this state and elsewhere. When the northern secessionists were declaring the war was a failure and doing all in their power to make it so, Judge Williams was laboring in the senate and in the president's cabinet to complete the preservation of the union, which the war had saved. These facts lead the people of the state to look upon him as a wise counselor and a true patriot.

The large audience which listened to him with the closest possible attention at the opera house Saturday evening were not disappointed in their great expectations. His address was a model in force, eloquence and wisdom. With much of the nation's history, which has been so maligned and misrepresented in this campaign, Judge Williams was personally identified. Except Senator Sherman, he is, we believe, the only surviving senator who was in the senate when the act of 1873 was introduced; he labored and voted for its passage, and when it finally reached the president for approval Judge Williams was the legal adviser of the president. He therefore speaks with authority when he says that all the talk about this act having been passed surreptitiously is absolutely and wickedly false. If there was a conspiracy Judge Williams was one of the chief conspirators, and no one who listened to him Saturday evening will ever doubt the verity of his word in respect to this matter.

The people of Wasco county cannot afford to disregard the advice and wise counsel of this venerable jurist and statesman; they will not do so, and on November 3d next they will cast a vote which will rebuke the demagogery, the appeals to prejudice, and the unpatriotic declarations of Bryan and Pennoyer.

If the campaign continued a few weeks longer Bryan would have absolutely nothing to talk about. The conspiracy nonsense has been shown up, and no honest Popocrat dares mention it. The incorrectness of his claim that free coinage will advance the price of all the silver in the world to $1.29 per ounce has been demonstrated; the inconsistency of his claim that free coinage will give a cheap dollar and at the same time raise silver to $1.29 per ounce, has been pointed out; his false translation of the Bismarck letter has been proven, and there is now nothing left him but his denunciation of the bankers. On this subject he might possibly talk on forever, but no one pays any attention to that any longer. He has talked himself to his political death already, and he ought to quit lest his natural death follows.

The great prophet of Popocracy in Oregon, the man who told Cleveland to mind his own business, told the people of Wasco county that the wool industry needs no protection and that he feels as he says Randolph once said: "Every time I see a sheep I feel like kicking the damned brute." The people of Wasco county will tell Pennoyer, three weeks from next Tuesday, to mind his own business, with a very strong emphasis. But Pennoyer expressed just exactly what Bryan would say if he expressed his sentiments—just what he has many times said. Pennoyer is the most consistent supporter of Bryan in the state of Oregon today.

Cleveland's majority in Georgia in 1892 was 81,056. The Democrats now claim to have carried the state by 36,190. This reminds us of Maine, only in the case of Georgia a minus sign should precede the statement of the gain. The loss is only 44,866. Yet Senator Butler says the outlook for Bryan and free silver is much better than it was ten days ago. This is one of the senator's grim jokes.

The Republicans of Wasco county are awake. The work of this campaign is being well done, and the effect of it will be demonstrated on November 3rd. We congratulate those who had charge of the great demonstration and meeting Saturday evening. We suggest that when Mr. Schoonmaker of New Jersey is here on Oct. 20th we do so some more.

At the Republican primaries at Cleveland, O., last week the votes cast reached the surprising total of 25,326, which is double the figures of one year ago. At the Popocratic primaries in the same city the aggregate of votes was only 3700. This is a straw indicating that Maine and Vermont will have to look to their laurels.

Blessings never come singly. We had the greatest political demonstration Wasco county ever saw Saturday evening, and a generous rain at the same time. Both were much needed; both very welcome, and both did the whole country much good.
