WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Random Observations and Local Events of Lesser Magnitude.

News was received of the death last night near Dufur of an old gentleman named Campbell.

The Denver Times-Sun announces its bimetallic principles by a streak of golden yellow through the center of each page in its last issue.

The fall rains are holding off late this year. It is time to begin fall plowing, but the ground is yet too dry in most places to admit of its attempt.

Dr. I. D. Driver will address the citizens of Cascade Locks on the political issues of the day Saturday evening, October 17, at 7:30, at Leavens' hall.

There will be a regular meeting of the McKinley club this evening at the court house. A full attendance is requested by the president, Mr. L. E. Crowe.

Judge Bradshaw and Attorney Jayne leave in the morning for Prineville to attend circuit court. The principal criminal trial is Campbell who killed Swearingen on the 4th of July last.

Chas. Hilton is in receipt of a letter from a fellow delegate to the St. Louis convention, who lives in West Virginia, stating that his state will give McKinley at least 5000 majority, and that his majority may run up to 1500.

The beautiful silver set of 27 pieces was won last evening by Mr. Louis Mayer, and the four piece silver table set by Mr. Henzie. A silver water pitcher worth $25 is to be given away tonight, and another diamond ring.

Gen. Benjamin Butterworth of Ohio made a great speech in Portland last evening. Thousands were unable to gain admission to the Marquam Grand, and a monstrous overflow meeting was addressed by Hon. Rufus Mallory.

In those sections of the state where the fruit crops were unsuccessful (namely in western portions), the loss is partly compensated in the increased growth and vigor of the trees, which is important, since there are a large number of young orchards.

A $2800 gold brick was brought into Grant's Pass the other day, by King and McComber from their Williams creek mine, the Oregon Bonanza. The treasure was the result of crushing twenty-seven tons of rock, and they netted over $100 to the ton.

Homer Davenport, the Silverton boy now reputed to be drawing $1000 a week on the New York Journal, is dealt this cruel thrust by the Washington Post: "We are confident that when election day dawns united labor will go to the polls and vote a stinging rebuke to Cartoonist Davenport. His pictures of Mr.

Hanna are terrible." Homer Davenport is a cousin of Mr. R. G. Davenport, of The Dalles CHRONICLE. While the latter admires his cousin's artistic ability, he does not approve of the course he is pursuing in the above regard. The CHRONICLE Davenport is an ardent McKinley man.

William Holder, sheriff of Sherman county, and William Hendricks, clerk of the same county, were in Portland yesterday. Both are Republicans, and, while admitting that the vote of Sherman county will be close next month, they look for a small plurality for McKinley.

Encouraging reports continue to come from the country precincts for the cause of Republicanism, and the prospect of McKinley's success in Marion Co. grows brighter as election day approaches. In addition to the six dozen uniforms and torches of the Salem Flambeau Club, 600 more torches have been ordered.

Mrs. Shane's Work for the Refuge Home at Portland.

Mrs. Shane left last evening for Pendleton, La Grande, Baker City and other Eastern Oregon points in the interest of the Florence Crittenton Mission Home in Portland. She has been in the city three days, having received several contributions here. Mrs. Shane has taken the most active interest in this cause of any lady in Portland.

For years there has been a home of this sort in the city of Portland, having been nominally called the "Refuge Home" for unfortunate girls. Most of these have come from the country, and in the home there have been several mothers of only 14 years of age. The number of pronouncedly fallen women seeking their home have been comparatively few. When Mr. Crittenton went to Portland, where he held a series of meetings, he endowed $1,500 upon it, later giving it $500 more, and raising an additional $500 from sympathizers in the cause, and the name was changed to the Florence Crittenton home.

Lately there has been some trouble caused on the part of a Mr. Bancroft, by citing to a certain clause in an act by the legislature in reference to the home. The legislature provided an annual sum for the benefit of the home, and Mrs. W. S. Ladd of Portland gave an acre of ground in the suburbs, upon which a permanent building was to be erected. The yearly state allowance seems to be contingent upon the home being built upon Mrs. Ladd's gift of land. The temporary structure existing on premises adjacent to Mr. Bancroft's home, to the annoyance of himself and family, he cited the clause in the legislative act to harass the home by withdrawing the provision made by the state. The difficulty consisted in the unavailability of using the land for the purpose intended. It was covered with a dense growth of trees, was distant from the city lights and streets, and had no means of ingress or egress. Mrs. Shane is now trying to secure funds to clear the land, make a road to it, and erect a temporary building, so that the annual sum donated by the state may be secured.

The Baptist Convention.

THURSDAY, OCT. 15.

The first session opened at 10 a. m. with one hour of devotional exercises led by the president, Elder J. E. Horn. It was a meeting of deep interest, and profitable to all.

At 11 the opening sermon was preached by E. P. Waltz of Baker City, from I Cor. xxii:18-19; subject, "God With Us."

A committee on enrollment was then appointed, consisting of Elder Waltz, Deacon Snelling of North Yakima and Deacon Thos. Johns of The Dalles. Adjourned until 2 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Convened at 2 o'clock with president in the chair. Prayer by Elder Harper. The committee reported on credentials and the election of officers, which resulted in making President Horn his own successor, Elder J. H. Miller vice-president, Elder E. P. Waltz secretary, and S. S. Johns auditor.

President Horn then made a speech of thanks for the honor again conferred upon him by the convention, followed by the vice-president and secretary.

The pastor of the Calvary Baptist church of The Dalles then spoke a very few words of welcome to the convention, after which the president called upon the general missionary to respond. He did so in a few appropriate words.

The committee on devotion was appointed, consisting of the pastor and messengers of Calvary church.

The following committees were then appointed: On Home Missions, Foreign Missions, Convention Missions, Sunday Schools, Intemperance, Education, Systematic Benevolence, Religious Literature, Place and Preacher for Next Annual Meeting.

EVENING SESSION.

At 7 o'clock prayer service began, led by Deacon Crowley.

At the close of the exercise the president announced the different committees. Elder R. Y. Blalock, of New Home church, took the pulpit and read a part of Matthew xiv, taking for his text the 24th verse, "But the ship was now in the midst of the sea, tossed with the waves."

Vice-President Miller took the chair and Deacon Boyd led in closing prayer. Adjourned.

FRIDAY MORNING.

Friday morning's session began at 9 o'clock with prayer service, led by Deacon Neece of Moro.

At 9:30 President Horn took the chair, and the opening prayer was offered by Deacon W. C. Alloway. The minutes of yesterday's work were read by the secretary, Elder Waltz, and adopted.

Some discussion arose over the Church Edifice Fund Association.

The committee on education reported, which called forth an interesting discussion, participated in by Elders Miller, Mattoon, Oliver, A. J. Ownbey, Holloman and Shearman. The discussion was discontinued at 11 o'clock, and a sermon was delivered by Elder J. M. Lawson from the text "I beseech you therefore, my brethren, that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called;" Eph. iv:1.

The discussion on education was again taken up at the close of the sermon, and the report on education was amended by adding a section opposing national appropriations of money to sectarian schools. The vote was taken and adopted unanimously.

Adjourned. The delegation in attendance is less than it would have been but for the stringency of finances; but there are about fifty in attendance. The elders present are: C. H. Mattoon, W. H. Shearman, J. W. Oliver, F. J. Jacronx, R. Y. Blalock, E. W. Holloman, E. H. Freddenburg, J. M. Lawson, I. J. Harper, E. P. Waltz, J. E. Horn and J. H. Miller.

Mitchell at Dufur.

The speech of Senator Mitchell last evening constituted the biggest event in Dufur of the campaign. Citizens from all over the county assembled in the public hall there to the number of 500. Ten were present from The Dalles. We are told that upon this occasion Senator Mitchell was at his best. At times he was interrupted by questions. Some of them were evidently stated to disconcert him, but his replies were so ready, so forcible, and so entirely satisfactory to the audience, that these tactics were soon abandoned. There was a manifest intention early in the speech on the part of the Bryan forces to turn it into a Bryan meeting, but unfortunately for them, the effort was reactionary and the meeting proved to be the most enthusiastic Republican event of the campaign. At times the cheering was tremendous, and as point after point was scored by our brainy senator, the enthusiasm grew until it reached the boiling point. When the senator asked for an expression of the minds of the audience, a conservative estimate places the number who rose for McKinley as from two-thirds to three-fourths of the whole number.
