Continues to Attract.

A larger audience than ever visited the Vogt opera house last evening, being the fourth consecutive night of the Wizard Oil Co. Through a mistake, the shipment of Wizard Oil which was to have come to The Dalles went to Hillsboro. The manager's talk was therefore short on that subject and there will be none tonight. The diamond ring was won by Miss Emma Fisher, and is a beauty. Another one is to be given away tonight. The juggling of Mr. McCoy created surprise by the variety of his accomplishments. Last evening he played a difficult and beautiful mandolin selection while balancing a gun upon his chin. The usual performance, "only different" was given by the other performers, and made some good hits. Among the prettiest musical novelties was the operatic selections upon the cut glasses, which had a charm peculiarly its own.

Obituary.

Died, near this city, Oct. 13, 1896, Mary Ann, beloved wife of James Sherrill, aged 63 years.

She leaves a husband, two sons and two daughters, who greatly mourn her loss. She was an exemplary Christian, loving companion, devoted mother and kind neighbor. She was married to James Sherrill at the age of 19. They were blessed with eight children, four of which have preceded their mother to the realms of bliss. Their eldest son, Mr. H. Sherrill, is a resident of Harriburg, Or.; eldest daughter, Mrs. A. Barcus, lives near Vancouver, Wash.; youngest son, Mr. G. Sherrill, lives near The Dalles, Or.; youngest daughter, Mrs. E. Prigh, near The Dalles, Or. All were present at her bedside during a part of her sickness, which was six weeks of great suffering; but she bore it all with patience and Christian fortitude, trusting in Jesus to the last. Her husband, who was converted two years previous to her death, has been walking by her side ever since, in the foot steps of Jesus, which has added much happiness to her latter days. I would not attempt to describe the glory that filled her soul the day he was converted—when he returned from the campmeeting and told her on the threshold that he was fasting with Jesus. Her comforts were administered to by the untiring efforts of her family and friends, among whom were Mrs. J. Taylor and Mrs. T. Morgan, who spared no pains in making her last days as comfortable as possible. May God bless them for their kindness. She was laid to rest in 8-Mile cemetery by a large concourse of loving friends.

Don't mourn my loved companions,
The time will not be long
Till we'll be reunited.
And sing redemption's song.

Just look away to Jesus,
He never will forsake.
You will not disappoint me,
I'll watch the peary gate.

My children, trust in Jesus,
Your mother's precious friend,
He'll guide you through life's journey,
And keep you to the end.

Oh lean upon his promise,
He'll soothe your aching breast,
Come follow in his pathway,
And you will find sweet rest.

Oh Jesus, bless my darlings,
And give them grace to stand;
Just guide them o'er life's billows,
Into the glory land.

Mrs. A. C. T.

BISMARCK'S ADVICE.

Is It Unprejudiced, and Can We Afford to Follow It?

Mr. Bryan appears to set great store by the letter which Governor Culberson of Texas has received from Prince Bismarck. The "people's friend" is willing to receive advice from the "Man of Blood and Iron," and the "champion of the American farmer" listens to that famous friend of American agriculture who shut the German ports to American pork in 1884 and to American potatoes in 1885, and who would gladly have united all central Europe in a Customs league aimed directly against all American produce. Bismarck's rather diplomatic letter is taken by Mr. Bryan in his recent speeches to favor the free coinage of silver by the United States. The devotion of Chancellor Bismarck to the cause of silver may be seen in the following historical fact, which appears to have escaped general notice:

Under his guidance as chancellor of the empire and minister of commerce for Prussia the equivalent of 1,080,000,000 marks (over $370,000,000) in silver was demonetized between the years 1874 and 1881, and over $160,000,000 worth of the bullion into which these were melted had been sold by 1879. In that year, finding that the price of silver was becoming demoralized, so that his remaining $109,000,000 was depreciating, he stopped sales by a decree issued in May, 1879. These points were frankly stated by his delegates to the international monetary conference of 1881, when Germany likewise offered to suspend sales for a time in order that the price might not be further depressed. With these assurances before the monetary powers and with the decree of 1879 still in force, Bismarck saw an opportunity of dumping some German silver on the sly and promptly proceeded to do so. In 1885 the Egyptian government decided to change its coinage and invited bids for contracts to coin its silver piasters. The German mint secured the contract to make the coin and incidentally furnished $3,189,600 of silver bullion to Egypt. The matter was kept very quiet or escaped general notice. Reference to it will be found, however, in the London Economist of Dec. 4, 1886, which saw in it a proof of Bismarck's lack of faith in silver.

With all his faults, Bismarck is a sturdy patriot. To help the German distiller he was willing to see trichine in every American pig, and to protect the German farmer he smelled bugs on every American potato. Germany has today $107,000,000 worth of silver whose value is declining. If the United States could be induced to follow the example of Egypt and give Germany a chance to do some more unloading, where is the harm from the ex-chancellor's point of view, in writing a letter of not entirely disinterested advice?
