Come Help Us Celebrate.

The Dalles will celebrate the Opening of the Locks on Thursday, Nov. 5th, and cordially invite the people of all sections to join in the celebration.

R. F. GIBONS, GEO. RUCH, N. B. SINNOTT, MAX VOGT, F. HOUGHTON, F. W. WILSON, Committee on Invitation.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Random Observations and Local Events of Lesser Magnitude.

License to wed was issued yesterday to Mr. Walter Scott and Miss Mary Clarke.

County Clerk Kelsay announces that money has been left with him to purchase county warrants at their face.

The beautiful display in John C. Hertz windows is made entirely with neckwear, the handsomest ever seen in The Dalles.

Attention is called to the society notices in regard to the parade tomorrow night. They appear on the Fourth page.

County Commissioners court is in session today, Commissioner Blowers coming up from Hood River on the noon train.

The ladies committee desires all ladies who will assist in serving refreshments tomorrow evening to report at the Umatilla House immediately after the parade.

Circuit Court meets Monday. The docket is quite long, but there is not much criminal business unless the grand jury should find something not at present on tap.

All the business houses in the city will be closed tomorrow, eighty names having been signed to the petition for closing. The butchershops will be open until noon.

The committee in charge of the ball tomorrow night inform us that our visitors will be admitted free, and that residents will be charged 50 cents for tickets admitting gentleman and lady. Only adults will be admitted to the ball room.

Mr. S. F. Blythe came up from Hood River last night, bringing the returns from West Hood River. With 102 majority for McKinley this precinct carries the banner to date, but Antelope is liable to capture it.

Telegrams were received by wool buyers here yesterday afternoon from eastern houses, the general tenor of which was: "Don't sell your wool without giving us a chance to bid for it." How is that for a comment on the election, and the policies of the two parties?

A. M. Williams & Co. have put 53 incandescent lamps in each of their big plate glass windows, and when the lights are turned on, which will be tonight, if the work is completed, the effect will be beautiful. The windows were splendidly decorated on Flag day, and the decorations will remain until after the celebration tomorrow.

A handsome arch was erected today over Second street in front of French & Co's bank. It is in the National colors, and bears the words and figures on each side "74 COMPLETED '96", and in the corners the names L. M. Lane, J. H. Mitchell, they being in congress and the senate at the time the bill was passed, authorizing the work to be commenced.

Some vandal or vandals last night amused themselves by stealing all the flags but one from in front of the U. S. Land office. New ones were put up this morning and it is to be hoped that these will be allowed to remain, at least until after the celebration. The value of the property taken, from a financial standpoint, was trifling, but both Mr. Moore and Mr. Biggs are justly indignant at the outrage.

AS THE RETURNS CAME IN.

A Scene of Wild Enthusiasm--Republicans All Happy.

As the dispatches began to come in last night, the crowd at the Umatilla House began to increase and by 8 o'clock the immense billiard room was filled to its utmost capacity, with crowding jostling humanity. Almost from the first bulletin the result was a foregone conclusion, yet hour after hour the big crowd surged and crowded, and cheered and shouted until the rafters three stories above would have echoed, if it had not been for the intervening floors.

Mr. N. J. Sinnott, in his splendid voice, read the dispatches as they came, and a thankless and difficult task it was too, for with the first announcement the Republican enthusiasm would bubble over and it would take considerable time and unlimited patience before quiet would be restored, and then some fellow would break loose again. The Democratic enthusiasm was brief, its cheers few and far between.

The returns from Montana, Nevada, Utah, Kingsley and Dufur stirred them up in turn, but the steady piling up of overwhelming majorities in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, knocked out all hopes of the Middle West and put an extinguisher over the flame of Democratic hope. In quick succession, followed Michigan, Wisconsin and Iowa, adding their weight to that already crushing the silver men into hopelessness. Minnesota piled on the heap, North Dakota followed, and to cap the pyramid of ponderosity of Republican states, came to crown the list and put the apex on the pyramid the hitherto Democratic states of Kentucky, Delaware, New Jersey and Maryland.

By 3 o'clock most of the crowd had become surfeited with news and left for their homes, but some few remained to greet the sunlight following the good news across the continent from East to West. The Democratic brethren were most of them in bed by midnight, having lost interest in the results. They accepted defeat gracefully, being pretty well used to it, and this morning you couldn't tell from their smiling countenances but that they were on the winning side. "We have fought hard," said one of them to our reporter, "and we have lost. McKinley is elected, he will be president of the whole people, mine as well as yours, and if he brings the prosperity you promise, I shall rejoice with you, and I hope I may."

On the arrival of the boats the reception committee will conduct the guests to their carriages.

LIEUT.-COL. J. M. PATTERSON, Grand Marshal.

A Great Occasion.

On account of the celebration Thursday no paper will be issued from this office. If there was ever a day, that appealed to The Dalles for a universal outpouring of her citizens and a general and grand celebration, that day is Thursday, and the celebration is the opening of the locks at the Cascades, the removal of the fetters from the Columbia, the opening of the grand old river to navigation from Tum Water to tide water, from The Dalles to Astoria, the making possible of river navigation free an unobstructed from The Dalles to Eugene, from eastern to southern Oregon, from one side of the mountains to the other. It is an occasion for which we have waited with what patience we could for 23 long years, and which in importance, will not be equaled in a generation. It is fitting that all business be laid aside, and that one and all devote the day to rejoicing.
