Weather Forecast.
PORTLAND, Nov. 24, 1896.
FOR EASTERN OREGON—Tonight and tomorrow fair, colder.
PAGE, Observer.

WAYSIDE CLEANINGS.

Random Observations and Local Events of Lesser Magnitude.

Redmen Thursday night.
The weather for tomorrow will be fair and colder.

At Hood River snow fell to the depth of 18 inches during the recent storm.

An evening with the sprits Thursday evening. Chas. H. and Orilla Read, with the Redmen.

A work of supererogation, sinking that well at the state capitol to procure drinking water for the legislators.

Pease & Mays are showing their Christmas novelties in the kid glove line. They are beauties, all clasp gloves.

The Ladies' Guild of St. Paul's meets tomorrow to hold the annual election of officers, at the residence of Mrs. Douthit.

From the appearance of the sky down towards Hood River the weather clerk is proposing to give us some more sleighing.

The death of Hon. Lafayette Lane is announced in the dispatches this morning, and a synopsis of his life work in Oregon is given on our first page.

The Good Templars will give a basket social Saturday night in their hall. A short program will be rendered, after which the baskets will be auctioned to the highest bidder.

It is probable that Hood river will be dammed at a point just above the bridge during the winter. There is a vast amount of the timber and piling up that stream that must be brought to market.

The young ladies of the Methodist church will have for sale tonight and tomorrow pies, cakes and doughnuts. Call at the storeroom recently occupied by H. Herbring and make your purchases.

The ladies who enjoy the privileges of the Commercial and Athletic Club rooms Thursday afternoons, respectfully invite the members of the club to share those privileges with them Thursday afternoon, Nov. 26th.

A sunrise meeting of the young people of the various churches of this city will be held Thursday morning, Nov. 26, at 7 o'clock in the auditorium of the Christian church. All interested are cordially invited to be present.

Judge E. C. Bronaugh of Portland has demonstrated to his own satisfaction, at least, that the end of the Turkish empire will come in 1897-98. He claims to find proof for this in the Bible, but we much doubt his interpretations.

A committee of the "Mercy and Help" department of the Epworth League will be in waiting at the Methodist church

Wednesday evening and Thursday morning to receiving donations of any kind which will be useful to the needy. Such donations will be promptly delivered to deserving persons.

A young man in Portland has invented a machine for starting a fire in the morning without getting out of bed. This is another stab made at the divine institution of marriage and another stumbling block placed in the path of the marriageable girl.

Heater, who had his examination before Justice Fillion yesterday, was this morning fined $50. This makes $100 in fines he will have to work out, or in other words, fifty days in jail. Hawthorne will remain sequestered until the grand jury meets.

A well known lady of our city has donated a most beautiful piece of embroidery, which is now exhibited and being raffled, in Snipes & Kinersly's store. The proceeds are to go for benevolent objects in our own city, and the chances are being sold at a rate that shows we know a pretty thing when we see one.

"Di Di"

The announcement that the Cambridge Variety Company proposed to devote their last night of their stay in Adelaide to a benefit to the charming little Adelaide danseuse, Addie Favart, secured for the performance the largest house of the season. The beneficiary received a great ovation from the large audience, and after her first song "Di Di," the little actress was fairly smothered with a shower of flowers and tributes of affection of more intrinsic value.—Adelaide Register, Nov. 26, 1895.

Thanksgiving Service.

There will be service in St. Paul's church, Union street, on Thanksgiving day, at 10:30 a. m., with a sermon by the rector on "The Origin and History of Thanksgiving Day". It is expected that the music will be in keeping with the day. All are most cordially invited.

Female Help Wanted.

WANTED—Red-headed girl and white horse to deliver premiums given away with Hoe Cake Soap. Apply to anywhere.

Take your watches, clocks and jewelry repairing to Clark, the East End jeweler.

BENEFITS TO THE DALLES.

Mr. Wilson Says He Expects that City to Be Given Terminal Rates.

W. H. Wilson well known as an attorney at The Dalles, was a passenger Sunday morning, going East through Pendleton to St. Louis. Regarding the opening of the Cascade Locks, Mr. Wilson said:

"Although no particular change has taken place in freighting circles on account of the opening of the locks. I think it is safe to say that The Dalles will reap a very substantial harvest from the long years of sowing of hopes that sometime the river would be open all the way from that city to the sea. This is now an accomplished fact and steamboats run through from our town to Portland, whence, if desired, they could go on to Astoria. We have always had such disadvantages as resulted from being a commodity freight tariff, that is, we were quoted as rail rates which were the rates from the East to Portland, plus the local rate back from there to The Dalles. A passenger could buy a ticket from the East to Portland cheaper than to The Dalles. I understand we are now to have terminal rates for passenger and freight, and next season, when wool and wheat move out, the freight rate will be materially lowered. These changes cannot fail to bring substantial benefits, and The Dalles will not be long in realizing that the opening of the locks was a red letter day for that city."—East Oregonian.

Signs and Tokens.

The squawk of the fearsome Shanghai and the excited "turk" of the vasty gobbler are loud, frequent and familiar sounds betokening the arrival of Thanksgiving. It is a great day for the youngsters with its glad visions of mince pies, full of raisins and things, or the single-standard and seductive gold-filled article clypept "punkin;" its accomplished dream of the noes-tantalizing turkey, flat on his big big back with his well-browned drum sticks tucked snugly away beneath the folds of his rotund abdomen and his corrugated wings trussed artistically by his juicy ejdes, while down in his hold the odoriferous cargo of dressing strains at the confining strings that close the after-gangway and anguish to pour their richness out before the bright-eyed little ones. Near by the incarnadine cranberry gleams and glows in translucent splendor; the gray boat loaded to its gunwales sidles up to the steaming and butter-crowned mashed potatoes; the white-stalked celery lifts its crisp and verdant tops way up yonder; the brown mound of plum pudding, conglomerate formation of the geology of the kitchen—but enough. Imagination runs riot with us, and so we can only give vent to our pent-up feelings in reiterating Yum! Yum!

Our First Love.

The Regulator Thursday made the run from Portland to the Cascades in three hours and thirty-seven minutes, running time. The distance is 71 miles, and about 60 miles of this was up stream, the last six miles against a very strong current. It is safe to say that she pushed along at the rate of more than 20 miles an hour. She will have her new steam steering gear in shape to work tomorrow, and when she gets her new boilers we doubt if there is a boat on the river that can keep in sight of her. It is noticed, too, that she is steady as clockwork in the rapids below the locks, scarcely a tremor being felt as she plows through the whirling rapids. Somehow, despite the fact that the Dalles City bears the name of our town, and has done as much as the Regulator towards solving our freight problem, we all cling to the good boat that daily landed at our wharves. She was tangible, always in evidence, and came to be looked upon as our own first and only love.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. D. H. Sears of Hood River is in the city.

Miss Mabel Sterling returned last night from Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lenz came up from Hood River last night.

Hon. C. M. Cartwright arrived from Prineville yesterday evening.

Mr. A. J. Borie, the general superintendent of the O. R. & N., is in the city.

Eddy Michell went up to Colabus last night to attend the funeral of his grandmother, Mrs. Pierce, which occurs today.

Mr. A. J. Brigham of Dufur made us a pleasant call today. We note that despite all our fatherly advice, he is still an ardent Bryan man.

Mrs. Shoemaker of Centerville, Wash., who has been in the hospital at Portland for two or three weeks, came up on the Dalles City last night and left for home this morning.

MARRIED.

At Dufur Sunday, the 22nd inst., Mr. Park Bolton and Miss Minnie Heisler, Justice Brigham performing the ceremony.

DIED.

At White River, Washington, Nov. 20th, Julius Mess.

Deceased was a brother-in-law of Henry Klindt, and will be remembered by old-timers of The Dalles.

Spanish Students Concert Company.

The entertainment by the famous Spanish Students and concert company at the Vogt opera house Friday evening promises to be most successful, a large number of seats being already sold. The list of instruments embraces all those which are now the rage, including bandurria, guitar, cello, violin, as a matter of course, and also the most fascinating and rarely heard salterio, by Senor Marin; the renowned soloist. For finished and artistic playing, an ensemble such as is rarely seen in the largest and best orchestras, the Spanish Students have no superiors, and are to be commended as a truly remarkable organization.
